

PERSONALS.

H. S. Jory is home again. Senator M. L. Chamberlin has gone to The Dalles on a business trip. The presence in town of Dr. G. W. Biggars, of Bellevue, Idaho, is noted. Senator Slator and wife are visiting their son, assistant state treasurer. Dr. Gray of the blind school went to Portland in the interest of that institution, to-day. Charly Gilmore who has been fireman on the steamer Hogue, went to Portland to-day. W. T. Roberts who lost two fingers from his left hand by an accident at the Dorrance planing mills, at the agricultural works, went home to Woodburn to-day with the amputated fingers preserved in a bottle of alcohol, and the wounded hand doing well. C. Cannonier was to-day called to Gervais where his wife is, her uncle, Mr. Seals, an old farmer of that place, being at the point of death. Mr. Cannonier informed the reporter that he was in the same regiment, 7th New York heavy artillery, with Mr. F. Lockley, the editor of THE JOURNAL.

Want to be First in the Field. It is not supposable that the prohibitory act to change the political complexion of Oregon, or to elect their presidential nominees. But they seem determined to be first in the field in this campaign. Meetings have been held in Jefferson, Woodburn and Silverton, and last night the Salem prohibition club held its second open air meeting, at the corner of Commercial and State streets. A large, miscellaneous crowd was attracted by the "musical prodigies," the two little boys of J. C. Robertson, the ultra prohi of Turner. Dressed in scarlet uniforms the little fellows stood up in a carriage and played on cornet and tuba, almost as big as themselves. The principal addresses was delivered by Rev. J. W. Hines, San of Jose, Cal., who recounted his recent visits, in the East in the interest of prohibition, to the Labor Union National Convention, the New York and Michigan prohibition state conventions, the Fisk and Brooks ratification meetings, to Chicago after the republican convention, and to Grand Master Workman Powderly and Father McGlynn. Mr. Hines is very enthusiastic and expressed himself as confident that 75,000 prohibition votes would be cast in New York, nearly 50,000 in Michigan, and a great many more than ever before in California. Prof. Rork followed with a characteristic talk. Throughout the proceedings the attention was good for a street corner, but the faint response to the few who applauded, showed that the prohibis were in the minority.

Needed—An Aid Society. The JOURNAL gladly seconds the suggestion that the usually generous public of Salem do not let Mr. Law and family suffer. He is an industrious man of good character and was diligently providing for his own when the accident at the saw mill laid him up with a lacerated knee that may result in a stiff or disabled joint. He had hardly become settled among us when this occurred. This again makes pertinent the suggestion offered more than once in these columns that Salem should have a general, unsectarian aid society. What is everybody's business is nobody's. If the charitably disposed give in response to every individual appeal they will be unduly taxed, and have no guarantee that their aims are judiciously bestowed. Representative men and women from the various churches and Masonic, Odd Fellows, Good Templars and other lodges or societies, and our business circles could be elected to look after the general needs of the unfortunate. A committee would appropriately enquire into individual cases and make their appeals to the public without specifically naming the parties to be helped. The county court, churches, benevolent societies and individuals could give them some funds to start with. Let some steps be taken in this direction without delay.

The secretary of state has forwarded to Washington proofs of claims for Indian war indemnity amounting to $44,000.

MORE EASTERN TEACHERS.

The Last Delegation Passes Through Salem.—Fruits, Flowers, Songs and Cheers.

Representatives of the Board of Trade, the Land Company, the State Board of Education, the three daily papers and other Salem interests were in waiting at the California express this morning to bid between thirty and forty teachers from the National Association God speed on their way home. The next thing heard after the scream of the whistle was "My country tis of thee" coming on the breeze from male and female voices and hearts. Mr. Alexander Weiss, of New York, accompanied the delegation and made an admirable leader. He led the singing; he was seeing that all was well in the car; he was on the platform of the car; he was on the depot platform; he voiced the thanks of the teachers for their welcome and the hurried hospitality; he started the cheers for Salem, for Prof. McElroy, who accompanied them from Albany, for Oregon at large; he gave the JOURNAL reporter needed information. He was jolly, ubiquitous and a generalissimo. All in the party appeared to be intelligent and very sociable, anxious to learn all they could about the great state through which they were passing and regretful only that they did not have time to stay over and see more. They had enjoyed the whole trip over the railroad. Fruit and flowers, and pamphlets descriptive of this town and valley were taken to the special car by Dr. Minthorne Superintendent McElroy and others. With thanks and cheers, and singing an improvised ditty with a refrain "We'll be back in Salem" they went their way to tell across the Rockies the wonders of this western coast. A list of those comprising the party is appended and each one will receive to-morrow morning, at the Esmond hotel, Portland, a copy of this paper as a reminder that he or she is wished a safe journey and a happy reunion at home.

