

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS

Summary Account of Doings in City and Country.

PERSONALS.

Prof. Parvin is back from Yaquina. H. A. Newell and wife started for the seaside to-day. Mrs. and Miss Nellie Riley are visiting in Portland. Cal. Morgan and wife and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Workman have gone to Yaquina. Hon. J. T. Gregg and Senator T. L. Barin returned from Eugene to-day. The latter escorted the teachers as far as Oregon city. Rev. J. R. N. Bell, and T. McF. Patton went to Portland, the latter to attend a meeting of the directors of the Cyclorama Company. W. H. Hobson, of Stayton, a daily peruser of the JOURNAL gave this office a pleasant call to-day. Always glad to see our friends when in town. T. J. Cronise, the printer, and family go to Sodaville to-morrow for a month. Gay Cook will assist in the office during Mr. Cronise's absence. Miss Edith Pentland, after returning from the teachers' convention in San Francisco, visited Monmouth and Salem, and has returned home to Seilo. Seth Hammer, atty., left to-day for a two weeks vacation on the coast. Thus lawyers, teachers, preachers, merchants go. Alas! when will the editor's turn come? John Bigler and Prof. Ben. Childs have not yet started to the McKenzie and Calapooia mines, to bring down that sack full of gold that only awaits their digging it out. But they will start soon. Rev. W. O. Forbes, of Albina, chairman of the Presbyterian Home Missionary Board, attended its meeting in this city, last night, and left in the morning train. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ladue. Before leaving he paid a visit to some of our business institutions to note Salem's enterprise and progress.

Fresh Every Day. Farrar & Co. have a fresh stock of fruits, vegetables and berries every day, and their fancy and staple grocery department is constantly replenished.

More Good Advertising. The Oregon immigration Board has just issued a very finely illustrated pamphlet of the city of Portland. The descriptive article is elaborately written by Col. A. H. Hawley, well known in Salem. It is needless to say to those who know his writing that it is very readable, and serves well the purpose of drawing favorable attention to Portland and the state of which it is the metropolis.

"What this country wants," said the man who talks politics on the street car, "is men who are not afraid to meet their obligations." Then he noticed that in the crowd the conductor had overlooked him, and he dropped off the car a block away from his destination for fear the error would be discovered.—Buffalo Express.

Some circus bill posters covered a church near Vincennes, Ind., with highly-colored posters, mistaking the edifice for a schoolhouse which they had permission to decorate. A committee was appointed to prosecute the alleged desecrators, but the circus men compromised the matter for $15 and a handful of complimentary tickets, which was $5 more than the committee asked.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Mr. Isaacstein, I love your daughter sincerely and long to make her my wife. May I venture to ask your permission?" "My young friend, ven you ask me for my daughter's hand you ask me to make too great a sacrifice."—"Very well, Mr. Isaacstein, I will transfer my affections elsewhere then. Good-day." "Come back, my young friend, come back! You may have her. But, by chinyiny, you don't always get such bargains every day!"—Burlington Free Press.

It is said that the sculptor Story of Rome will shortly publish an article on the discovery of America by Jean Cousin of Dieppe, before the landing of Columbus. Who discovered this country, anyway? Columbus is good enough for the majority of people. It's a low trick to steal his glory when he cannot defend himself. Columbus and Shakespeare should form a mutual protective association.

Magnificent Samples.

A JOURNAL reporter yesterday called on Mr. D. D. Prettyman who will be remembered as having gone back east with a car load of grain, grasses, vegetables, fruits and Oregon produce in general publicly exhibiting them in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, and eventually leaving the car and its exhibit with the Northern Pacific railroad company, at St. Paul. This was done at the expense of the state board of immigration, and won them and the state as well as Mr. Prettyman much praise. This gentleman also sent a peck of wheat to the Centennial exhibition in Philadelphia and took the first prize against the world, and he naturally feels very proud of the medal and diploma. (The collective exhibit of Oregon also took the first prize there.)

Of late years Mr. Prettyman has made a specialty of collecting specimens of grains and grasses for State and Mechanics' fairs and the Board of Immigration. He has just completed a magnificent collection of wheat of defiance and other varieties of oats, timothy, clover, rye, buckwheat and millet. The clover is 4 feet high and was taken from a patch sowed among the oak grubs, a year ago, on ground ploughed. The buckwheat is 6 feet 6 inches, and the timothy 5 feet 6 inches with very long heads, some of them nearly a foot in length. These all to go to the state board at Portland, and will be forwarded east to astonish the natives and make them dissatisfied with their lot until they come to the Willamette Valley and see such things actually growing.

