THE THOMAS SHOOTING.

More About the "Vigilantes" Work. The Montana Way Over Again.

The lateness of the hour when the JOURNAL learned of the shooting of Charles Thomas at Rock Creek yesterday, precluded our giving a detailed report of the affair. The following additional particulars are now given. Charles Thomas and his brother William have been stopping with a brother-in-law, named Fluke, and on Tuesday Charles started to go to the post-office at Rock Creek, with his gun on his shoulder. He had gone but a little over half a mile, when he was shot by some one in ambush, the ball striking the left shoulder and causing a very severe and perhaps dangerous wound. He says he saw three men emerge from the road side, and that he shot at them, then started for Fluke's place. On the way he met his brother Bill, who had heard the shot, surmised the trouble, grabbed his rifle and started for the scene. The wounded man was assisted to the house and Dr. McCauley of Stayton summoned. The ball was found to have penetrated the body, and following the breast bone, lodged in front.

It will be remembered that the Thomas brothers were ordered to leave the country where they live on April 17, by a communication signed by "Secretary No. 13, S. V. C.," presumably a vigilance committee of thirteen members. The Thomases refused to leave, and said they intended to stay there. The matter will probably come to a serious ending yet, and likely a good deal of blood will be shed. It is thought by many that the vigilance committee is only gotten up to drive out persons who are in the way of stock raisers. In fact it is a repetition of the Montana method of hindering settlement of a country. The end of the affair is not yet.

The wounded man claims to have recognized one of his assailants, but he does not say who it was.

Mining Company Organized.

The Salem Mining Prospecting and Developing Company organized on Monday by electing W. J. Herren, Amos Strong, J. A. Van Eaton, W. W. Martin and J. G. Wright as a board of directors. The directors met yesterday and elected W. J. Herren president, J. H. Strickler secretary and J. G. Wright treasurer. The capital stock of the concern is $500,000 and is all subscribed. The company owns mining properties in Douglas, Jackson and Josephine counties, and they think that among their different claims are some of the richest in Oregon. Samples of the ore from most of their leads can be seen in W. W. Martin's show window.

Is Being Some Good.

The publishers of this paper send more or less sample copies of the daily and weekly JOURNAL to all parts of the United States every week, and these papers do much good for Oregon. This morning one person writes to the JOURNAL as follows, from San Jose, Cal.:

ED. JOURNAL.—It is with much pleasure that I acknowledge the receipt of two copies of your paper. People here are inquiring almost every day about your valley and many are going there. Some have already gone. I am a little partial to the climate of the upper portion of the valley, but all of it is very good. Yours truly, I. P. HENNING. May 27, 1888.

Looking for his Wife.

Yesterday, Mr. Warren of Silverton, who was mentioned in these columns some days since as Warner, appeared in this city, in quest of his truant wife who left his home, her husband and three children a few weeks since with a man named Mosier. At last accounts Warren had been unable to find his wife, although he had information that she was living in this city, working for some one.

Died at Stayton Monday.

Mr. Duncan, the merchant of Stayton, who, it will be remembered, fell from a step ladder in his store recently, suffering very severe injuries, died on Monday, and was buried Tuesday by the L. O. O. F. of that city. Mr. Duncan was a highly respected citizen.

MEMORIAL DAY.

A Fitting Celebration of this National Festival.

At an early hour yesterday morning people began pouring into town from all directions, to participate in the exercises incident to a proper observance of memorial day. The streets presented quite an animated look all forenoon, among the movers about being several blue coated boys, members of the military companies of the county, who had come in to take part in the parade. This was the first time that any two companies of the second regiment had met together, and of course, all were a little shaky as to the manner in which they would get through the battalion movements. One company (I) is a new one, and has had but very limited drilling, and none in the movements by platoons. However, Col. Smith had promised that no movements would be required other than simple movements by fours, and all felt pretty brave. Promptly at one o'clock, the order from Col. Smith was given to form battalion, and soon a color guard of four non-coms under command of Adjutant Hunt, bearing the new regimental colors came down the street from headquarters, and took its place on the line of intending formation. Then A. Co. under Capt. F. T. Wrightman wheeled into line, and took its place on the left of the colors, I Co., Capt. A. Gesner, formed on the center, and B Co., Capt. S. L. Lovell, on the right. Then the band took its post at the head of the column, and Col. Smith attended by his adjutant and Sig. Ofcr. Geo. H. Burnett, commanded "Forward March!" The battalion halted on Commercial street, while Sedgwick Post G. A. R. fell in on the left, the past of honor, with the Indian school in rear of the Grand Army.

The march to the cemetery through the dust and in the rays of a warm sun, was then begun, the band playing a suitable air, and a long line of carriages following the marching column. The infantry battalion made a beautiful showing, with their bright uniforms and arms, and certainly acquitted themselves very well, considering it was the first time they were ever out as a battalion.

