HUMAN AND POLITICAL ORGANI-ZATION.

A political organization is like the human body -all its parts must be harmoniously united to make one grand, serviceable whole. Brain, muscles and nerves must work in unison, one sympathizing with, controlling and assisting the other or a physical wreck is the result. When Cherokees have exclusive right to the brain fails in its functions, the determine who are and who are not destructive and are at the mercy of surrounding forces. If the hands rejoiced over the decision and will refuse their office, the rest of the or-ganism suffers unless assisted by the hands of others. If the legs neglect hands of others. If the legs neglect their duty the body becomes power-less. If the appetite becomes gluitoneous in eating or drinking the whole body is thereby immed to the extent to which that appetite every slightest part in the human injury to it or a rebellion on its selves candidates for sheriff." part is injuriously felt.
