TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

Gen. Sheridan's Illness.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—General Sheridan is not so well this morning.
It is stated that the serious attack of Monday evening was due to heart failure, and there was a slight recurrence of that trouble this morning.

Gen. Sheridan is reported to be very low this evening. The greatest excitement prevails among the members of his household, and they can be seen hurriedly passing back and forth in the sick chamber. A consultation of physicians has been called.

Preparing for the Fourth.

Several towns throughout the valley are preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July already. Gervais and Woodburn are preparing for rival celebrations, and as both towns are working up a boom, they will probably both have fine celebrations.
The Second Infantry band has been engaged at Gervais, and the promoters of the new hall hope to have it far enough along by that time to be able to dance in it. Baseball games are on the programme for both places.

Corvallis, however, is making preparations for the grandest blow-out of any of them. Invitations have been extended to A, B, C, I and F companies, 2nd Infantry, and to troop A, Cavalry, O. N. G., to be present, and participate with E company, 2nd regiment, at that place in a grand sham battle. Col. Smith has been invited to command on that day, and to bring his staff. These invitations have been accepted, and it is likely a great many people from Salem, Eugene, Albany and intermediate towns will attend. An excursion will probably be run from Eugene and Salem to Albany, and from there via the O. P. railroad to Corvallis and return on the 4th.

Theology in Berea.

A Methodist Sunday-school teacher in Berea, where Eli Perkins was killed to lecture under the auspices of Baldwin University, was examining his Sunday-school class Among others he asked his class this question:

"What did Samuel say to Eli?"

No answer was given for a moment, then a sweet little girl spoke up and said:

"I know!"

"Well," said the teacher, "what did Samuel say?"

"He said, 'get there, Eli!' was the prompt reply.—[Cleveland Leader.

F. LEVY.

The Hardiness of American Half-Breeds.

The experience of the teachers of the Lincoln Institution confirms the views here expressed, that the mixed Indian is more exempt from pulmonary disease than the pure Indian; and, further, that if the former are attacked by disease they offer greater constitutional resistance to it than the latter. This view is also confirmed by the large experience of Capt. R. H. Pratt, superintendent of the Carlisle Indian School, who says in his last report: "Our experience is that the mixed bloods resist disease and death from pulmonary troubles better than the full bloods, and our best health conditions are found among those we send out into families—due, I think, very largely to the regular occupation and varied diet." Similar views have been expressed by others who have resided among the mixed or half-breed races in the northwestern part of Canada. These people are said to be strong and hearty, longlived, and not subject to disease, so long as they remain in their native climate. They regard themselves as the equal of the whites, and look in a patronizing way on the Indian.
Their families are usually very large and the female sex is said to be very handsome. Quite recently I had occasion to investigate the question whether pulmonary consumption tends to exterminate the American Indian, and I then found that nearly all those Indian agencies which show the lowest consumption rate are precisely those which contain the largest number of mixed bloods. Of course, it is just possible that the presence and the absence of pulmonary consumption in certain tribes is purely a coincidence; yet I think, from what has been said concerning the improved physical condition of the mixed Indian, it is quite evident that the greater immunity of these tribes from consumption is due to the fact that they comprise a large element which has a superior power of warding off disease.—Popular Science Monthly.

An Assurance of Health.

Among the assurances of health afforded us by the regular discharge of the bodily functions, none is more important and reliable than that which regularity of the bowels gives us. If there is any—even a temporary interruption of this—the liver and the stomach suffer conjointly with inactive organs, and still greater mischief ensues if relief is not speedily obtained. A laxative, above all cavi on the score of mineral composition or violent effect, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, approved by the medical profession, and a most important item to the family materia medica of American households. It is botanic, painless in action, and if persisted in, effectual. The stomach and liver, in no less degree and no less promptly and thoroughly than the bowels, are rouse by it, and it is an admirable defense against malaria and rheumatic ailments, and a benign remedy for kidney complaints, nervousness and debility.

Mr. WANAMAKER'S EXAMPLE.

The Surplus Profits of His Business Divided Among His Employees.

A little over a year ago Mr. Wanamaker took all of his employees who had been in his service seven years into a quasi partnership by agreeing to give to them and to others who should thereafter arrive at seven years of service, a share in the profits of the year's business "according to the value of their services to the firm, to be determined by their usefulness and faithfulness." The remaining employees, who, by reason of the shortness of their term of service could not participate in the annual dividend, were granted a share in the monthly gross receipts in the form of percentage on sales.

The result of this generous and stimulating concession by Mr. Wanamaker is something magnificent in its grand total. The monthly dividends in the shape of percentages on sales, in addition to regular weekly salaries, aggregate for the year, $59,- 158. The sum of $10,000 is set aside as a pension fund for those employes who by reason of old age or accident in the service are no longer able to work. In annual dividends to the seven years' employes $40,281 are paid out, making a total of $109,439 distributed among employes or invested for their benefit, that under a less liberal management would have gone to swell the dividend of the firm.

Mr. Wanamaker has been twenty-seven years in business, and a generous public spirit and large-hearted liberality have seemed to grow with the growth, as it has become notable, with the fame of his expanding and profitable business enterprise. As a philanthropist he finds pleasure in affording stimulus and opportunity to his employes to better their condition, while as a clear-headed business man he appreciates the advantages of being served by those who are loyal enthusiastic and content.
Other employers doubtless might profit by his example.—Philadelphia Press.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent.
For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at H. W. Cox's drug store.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy.
Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters does cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or blood.