Besides Mr. Weiss, were Misses S. E. Titus, Mary Barnes, A. E. Barnes, Lillie Bowman, L. Birdsall, M. L. Roome, M. Schloss, Annie M. O'Leary, Estelle Myers, Julia Hodges, Sarah Kremer; Mesdames M. A. Koyes, A. K. Duff, S. J. Savin, C. F. Whiting; Messrs. Wm. Roome, W. Turney, and Dr. J. B. Green, of New York; Miss A. F. Nye, Boston; Miss E. E. Scranton, Massachusetts; Miss Annie Glenn, Chicago; Miss Kate Nelson, Wisconsin; Misses F. J. Wright and M. E. Hastings, Connecticut; Miss Ruth Priest, Kentucky; Miss E. B. Hopkins Indiana; and Miss Alice Jones, Ohio.

"Specialty." All photographers I have known make all the specialty of baby pictures they can. I also make a great effort to catch the innocent little ones in their happiest mood and most child like ways. For the purpose of showing the people my facilities for taking the photographs of children I will make negatives of children up to three years old free of charge until the middle of September. This is a fine opportunity to get your little ones photographed. T. J. CHEERINGTON, New Bank Block, 145-21-dw.

Gives Himself Up. William Davis, who committed a deadly assault on Layton Tindle, by striking him over the head with a stake while at work threshing near Ballston, Polk county, last Friday, came out of hiding yesterday, and gave himself up to the authorities at Perrydale, and was taken to Dallas for examination. Tindle was a little better yesterday, and was able to speak and ask where he was. To-day he is worse and cannot recover. This is a sad commentary on the folly and crime of letting anger break through all restraints, whatever the provocation.

The president has issued an order placing Gen. Schofield in command of an army headquarters in Washington; he will also continue in command of the division of the Atlantic. No other changes have been made.

The politico-historic writer on the Statesman staff says Clint Monroe, the genial proprietor of the Monroe house, has named the fine horses he drives to his bus "Harrison" and "Morton." That is because they get there every time. The chances are favorable for Harrison's "getting there" in November, but it is not authentically recorded that he did so "every time" that he made a raid.

LOCAL NOTES.

The morning train was late. Call on Winters & Thomas for the best groceries in town. Note W. P. Johnson's ad. about work done at his gallery.

Painless dental operations at Dr. T. C. Smith's, 92 State street. Cream soda, ice cream soda, milk shakes, lemonades, at Strong & Co.'s. Nearly all the sleeping cars on the O. & C. line are new and finely finished.

Elder J. W. Webb will respond to an invitation to preach at the Squirrel Hill school house on Sunday at 11 a. m.

There is yet another fruit drier. It is located on the upper story of one of the buildings on the campus. The sun furnishes the heat.

Wonder if visitors are not apt to mistake that vigorous second growth of clover in full bloom, on the university campus ground, for the main crop that was cut and housed long ago.

The Statesman local page gives the very many friends of Prof. T. F. Campbell a stinging slap in the face. Somebody's spleen may be gratified, but who is benefited by such a course?

An Aurora correspondent says the fruit crop is very abundant and in danger of going to waste for want of market. Hope is indulged that the Woodburn cannery will take considerable of it. They need an evaporator there. Who will start one and get rich?

Men with a complete outfit of mining and blacksmith tools go out to the Capital mine on the Santiam to prosecute the work of opening it up with vigor and perseverance. The directors are president, John G. Wright; secretary, J. H. Strickler; treasurer, J. J. Murphy.

We learn that J. B. Tichenor yesterday effected a sale of the 44 acres, five miles south of town; to Mr. Gus Freniard, from Kansas. The place belonged to Mrs. Esther A. Dunn, and brought $1,055. Thus eastern people come and settle among us. And there are more to follow. Welcome.