P. P. Work Beginning.

A gentleman just in from Corvallis informed the JOURNAL that engineers and others started out to-day to recommence work on the Oregon Pacific railroad extension so long delayed and so often projected. From various sources it has been learned of late that all along the line resumption has been anticipated. This will be news for it means the spending of much money in exchange for labor, hay, grain and other produce, the use of teams among the farmers. It also insures speedier and pleasanter communication between places now remote, and the opening up of a large area now almost inaccessible and the connecting of the central portion of the Willamette valley with Eastern Oregon. Surely a fresh effort ought to be made to secure a branch to Salem. The Board of Trade might make a note of that.

LOCAL NOTES.

Call on Winters & Thomas for the best groceries in town

Painless dental operations at Dr. T. C. Smith's, 92 State street.

Band concert to-night in Marion Square, not in Wilson Avenue.

Cream soda, ice cream soda, milk shakes, lemonades, at Strong & Co.'s James Ryan, a plumber, was drowned at Sacramento yesterday.

A good idea of the size of the new Catholic church can now be formed as the frame work it raised.

The remains of Gen. Sheridan will be buried in the Arlington National cemetery on Saturday.

Next? The Press Association, consisting of editors, publishers, wives and lady friends. Another intellectual and jolly crowd.

The handsome Krauss villa, corner of Court and Cottage streets, is receiving its outside coating of paint and sanding. James Warner is doing the work.

The intending passengers by the 8:13 a. m. train for Portland, with wonderful unanimity suddenly decided not to go until about eleven o'clock. The train was late.

Visitors to our town will see no greener and better kept lawns or fresher wild grass in all their travels than herabouts. In fact this is commonly remarked by them.

A man from Standing Rock, yesterday, says the Indians have resolved in secret council to kill the first Indian that signs the treaty providing for the allotment of their lands in severalty.

County court is still in session, but business is not pushing. Yesterday D. J. Pendleton presented his annual report, and a sale of personal property in the Whitney estate. Both were allowed and filed.

Three thousand more of the 20,000 edition of "The Resources of the State of Oregon" published by the State Board of Agriculture, and compiled by ex-speaker Gregg, are being sent to the State Board of Immigration to-day.

To Yaquina.

Friday, August 10th. Round trip $2.50 from Albany. Tickets good for ten days. For sale at H. W. Cox's drug store, State street.

Contracts Awarded.

The State Board to-day awarded the contract for building the new iron fence around the penitentiary to B. F. Drake, Salem for $3,494. Trenkman & Wolff of Portland, bid $4,425. Dugan Bros. were the only bidders for the hydraulic gate, designed to save the labor of a man, $210. Painting the wood and iron work of the Capitol building, Wm. Wicke, Portland, $925. So Salem scores two out of three.

An Eminent Speaker.

No matter how many speakers you have heard, another one, if good, is sure to interest you. Prof. Ford, an educated man and educator, of Michigan, who is returning from the Teachers' National Association, is to address the citizens of Salem to-morrow night in the W. C. T. U. hall. Though on a scientific subject, it is treated in a popular and pleasing way, and is well illustrated. He is highly endorsed and recommended. Miss Parmenter has kindly consented to sing. To commence at 8 o'clock. Admission free. He can stay but one night; do not miss it.

Why those immense new advertising boards around town? Sell's circus proposes a free art gallery for the boys and girls and general public. The handsome advertising car is already at the freight depot, on Commercial street, in charge of the advance agent. The circus opens Tuesday Aug. 28th.

Daniel Kinsall was decapitated by a train of cars yesterday at San Buena Ventura, Cal. It is thought he fell on the track.

Personal.

Mr. N. H. Frohlichstein, of Mobile, Ala., writes: I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, having used it for a severe attack of Bronchitis and Catarrh. It gave me instant relief and entirely cured me and I have not been afflicted since. I also beg to state that I had tried other remedies with no good result. Have also used Electric Bitters and Dr. King's New Life Pills, both of which I can recommend.

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, is sold on a positive guarantee. Trial bottles free at Dr. H. W. Cox's Drug Store.

RELIGIOUS GLEANINGS.

Miss Delphine Baker is about to establish a Christian newspaper in Jerusalem.

Presbyterianism in Brooklyn numbers twenty-three churches and 15,325 members.

The first Protestant missionaries to a foreign field were sent from Geneva to Brazil in 1657-8.

The German Reformed church numbers 817 ministers, 1,481 congregations and 163,000 members.

It is stated that all the policemen of Kansas City are church members, two of them being elders and several of them deacons.

An effort is being made to establish a national organization of the colored Young Men's Christian association of the United States.

