Oregon Peach Bitters

About eighteen years ago I received a hurt in my back from a pile of lumber falling on me, and ever since had been troubled with weak kidneys more or less, and the last year very much. Through the recommendation of Henry Keene, I bought a bottle of H. Keene's Oregon Peach Bitter, and when I took half the bottle I found a great relief from it. I believe it to be a splendid remedy for the kidneys, and heartily recommend it for the same.

THE THREE SMART VAGS

Who Worked the Town on Sympathy Sent to the County Jail.

About four o'clock last evening Marshal Ross corralled the kid who was doing the begging for the two vagrants arrested earlier in the day. The boy had worked the town pretty thoroughly as he had $4.10 in his pockets when arrested, which he had gathered in since turning over $18 to his pal at noon. Instead of having a "sealed" arm done up in a plaster-of-Paris splint, and hung in a sling, his story being that he had broken his arm while at Red Bluff, Cal., and that he was trying to raise money to pay his way to his home at Seattle. He called at Rev. Newell's and by telling this story and exhibiting his bandaged arm prevailed upon that gentleman to write a letter stating that he had examined into the case and was convinced that the boy was a worthy object of charity. Marshal Ross took the boy to Dr. Holmes' office, where Drs. Holmes and Tryvne removed the splints from his arm, which was as sound as anybody's. He then stated that he was not begging for himself and that he had "jockies" with whom he was forced to "divy". Marshal Ross searched the two vagrants and found in the pockets of one of them a sack of plaster of Paris and a piece of cotton cloth similar to that used on the boy's arm.

This morning the kid pled guilty to a charge of vagrancy before Recorder Strickler, and was given 15 days in the county jail. He denied knowing the two vagrants for whom he was begging, and said he had never had anything to do with them. The two vagrants were then brought into court and, after giving their names as Ad. Schilling and Charles Hamlin, pled "not guilty" but after answering a few questions propounded by District Attorney Belt, they convicted themselves. Judge Strickler gave Schilling 20 days in the county jail, and sentenced Hamlin to 17 days imprisonment and to pay a fine of $20. This is one of the roughest combinations that has ever struck town and their punishment is none to heavy.

A Trip for Pleasure and Profit.

The big Columbia river steamer Multnomah will leave Salem next Friday morning on the most varied and well planned excursion trip ever afforded to the people of Salem and vicinity. Either take along your basket of provisions or take meals on the steamer as you like. Let every person take plenty of wraps and a blanket. This will insure a good night's rest. Besides the grand scenery the two most interesting sights will be the great cyclorama and soon after the baton drill of all the troops at Vancouver. One or two photographers, artists and their pupils will go. All lovers of botany, geology and natural history cannot afford to stay at home. A grand concert on the boat.

The Anthropologist.

Dr. Gilbert's free lecture in the opera house last evening was well attended, and was well received by his audience. Anthropology, or the science of man, was his subject, and he treated it in a discursive and entertaining manner. Along with some popular instruction on the organization, physical growth and characteristics of the human race, the lecturer introduced a number of amusing anecdotes which always produced a laugh. He made a practical test of the phenotypical and physiological principles by telling the characters of four of our citizens whom he invited on to the platform, and his hits were generally so successful that they were heartily applauded. The doctor gives another free lecture this evening.

Literally Safe.

Betty, 14 year old daughter of John Sayre, the farmer living four miles south of town, had her left hand badly torn by an accidental discharge of a shotgun yesterday. The flesh between the forefinger and thumb was entirely carried away, and it is probable that the latter member will have to be amputated.

Flower Social.

The ladies of the M. E. church will give a "Flower Social" on Friday evening, April 26.

A QUEER CASE OF FORGERY.

How Dave Shepherd Worked two Innocent Parties into Forging an Order.

A young man named Dave Shepherd, well known in Salem as a disreputable character, called on Squire Coffey a few days ago and stated that he had been working for A. Olinger, the contractor, and asked Mr. Coffey to draw up an order on Forstner & Tiffany for merchandise to the amount of $18 or $20 the order to be presented to Mr. Olinger for his signature. Mr. Coffey wrote the order to oblige the young man, supposing that the statement was true and that Mr. Olinger would sign it. Shepherd then took the paper to the post-office, and, after folding the order so that Mr. Coffey's writing could not be seen, asked Walter Stowell, the young delivery clerk, to write Mr. Olinger's name on the bottom of the slip. This the boy did without suspecting anything and Shepherd took the order to Forstner and & Tiffany's where it was duly honored. When the order was shown to Mr. Olinger he declared the signature to be a forgery, and an examination into the matter brought out the facts as stated above. As Shepherd has not yet been arrested the matter has probably been adjusted in some way, no doubt by his paying for the goods.

