WOODBURN NOTES.

The new coroner is waiting for business. There are lots of strangers in town this week. Mrs. Wade will soon return to her home in Tacoma, W. T. F. M. Cammack is having his hotel re-painted in fine style. W. L. Tooze is receiving lots of wheat, and is shipping daily. Match game of ball between Hubbard and Woodburn on the 17th. The Woodburn people are much pleased with the CAPITAL JOURNAL. W. H. Goulet is buying horses for the lumber camp in Washington territory. Don't forget to come to Woodburn on the 4th of July. John F. Caples will orate. Five dollars reward for a man that can tell a bigger catfish story than John Zimmerle. Woodburn begins to put on city airs, and will apply to the next legislature for a charter. Mr. John Zimmerle has bought property here, and moved his family to his new home. There will be a grand ball in Major Leonard's new hall here on the night of the Fourth. W. B. Tout and J. H. Settlenire have gone to Salem to serve their time out—as jurymen. We have a fine Sabbath school, and parents and children alike take much interest in the exercises. Rev. Keene preaches here next Sunday, and the League meets next Tuesday night. Let all come. Mr. Charles Mushbarger, of Hubbard, will move to Woodburn on Monday next and start a blacksmith shop. Henry Goulet has put up a new set of stock scales in front of his stable. This will be a great convenience to the public. C. D. Wilson of the firm of Wilson & Ware, has sold his interest in the furniture store here to a Mr. Fash lately of Nebraska. Our people ought to send copies of the JOURNAL to their friends in the east, to post them on Woodburn. It will save letter writing. The editors of the Blue Ribbon paper deserve credit for their untiring efforts to make it interesting and useful. Give them all the aid you can. There are some three or four painters here now, painting new houses and re-painting some of the old ones, which gives the town a neat appearance. John Grant and wife of New Brunswick arrived in town Saturday last, and will make this their home. Mrs. Grant is a sister of Harry and Walter Hemlow. The Junior base ball club from Corvallis and Willamette's of Woodburn played a match game at this place on Saturday last, resulting in a victory for the latter. Score 21 to 18. Every dwelling house in Woodburn is occupied, and people here nearly every day, looking for houses to rent. If some party with capital would build a few neat residences here, it would be a paying investment. Hemlow & Hall's cannery here, is doing a fine business, running night and day part of the time. They have been receiving as high as a ton of cherries per day. They employ several hands now, and will employ more in a short time. The temperance people of Woodburn are doing much good in the Blue Ribbon and Legnie, but they must be careful to keep out discussion. Your enemies laugh when they see you pulling apart. So you get people to be temperate it matters not whether it is according to your own cherished plan—it is a victory for the good. The prolonged and gentle rains of the past few days, have brought smiles to many a granger's weather beaten face. Much of the grain sown in this locality last fall, was frozen out, and re-sown this past spring. Had the rains held off much longer, the spring grain would have been a complete failure. But abundant crops are now assured. The Fourth of July committee is hard at work preparing for a grand time. The Silverton trombone band has been engaged for the occasion, and the boys from the Indian school will play the St. Paul boys a match game of base ball here on the Fourth. Arrangements have been made with the O. & C. and the Narrow Gauge railroads for reduced fare. A large crowd and a grand time are expected. Ladies will please take notice that Mrs. A. H. Farnar is receiving new styles of hats every few days. An endless variety from which to select, and prices very low. Kid, silk, lisle and cotton gloves at Bridges & Bozorth's.

A DAY IN CHICAGO.

What the Christian Women are Doing Towards Reform. VISIT TO LINCOLN PARK. Fine Scenic Gardening and Zoological Display. A few notes of a general nature may be interesting to the reader as a close to this correspondence. Returning from Indianapolis, we stay at Chicago for a few hours. Walking toward East river at 8 o'clock a. m., what a continuous, thronging stream of men and women you meet on their way to "business." The sidewalks are alive with them. The roadway is again and again blockaded as the apparently interminable line of vehicles which almost touch each other, encounter some obstacle. Occasionally the drawbridge, which crosses the East river, is swung round, for a vessel to pass along stream, and this causes a serious congestion. Policemen are stationed at the main crossings, who are kept constantly employed piloting pedestrians through the maze of moving vehicles. HOW SOLID ARE THE BUSINESS BLOCKS, towering story upon story towards the sky! And what an air of business! From the hurried way it is evident that time is money. So is space. Not a foot of ground wasted. Competition is keen, and prices are brought down to the narrowest margin. Advertising is reduced to a science, perhaps I may rank it among the fine arts. This is anything but a tropical climate; even in this first week in June the cold, penetrating wind seems to blow fresh from a snow-bank, and one would instinctively seek the sunny side of the way, were not the streets so narrow and the buildings so tall as to exclude the sun's rays until later in the day. Still, ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME, and we see fruits, flowers and vegetables, from milder localities, displayed in great profusion. The pale, sickly cherries I see here would blush for shame by the side of those in Oregon and California; some of which, nearly as large as eastern plums, are now arriving. Oranges are as cheap as with you, and bananas, after the best have been culled, sell as low as ten cents a dozen. Of fish, Columbia river salmon on ice is limited, but white fish, snappers, lake trout, etc., are abundant. Meat is much dearer than with us. A first class restaurant charges 50 cents for a good steak. For 3 dozen oysters they charged me 40 cents; but they were big enough to cut up and eat in sections. Tastes differ; but I prefer our own oysters if they are small. Every visitor to Chicago MUST GO TO LINCOLN PARK. For ten cents (two fares) I rode on the cable cars over a large part of the city, going through the tunnel under the river, and on to the park. The first object that meets the gaze is the Lincoln monument. But you pass it, not without admiring that noble sheet of water, Lake Michigan, which spreads out like a fresh water ocean. The green sward, the finely graveled drives, winding with picturesque effect among the trees, the beautiful fresh foliage and beds of flowers, newly set out from the greenhouses, all make up a picture of enchantment. The next attraction is the splendid collection of live animals. Here is quite a herd of full-grown buffalo, one of the cows is followed with a calf. So ruthlessly have their fellows been slaughtered on the plains that, while on the cars, we gazed for hundreds of miles in the vain endeavor to see this noble game. But their bones are piled in great heaps, at the various railroad stations ready for transportation eastward. Indians have learned to gather the horns, polish them and offer them for sale. I bought a nice pair from a Canadian Indian for half a dollar. Soon neither live buffalo, horn or bone will be found except in parks.