To the Astorian is due the credit of the latest revised and embellished edition of the following incident: While digging spuds for dinner, at Wells, Benton Co., last Saturday, Mary A. Carter found a $10 gold piece of date 1837, and bought some tobacco for her dear husband to smoke while she kept right on digging.

Mr. Cole who has a saw mill on Pudding river near Aurora, is well pleased with his location and business. There is so much building of barns, granaries and hop houses through the country that lumber sells as soon as sawn. He has also a mill at Canby. He is reported to have bought considerable timber land along the river.

G. A. R. RESOLUTIONS.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted by Sedgwick Post No. 10, Dept. of Oregon, at their regular meeting Aug. 14, 1888:

The country being called on to deplore the loss of Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, the foremost soldier of the age, whose bravery and generalship have illustrated the military annals of the United States, be it Resolved, By Sedgwick Post No. 10, G. A. R., of Salem, Oregon, that as former comrades of the illustrious deceased, we grieve over his muster out from the ranks, and mourn the sudden close of a career that reflected honor upon all who participated in his heroic achievements.

Resolved, that his devotion to country was evidence of a patriotism which inspires the breast of every true soldier, and that his emprise in the field was the logical fulfillment of a sense of duty to which his unsurpassed genius was dedicated.

Resolved, That as citizens of this republic we celebrate the virtues of a fellow citizen whose example is profitable to emulate and whose virtues exalt the profession of arms; that we sympathize with his family deprived of a protector, and mingle our tears with a sorrowing people who feel that a chieftain has fallen in their midst.

FRED LOCKLEY, T. C. SMITH, IRA EHL.

Bought a Fruit Garden.

Andrew Crosset, recently from Columbia county, has bought one of the ten-acre fruit tracts on the Teller place, across the river. This farm was recently divided up into small tracts by the Oregon Land company, and six of them have already been sold for fruit gardens.

Judge Walton and family returned yesterday from a two weeks' vacation trip to Mehana.

THE DEADLY SHOT-GUN.

An Accidental Discharge in the Hands of a Polk County Young Man Proves Fatal.

A fine young citizen, well connected, well raised, well married and well settled in life, Mr. Horace Hawley of Bethel, met his death in a most lamentable manner, last Monday. In the evening at McCoy, after hunting for grouse he was talking to Mrs. Finn and unthoughtedly rested his gun on the edge of the sidewalk, with his hand over the muzzle. The gun slipping from his hand both barrels were, without a moment's warning, discharged into his abdomen making a frightful wound, too terrible to describe in detail. He was at once taken into Belt's drug store, medical aid and relatives were summoned, but death, which alone could fully relieve his sufferings, took place about 9 o'clock.

This will prove a terrible shock to the family, especially his young wife, daughter of Hon. Cyrus Smith, of Amity, his father, Hon. J. H. Hawley, and his devoted mother who is in poor health. He was raised in the neighborhood and was highly esteemed. He was a member of the Christian church, as are his parents and other members of the family. A little child is left with the mourning young wife and mother. The funeral was to take place to-day. It is no idle nor merely customary phrase we use when we say that the sympathy of all who know them will go out to the bereaved ones.

Salem Enterprise.

The people of Salem are perhaps now more wide awake on the subject of immigration than ever before. All kinds of means are being taken to advertise their vicinity. Nearly every train from the south is full of tourists going east by the northern route. They are met at the depot with great baskets of luscious fruits for them to sample, and sometimes an agent is sent up to Albany to meet them and say, that if they will stop over from the morning to the afternoon train, carriages will be at their command to view the sights about the capital city. Such treatment is like bread cast upon the waters, or as good seed sown upon good soil—there will be a paying harvest time.—Itemizer.

Thrashing Machinery in Demand.

Francis Kennedy, himself a farmer of Linn county, but making his headquarters here as agent for the Minnesota chief threshing machine manufacturing company, says this has been a good season for the sale of harvesting apparatus. Several of these threshers have been sold this season in this vicinity. As proof-also of the good yield and the work done Mr. John Murphy's threshing 3000 bushels in two days from grain headed off 80 acres speaks for itself. Hobson and Miller of Sublimity are also said to be doing fine work with the same harvester and giving good satisfaction.