Pleasing Literary Entertainment.

The fine hall over the Grange store was well filled last evening with an intelligent audience to listen to the program prepared by the Alka-Hesperian and Atheneum societies. All were highly pleased with the performance, although Hon. Tilmon Ford, who was booked for a speech, and Lentz, M. W. Hunt, who was expected to produce an essay, were sadly missed from the rostrum, they being unable to attend. Misses Hughes and Dally, in their piano duet, elicited genuine admiration. Mr. Frank Davy followed with an oration, taking "Courage" as his subject, which he treated with great ability showing fine powers as an orator. Miss Gillingham's vocal solo was excellent, and highly appreciated. Misses Scriber, Hall, Lindsey and Dearborn, in their quartette performance, gave a pleasure which found expression in hearty applause. "Billy" Dugan's "health preserving rules" created great amusement, and lacked but one junction to produce complete physical soundness. He should have added "never run for office in Marion county on the democratic ticket." The performance closed with a banjo duet by Messrs. Keller and Chase, which was cheered to the echo, and the audience was invited to attend a dance at Diamond's hall, to which many couples repaired and enjoyed the remainder of the night as devotees of Terpsichore.

A Youthful Criminal.

Yesterday morning Policeman Lake arrested Johnny Booth, a lad of 16, on a warrant issued out of Justice Lines' court at Independence, charging him with the larceny of a row boat belonging to Matthew Bros., of that city. He was taken to Independence this morning by Marshal Bohannon, and after a hearing was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, in the sum of $150, in default of which he was committed to the county jail at Dallas. His parents are well known and highly respected citizens of this city, but notwithstanding their efforts to lead him in the right direction, he has shown a remarkable tendency towards crime, and this is not the first time that he has laid himself liable to the law. It might be well to add that the statement made by our usually reliable morning contemporary that he was arrested on a charge of burglarizing the Western Union office a few nights ago is incorrect. A warrant is now in the hands of the officers for the arrest of a party suspected of this crime and an arrest will probably follow before many hours.

Yesterday was the regular exmination day, and many of the students took part in it, several who were excused took advantage of the vacation and will spend Sunday at their respective homes.

The joint societies have, through the efforts of Rev. O. B. Whitmore of Astoria, procured Col. L. F. Copeland, of Harrisburg, Pa., to deliver lecture before the societies on Monday evening of commencement week. Mr. Copeland comes with the highest recommendations as an orator.

The Philidorian hall was filled to its utmost capacity last evening with members and friends of the societies. A good programme had been arranged, and was well rendered and all enjoyed it, the society paper, the Know-nothing, with V. Perlinger as chief editor, summed up the doings of all the members briefly, and permitted none to be slighted.

Advertising the state.

Eugene City Register.—Our Peerless job press is now running on an edition of 13,000 copies of a pamphlet descriptive of Lane county, which are to be sent out for the purpose of advertising this county. Of the 13,000 copies the Board of Trade takes 10,000, McLamahan, Warren & Rurr, Titus & Straight and Cochran & Son 1000 each. The pamphlet will contain about thirty-two pages, and is intended to set forth the resources and advantages of the county correctly and impartially.

It will be the largest and best advertisement ever got out for this section of the country.

The Corvallis Times devotes nearly two columns to a description of Benton county, with a view to induce immigration, and publishes a letter from Old City, Penna., stating that a colony and excursion combined would start for Corvallis on the 6th inst.

A writer in the Albany (Or.) Herald gives this reason for advertising the state: There is a double current now flowing both north and south throughout the whole length of the valley, but we catch none of its benefits. And to ascertain how little is known of our country one needs but to visit the Oregon & California depot in the morning when the trains arrive, and hear the passengers, just aroused from their slumbers, exclaim in utter surprise at being in the midst of such a "beautiful country," one they had never heard or even dreamed of in their rapid transit. Is it wise, or even expedient, to permit this state of affairs to long continue?

Democratic Central Committee.