At the cemetery the few graves of buried soldiers were profusely decorated, according to the impressive ritual of the G. A. R., and at the conclusion of the services comrade T. C. Bell, of Dallas, made an appropriate address. In the evening other oratorical and musical services were given, before an audience that filled the opera house, the platform being occupied by the veterans seated. It is not necessary to give the program. The greatest attraction of the evening was the oration of Capt. Woodruff, which was filled with patriotic sentiment and impressively delivered.

We are requested to publish the following

RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

RESOLVED that Sedgwick Post, No. 10, G. A. R. extend its hearty thanks to Cos. A, B and C, O. S. G., the W. R. C., members of the Indian school, and other organizations and citizens who so generously participated with our post in the memorial services at the L. O. O. F. cemetery to-day.

Z. M. PARVIN, P. C. W. H. BYARS, Post Adjt.

A Hero and Orator.

Capt. Woodruff, who delivered the eloquent and patriotic oration in the opera house last evening, was a schoolmate of Capt. F. J. Babcock, republican candidate for clerk in this county, and they were together in the war of the rebellion. Capt. Babcock saw Capt. Woodruff at the battle field when the latter got his first wound in the war at the battle of Pea Ridge. Capt. Woodruff was a first lieutenant in the army, at the battle of the Big Hole, with the Nez Perce Indians in 1875 or '76, and was again carried from the field, disabled by a wound received in doing some dangerous duty. This incapacitated him for further active service in the field, and he was jumped over a long list of first lieutenants who ranked him, and was made commissary of subsistence with the rank of captain, besides receiving honorable mention in general orders—this being done to keep him in the service, he being thought too good a man to lose. He is now chief commissary of subsistence of the department of the Columbia at Vancouver barracks.

Another Silverton Sensation.

With the past few weeks the little city of Silverton has furnished the CAPITAL JOURNAL with considerable news matter, and now comes the report of the disappearance of a young man of that city within a few days. Archie G. Wolfard, the son of Jno. M. Wolfard, the merchant and hotel keeper of that city, has recently left home, and no one knows where he went, although he came to this city and boarded the train for the south. Archie was about twenty-two years old, and married Elva Beard on the first of last March. The young husband and wife did not get along very well, so he left home. The affair has created quite a stir there.

"DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED."

The young man fell dead! A friend had pointed a revolver at him.

"He didn't know it was loaded!" We often hear it stated that a man is not responsible for what he does not know. The law presupposes knowledge and therefore convicts the man who excuses crime by ignorance!

"If I had only known" has often been an unfortunate man's apology for some evil unknowingly wrought, but in a matter of general interest—as for instance that laudanum is a poison, that naphtha is a deadly explosive, that blood heavily charged with a winter's accumulations of the waste of the system,—it is one's duty to know the fact and the consequences thereof. Our good old grandmothers knew for instance, that the opening of spring was the most perilous period of the year.

Why? Because then the blood stream is sluggish and chilled by the cold weather, and if not thinned a good deal and made to flow quickly and healthfully through the arteries and veins, it is impossible to have good vigor the rest of the year. Hence, without exception, what is now known as Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, was plentifully made and religiously given to every member of the family regularly through March, April, May and June. It is a matter of record that this prudential, preventive and restorative custom saved many a fit of sickness, prolonged life and happiness to a vigorous old age, and did away with heavy medical expenditures.

Mrs. Maggie Kerchwal, Lexington, Ky., used Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla "for nervous sick headache of which I had been a sufferer for years. It has been a great benefit to me."

Capt. Hugh Harkins, 1114 S. 15th St., Philadelphia, Pa., says "it purified my blood and removed the blotches from my skin."

Mrs. Aerea Smith, Topton, Berks Co., Pa., says she "was entirely cured of a skin disease of the worst kind," by Log Cabin Sarsaparilla. Bad skin indicates a bad condition of the blood.

If you would live and be well, go to your druggist to-day and get Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla and take no other,—there's nothing like it or as good,—and completely renovate your impaired system with this simple, old-fashioned preparation of roots and herbs.

Warner, who makes the famous Safe Cure, puts it up, and that is a guarantee of excellence all over the known world. Take it yourself and give it to the other members of the family, including the children. You will be astonished at its health-giving and life-prolonging powers. We say this editorially with perfect confidence, because we have heard good things of it everywhere, and its name is a guarantee that it is first class in every particular.

Perfection Lamp Filler. Have you noticed it at S. Farrar & Co's? It is just what has long been needed and no one should be without it. Cheap, convenient, labor-saving, cleanly. Can be adjusted in a moment to any five gallon oil can
