THE ORPHAN'S HOME.

A Fine Public Institution. The New Building. A Noble Work.

Situated on a beautiful rise, just north of the Oregon asylum for the insane, a handsome frame structure has been built during the past year, which stands there to-day as a monument to a number of the noble ladies of Salem.

This society was organized in 1896. Its organization came about through the donation of ten acres of this tract by Mrs. Elizabeth Parrish, first wife of Rev. J. L. Parrish, which was made provided the society would erect a building for a home for orphan children, right away.

Since that time, the society have had the care, at different times, of a great many orphan children, and during the past few years, the old building has become totally inadequate to the demands made upon the society.

In many ways, by the practice of rigid economy, donations, etc., the building fund was swelled to an amount in excess of $8000, and the present handsome structure was erected at a cost of between $8300, and $8400.

A large room in the northwest corner of the building was finished for a boys' playroom, but it is now being used as a boys' dormitory. The room upstairs, that was intended for this purpose, has been used during the recent siege of sickness (measles, etc.), and a pretty hard siege it was, lasting for several weeks, as a hospital, and sick room.

Beside the rooms mentioned on the main floor, are the society's sewing room, the dining room and kitchen, all large, commodious, light and airy rooms, and a good sized pantry.

The building is hard-finished, or finished with white plaster, and the wainscoting is ordinary fir, heavily oiled and varnished with the best coach varnish.

The work on the building has apparently all been well performed, and much of it was donated.

The society had a solicited fund of $800, and this was used in furnishing, and in adding many comforts, cementing the basement floor, and the like.

There are now eleven children at the home, but one, Miss Anna Dann, who has reached her majority, leaves to-morrow for the home of her grandmother, in St. Helens.

The society is under the management of a board of managers, consisting of twelve ladies. Mrs. J. H. Moores is president, Mrs. John Minto, vice president, Mrs. E. Y. Chas secretary, and Mrs. G. W. Gray treasurer, and they form the executive committee.

The home is supplied with milk from its own two cows, and Mrs. Shelton, beside making enough butter for present use from this milk, is putting up butter for next winter.

Through Europe on a Tricycle.

A writer on this paper is in receipt of a letter from Arthur H. Morrison, late of the Oregon Pacific railroad company at Corvallis, dated at the American Exchange, that Trans-Atlantic rendezvous of wanderers from the "land of the free," at London, England, April 27, covering a very interesting communication which will appear in a few days.

Mr. Morrison, accompanied by his wife, will spend a few months in Europe, and will take a short run through Great Britain, France and Italy, the greater portion of their wanderings to be on a tricycle. They will return to the Pacific coast in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison's friends here and elsewhere in the valley will probably be surprised, as was the writer, to hear that they are so far away, and all will join in wishing them a pleasant summer.