Magnificent elk and Virginia deer were in the collection, also over a dozen grizzly and cinnamon bear, these uncouth animals either asleep in the sun, or playing and climbing trees or poles. There were also two fine white polar bears. Foxes, coyotes and wolves were quite numerous. Prairie dogs and striped gophers were burrowing in a mound. A beaver had a pond and the rough material for a dam. Otters and seals gambled over the rocks or dived into the water with evident enjoyment. OUR NATIONAL BIRD Is well represented, fully a score of eagles of various kinds and plumage, restraining their strong pinions in an inglorious cage. All through the park are rustic bridges, "natural grottoes," springs and waterfalls. (Money, brains and a good water supply can produce wonderful scientific effects.) I went through the Union Signal office and the Woman's Temperance Publication society's rooms, on La Salle st. After an interval of four years one is surprised to see how this concern has grown. Women, boys and girls are the most numerous operatives, only the heavier work is given to men. The shares in this enterprise are $25 each, and the business is paying a good profit. The immense temperance temple, under the fostering care of Mrs. Matilda Casse, (just elected member of the city board of education,) will be erected for the W. C. T. U. headquarters. Their present rents are onerous. They have just ousted a basement saloon keeper and rented the premises he occupied. THE HIGH LICENSE EXPERIMENT Is on trial in this city. The liquor traffic is said to pay $2,000,000 a year into the city treasury, which will be apt to blind taxpayers to the terrible evil they are sanctioning. If this high license has materially lessened the number of saloons in this saloon cursed city, God help it before! They go two or three together, and some pretty hard looking places. But casting this discouraging feature aside, when one notes the activities, the constant growth and the business possibilities of this inland metropolis, it is no wonder that its citizens are so proud of it and that nothing but a more propitious climate can draw any of its citizens away. J. W. W.

WINNIPEG, June 8th. TELEGRAPHIC SPLINTS. In Chillicothe, Mo., on Thursday, a boy of twelve years shot his playmate through the breast with a revolver. He picked up the weapon in a jewelry store and disavows any evil motive. Henry Stanley has been wounded in an encounter with the natives at Kamshatta. After the fight half his escort deserted him. Shelby's circus was wrecked on Wednesday by a tornado while performing at Odell, Ills. The canvas fell down and fifteen persons were injured. Lightning freaks were numerous in Nebraska on Wednesday evening. In Omaha a nine-months babe was killed. At Newman's Grove, Chas. Lee, aged 21 years, was fatally struck. And at Johnston, Archie Carpenter while milking a cow was struck with a bolt and instantly killed. Genl. Sheridan continues to improve, no unfavorable symptoms having appeared. He passed last night very quietly and coughed but little. Secretary Vilas yesterday affirmed the decision of the commissioner of the general land office in holding certain land in the Spokane Falls, land district as excepted from the grant of July 2, 1864, to the Northern Pacific road. Miss Amelia Reeve, the authoress, and J. A. Chandler, of New York, were married at Charlottesville, Va., in the presence of the family and four or five intimate friends. In Salem, Mass., on Thursday, the works of the Salem Lead Co. were destroyed by fire. Loss $200,000, fully insured. An effort is being made to raise $100,000 to build an American Union church in Berlin, for the benefit of American students and tourists sojourning in that capital. In Keokuk, Iowa, a jealous farmer, named John Lowery, suspecting improper intimacy between his wife and a hired man, first murdered his wife in the house, and then went into the field and killed the man. The murderer then fled. Lively Runaway. Geo. Collins' big farm team took a spin around the blocks this afternoon. Starting from Collins' home, they went up Court street, turning in at the state house, passed through the arch under the state house steps. Then they ran into State street, and down State to Liberty, where they ran into Roth's grocery corner, tearing out an awning post. Damage slight.