One hundred and fifty United States and twenty-seven Canadian delegates are in attendance at the World's Missionary conference, London.

Miss Florence White, a capable teacher in the Mills seminary, California, is going to Kyoto, Japan, where she will be a teacher in training school.

The opinion gains strength in the Methodist Episcopal church that the day will come when the clergy and laity will sit as separate bodies in general conference.

The khedive of Egypt has dismissed his prime minister, Nubar Pasha, and called Riaz Pasha to lead his cabinet. Nubar is an Armenian Christian, Riaz a Mohammedan.

The general synod of the Reformed church in America called a strong protest against the rum traffic on the Congo to the World's Missionary conference, London, calling upon the conference to take decided action.

The George Wood medal of the American tract society for the year 1888 has been assigned to the Rev. E. F. Burr, D. D., LL. D., of Lyme, Conn., author of "Long Ago as Interpreted by the Nineteenth Century."

For the 25,000 soldiers in the army of the United States there are only thirty-four chaplains. Several of these chaplains are disabled, thus a large majority of the 124 army posts are without any religious instruction.

The three great Protestant powers of the world are Germany, England and the United States. These powers are represented at the Mohammedan court of Constantinople by two Roman Catholics and a Jew—Herr von Radowitz, Sir William White and Oagar M. Struss.

Definite action in the matter of union between the German Reformed and Dutch Reformed churches cannot be taken until 1890, when the general synod of the German church next meets. Meanwhile the movement in favor of such union will gain strength.

It is proposed to establish in Bethany ("the town of Mary and her sister Martha," where the Lord raised Lazarus from the dead, a home which shall form a center of Christian work. The village has today about five hundred inhabitants, who live in squalor and die in ignorance of the Gospel. A piece of land has been secured and the prospect is said to be encouraging.

QUAINT FASHIONS IN FANS.

Watteau fans are very beautiful and a nice wedding present.

For semi dressy occasions there is nothing more becoming or durable than Japanese fans, and the new varieties are peculiar.

Fans intended to accompany bridal and full evening toilets are of ostrich feathers, exquisite and costly lace, or spangled gauze with pearl or carved mountings.

The "Tuxedo," narrow and high at the center, is a favorite shape, and is furnished in gauze, spangled or hand painted, as well as in the costliest point lace, with gilded or pearl sticks.

A handsome fan has sticks of red Russia leather, finished at the top with soft red marabout tips, and another is shaped like a flat Japanese fan, and has a long handle with a silver ring in the end, through which a ribbon may be passed.

Feathers are conspicuously employed on expensive fans, one design having tortoise shell sticks with an ostrich feather mounted on such stick. The handle, exquisitely carved, has a silver loop by which the fan is to be attached to a chateleine or ribbon.

Fans entirely of one piece of lace mounted upon satin have ivory sticks, and the pendant cord is finished with a tassel of lace to match the cover. One design has the imitation of marigold satin, and the sticks of pearl are decorated with arabesque figures.

A novel fan of the ordinary size and shape has mountings of olive wood, inlaid and covered with "Sham," a golden brown gauze. Upon this surface are painted sprays of field flowers, and the top is bordered with a fringe of narrow picot ribbon which represents busy petals.

Flower fans are favorites. One of those, of yellow silk, has a wreath of forget-me-nots and daisies stretching from side to side, which showing small sprays upon which are apparently just setting. Poppy wings are arranged upon scarlet gauze.

The Two Dollar Broker's Joys.

A big operator down in Wall street, who was getting rather worried the other day because the market, to use his picturesque expression, "did not act just right," gazed with an expression of envious regret in his rather faded eyes after a youthful and debonair two dollar broker who had just gone whistling out of the room.

"A two dollar broker," he said with a sigh, "on the floor of the exchange, who attends to his business and doesn't speculate, is certainly one of the happiest men I know. He has no care and no responsibilities. He jumps in, buys or sells, turns over the transaction to his principal, gets $2 for every hundred shares he does, and when he goes uptown in the afternoon promptly at 3 o'clock, he has no business to think about or to harass him until the next morning at 10 o'clock when he comes down on the street. In dull times his income may not be a magnificent one, but there are at least three or four active periods in every Wall street year, and at this time he is able to average up with great success. I suppose the income of a fairly good two dollar broker is somewhere between $7,000 and $12,000 a year. Not only has he no care from day to day, but he should have no particular worry about the future. His membership carries a life insurance with it, and when he dies his family comes in for a handsome sum. What a life is wrong with me! I am utterly weary for moderate competency and the pleasant existence of a two dollar broker."—New York Mail and Express.
