LANDS AND HOMES.
In the Garden Spot of the great Northwest.

Fertility of Soil, Salubrity of Climate, Wholesome Water, Excellent Timber and Delightful Scenery—Health, Wealth, Prosperity.

Marion county is situated in the heart of the magnificent Willamette valley, the central gem in the cluster of rich counties that form that princely domain, and is the banner commonwealth of the great northwest in all the essentials that go towards making it a profitable abiding place, and a home for the thrifty farmer, the cunning artisan and the industrious mechanic.

Rich in its agricultural resources, in its cultivated and uncultivated lands, in its water powers, and minerals; rich in its colleges and schools of learning, and with a climate unsurpassed for its salubrity, it presents to the immigrant from the overcrowded states, where cold winters and hot summers, with terrible cyclones, prevail, who comes to the coast with some means, advantages that no other county in Oregon possesses.

Much has been written of this western country that requires a stretch of the imagination to comprehend, and numerous complaints are heard from the class who have been misled by them, so in this brief sketch the writer desires to avoid exaggeration as to its present and prospective advantages, asking those in the east into whose hands this may fall—particularly those who have their eyes directed towards this coast—to peruse it carefully, feeling that it is not written to lure immigrants within its borders, but only as a truthful description of a land which, if it does not "flow milk and honey," contains within its bosom wealth and resources equal to any other country on the Pacific side of the Rocky mountains.

BOUNDARIES.
 Marion county is bounded on the north by the Willamette river and Butte creek which separates it from Clackamas county; on the east by Clackamas county and the Cascade mountains, which separate it from Wasco county; on the south by the Santiam river and the north fork of the Santiam, separating it from Linn county, and on the west by the Willamette river.

PHYSICAL FORMATION.
 The county contains, including valley, prairie and mountain lands, about 900,000 acres.

There are two main divisions, the mountain and the valley. The latter extends from the Willamette river to the foot of the Cascade mountains, a distance of about fifteen miles.

The mountainous portion contains some fourteen townships of mostly unsurveyed land; lying in a strip twelve miles north and south by forty miles east and west, and comprises all classes of land, from rich narrow valleys in the passes, up through all the grades of rolling, hilly and broken, to that of rock-bound canyons and inaccessible craggy peaks. It is generally heavily timbered, and in the near future will be valuable for its lumber supplies. These hills and mountains afford a wonderful summer range for stock, and many of the more enterprising farmers are availing themselves of this opportunity, and when the cold frosts of autumn approach, the stock are brought out to fresh pastures, thus enabling them to survive the winter storms with little care.

GREAT ADVANTAGES.
 A decided advantage Marion county has over many others is the diversified farming interest that can be carried on throughout the entire year; notwithstanding this is a wet climate during the winter months, the uplands are seldom too wet to work, and long before the prairie farmers are through with their seeding, the hill farmer is preparing for his summer work. And yet the low lands are much preferred by many; the yield per acre is generally greater, and perhaps less labor is required to place the soil in proper condition for crops; and then should the season prove dry, the bottom lands are sure to bring the best crops. No better farming land can be found in the United States than that on the noted Howell prairie, French prairie, Santiam prairie and Salem prairie. The soil of these are wonderfully productive. With good cultivation, forty bushels of wheat and sixty of oats per acre can be readily secured.

FACILITIES FOR MARKET.
 The Willamette river, with two lines of railroad running the entire length of the county from north to south, with the Oregon Pacific road crossing the southeast corner of the county, affords ample facilities to reach a market in any direction.

SALEM.
 Is the capital of the state and county seat of Marion county, situated on the Willamette river—and on the O. & C. railroad. Costly buildings have been erected, among which the state capital building, county court house, Chamberkete hotel, opera house, new public school building, Catholic school building, Methodist church, Willamette University, and many private residences and business blocks, which will compare favorably with older and larger cities.

GENERAL.
 All things considered, the Willamette valley has the best country in the world, and Marion county is about centrally located therein. To those seeking homes in the west, no better opportunities can be offered, than are found here. Persons desiring information regarding Marion county or the Willamette valley, those wanting farming lands, stock farms, business property or city residences, will be promptly and reliably informed by addressing the well known firm of Willis & Chamberlin, real estate agents, opera house block, Salem, Oregon.

Worth Reaching After.
 Salem merchants are ever wide awake to open new channels of trade will catch our meaning, when we tell them that an edition of over 3000 copies of the WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL will be sent out next week. This paper will visit nearly every household in Marion county and many in Northern Polk, especially that part of the county tributary to Salem. Circulation is what makes advertising valuable and the CAPITAL JOURNAL guarantees its circulation to all advertisers. The country trade is worth reaching after and an advertisement in the WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL will be a wonderful persuader. Rates on application to Will H. Parry, Manager.

SALEM

Is the Capital of the State of Oregon, and County Seat of Marion County. It is on the east bank of the Willamette River, a navigable stream, and on the Oregon and California Railroad. The State House has cost $1,000,000, the Court House $100,000, the Chamberkete Hotel $100,000, and the new Public School building $400,000. The State is practically out of debt and Marion County nearly so. Salem has the State Penitentiary, Insane Asylum, Deaf Mute School, School for the Blind, and State Fair grounds. The State Supreme Court is held in the State House at Salem. Salem has the Willamette University, the best institution of learning in the Pacific Northwest. Salem's Public Schools are excellent. Salem has one of the best natural sites for a large city and now has about 7,000 people. It has a free wagon bridge across the Willamette river, excellent water, supplied through iron pipes on the Hooley system; both Gas and Electric Lights, sewerage, Fire Department with three engines, two Public Parks, three Flouring Mills with a united capacity of 1,200 bbls. of flour daily, a Saw Mill of 40,000 feet daily capacity and other industries. Street Cars coming soon. One water power of 200 horse power is now for sale cheap and another sufficient to run a large woolen mill is for sale with necessary ground for $2,000. All things considered, Western Oregon has the best climate in the world. It is much like the climate of England, but the summers are dryer than in England. The following is a part of the property

- I Have on Sale:
- 768 acres about five miles from Dallas County Seat of Polk County and two and one half miles from Railroad station. Two hundred acres in cultivation, one hundred and fifty acres in fall wheat; two-thirds of the remainder is susceptible of cultivation but is now light timbered and grazing land; a good portion is creek valley land. It is all fenced and has good buildings, well watered, will adapt to mixed grain and stock farming. Can be divided into two or more farms. Price of whole, $12,000; one-third cash.
 - 277 1/2 acres, two miles west of Buena Vista, Polk County, two miles from Railroad; 180 acres in cultivation, balance timber and pasture; land is all good; all fenced, good barn and fair house, well watered. This is one of the most desirable farms in Polk County. Price, $6,500.
 - 97 7/8 acres, two miles south-west of Gervais, Marion County, small barn, all fenced and all tillable. Price, $2,100.
 - 320 acres, eight miles east of Salem and one and one-half miles from Railroad; 15 acres in cultivation, balance mostly good fire timber and accessible land in partly creek bottom and beaver dam land and balance in edge of Waldo Hills, gently rolling. Price, $100 per acre.
 - 100 acres, five miles northwest of Salem, in Polk county, twenty-two acres in cultivation, balance timbered, well watered by springs. House poor. Price, $1,500.
