ELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY

NEARING HIS END.

A Serious Change--Another Heart Failure and Serious Hemorrhage.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—It was stated at 9:30 that there had been no material change in General Sheridan's condition since 5 o'clock. Colonel Blunt says that it has been decided not to issue another bulletin until 2 o'clock, except in case of fresh complications.

Official bulletin, 3:30 P. M.—Within the last hour another attack of heart failure occurred, and the worst may be looked for at any time. 4:25 P. M.—Gen. Sheridan just had a very severe hemorrhage. Blood was ejected from his mouth. It is almost black and clotted.

The White Caps Again.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., June 4.—The Crawford County White Caps paid a visit to Ramsey Station, on the Air Line Railroad, Sunday morning about 2 o'clock, taking Louis Sterosteller, proprietor of a hotel with saloon attachment, out of his bed and to the woods, where he was bound to a tree and given 100 lashes on his bare back.

The Poisoner Poisoned.

WINDSOR, Mo., June 4.—John Owsley, his wife and two daughters were taken violently ill at breakfast Saturday, and they suspected a 12-year-old negro servant girl had put poison in their coffee. She was accused, but entered denial. To settle the question the girl was forced to drink some of the coffee, and she died in a few hours.

He was from Arkansas.

He was talking with a Decatur friend, and in discussing municipal affairs the latter complained that the Mayor was very severe and strict on transgressors, and recited an instance or two where he thought that official was too hard on delinquents. 'Pshaw! that's nothing,' said the Arkansan. 'Down in Arkansas town a man was found dead one morning. On his body they found a revolver and $50 in money, and the mayor of the town had the body brought in, assessed a fine against the dead man of $25 for carrying concealed weapons, and directed that the other $25 be used in paying funeral expenses.'

Another problem about as villainous as that concerning the hen and a half has been propounded.

It is this: 'A tells the truth three times out of four; B tells the truth four times out of five; C tells the truth six times out of seven. What is the probability of an event which A and B assert and C denies?'—Kansas Exch.

TELEGRAPHIC SPLINTS.

Jeff Davis celebrated his eightieth birthday yesterday. The old traitor's health is improving, and he was congratulated by many survivors of the lost cause.

The slinger Sullivan's benefit in the Academy of Music, New York, last night, was shrewdly attended, and he appeared in bad form and looked tough.

The report is circulated that it is intended to crown the Czar Emperor of Central Asia at Samarcand, to offset the influence of Queen Victoria's title as Empress of India.

Prince Roland Bonaparte arrived in New York on Sunday. He comes as delegate to a bug-ological meeting to be held in that city.

Senator Dolph yesterday reported adversely from the Public Lands Committee the bill repealing all the laws allowing entries for timber culture and offered a substitute which differs only in time while the entry may be subject to contest.

"Heiress to Millions."

The newspaper stated, and how many women, probably, read the same, and envied her. But little was she to be envied, however; for in spite of her great wealth she was miserable. It was her lot, in common with myriads of women, to suffer from those "chronic weaknesses," which are peculiar to the female sex.

Miserable, nervous, and discouraged, she would gladly have given every dollar of her fortune for one brief installment of health. How easy, and how inexpensive, would be the journey to health, if Dr. Pierce's favorite prescription was selected as a remedy, and the use of the same persisted in; that is, the experience of thousands of women afflicted in the above manner teaches us to prefer so. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded.

This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. Dr. Pierce's pellets, or anti-bilious granules, cure sick headache, dyspepsia and constipation.

Nipped in the Bud.

Is it not better to nip consumption, the greatest scourge of humanity, in the bud, than to try to stay its progress on the brink of the grave? A few doses of California's most useful production SANTA ABIE, the king of Consumption, will relieve, and a thorough treatment will cure. Nasal Catarrh, too often the forerunner of consumption, can be cured by CALIFORNIA CAT-R-CURE. These remedies are sold and fully warranted by D. W. Matthews & Co., 106 State street, Salem.

Renews Her Youth.

Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: 'I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my household work. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain.' Try a bottle, 50c. and $1. at H. W. Cox's drug store.

SENTIMENT IN POLITICS.

A Useful Plank for the National Republican Platform.

In a few weeks the national republican convention will meet in Chicago. Upon the choice and voice of that convention great interests depend. If wise, the national administration will pass into the hands of the republican party. If unwise, disastrous defeat is inevitable. The nominees must be men who will command the full confidence and the full vote of the country; and it is almost equally necessary that the platform should be plain and strong and honest.

The masses of voters who count themselves republicans are plain, honest men, who are too intelligent, too loyal to truth, too earnest in their purposes to submit to artifice, cowardice, evasion or jugglery in the declaration of principles. They want the convention to say what it means in honest English, and to mean what it says. If the republican party stands for principles let them be set forth in such language as men of conscience and conviction know how to use. If it does not stand for principles no amount of cunning can conceal its cowardice; for there are principles which the people believe in and for the support of which they can be rallied. One of these is protection from the curse of the saloon. This is an issue which men of courage and conviction are ready and anxious to take up, and it is an issue which the national convention ought to recognize and promote. To succeed, the party must lead; and to lead it must champion that which lies close to the heart of the people.

There is no cause that is dearer to the American heart to-day than that of the Home against the saloon. Ministers are a unit against the saloon; churches are a unit against it; physicians and educators and reformers are against it; women and children shudder as they think of it. Who loves and champions it? Who says it is good? Who says it needs protection? There are those who think there should be more schools and asylums and hospitals; but who asks for more saloons? There is not a state in the Union which has not statutes against it; not a city, town, or village in the land where there is not opposition to it. The sentiment against it is universal, and expresses itself in many ways. It believes in education, restriction and prohibition as remedies, and in every state these remedies have been applied in one way or another.

This sentiment is rapidly increasing, and it is going more and more to the polls. Politicians are at the polls—do they not see it? It is everywhere organizing for political action—do the politicians not feel it? The political annuals are full of prohibition statistics—do the politicians not understand them? Look you, gentlemen, at these returns of votes for prohibition—votes, we say, which you so highly appreciate:

Table with 2 columns: State and Year, and Votes. Ohio (1883) 325,000; Michigan (1887) 178,000; Oregon (1887) 20,000; Tennessee (1887) 118,000; Texas (1887) 129,000; Iowa (1882) 156,000; Kansas (1880) 92,000; Maine (1884) 71,000; Rhode Island (1880) 15,000.

Here are over 1,100,000 votes for constitutional prohibition alone. Add the states of Vermont and New Hampshire where prohibition prevails; most of Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi, where local option has been so successful; and counties, cities and towns, north and south, where saloons have been closed by one method or another, and you have evidence which you cannot reject that opposition to the saloon is in the heart of the people. It is strong in the republican party, and nothing would unite and vivify the party more than a definite, decisive declaration on the subject from the national convention at Chicago: Shall we not have it? Shall we not have it for its great moral influence, for its help to fight the battle in the states?

All we ask is a plank that shall recognize the enormous evils of the saloon, denounce its purpose to control and corrupt politics, and declare that as the evils directly affect the people, the fate of the traffic should everywhere be submitted to the arbitration of the people. This is all we demand at present. We believe there is a general feeling in the Convention will meet this question in the right spirit. A large and influential deputation of anti-saloon republicans will wait upon the platform, committee to urge the matter, and we suggest that letters and petitions be sent to every member of the Convention from republicans from his own district or state asking his influence for an anti-saloon plank.—[N. Y. Independent.]
