Republican National Ticket.

For President, BENJAMIN HARRISON, Of Indiana. For Vice President, LEVI P. MORTON, Of New York.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS. Robert McLean, of Clatsop County; Wm. Knapis, of Multnomah County; C. W. Fulton, of Clatsop County.

MONDAY, SEPT. 19, 1888.

PROSPECTS IN INDIANA.

The indications of Harrison and Morton carrying Indiana in November are considered more favorable every day. P. E. Studebaker, the well known wagon manufacturer of South Bend, in that state, recently made a trip to New York, and was interviewed by the ever present newspaper man, Mr. Studebaker is a clear headed business man and a republican, and in regard to his native state he is reported as saying: "General Harrison will carry the state by a good majority. He is popular, and the people know that he will make an excellent president. Many prohibitionists will vote for him, and workingmen too. Why, George William Curtis could vote for General Harrison without a blush. Don't you see that all along the line he is strong, and represents the best interests of the American people?"

"You travel a great deal; what do the people think of the outlook generally?" "They believe that General Harrison will be elected, and I find that the people, a majority of them at least, believe in progress, and four years of democratic rule have convinced them that they can't expect anything but retrogression from that party. The republicans are progressive in spirit, and the democrats are just the opposite. It becomes a question, then, whether the American nation cares to remain at a stand still or continue to prosper as it has for the past twenty-four years under a republican government. The republicans were wise enough to gather a surplus, and they will be wise enough to distribute it among the people to whom it belongs. I believe the republican ticket will be elected."

"TURN THE RASCALS OUT."

"Turn the rascals out" was a stereotyped phrase used by a large majority of the democratic press during some twenty years of republican rule in this country, and every defalcation of whatever nature that could be traced to a republican, was saddled upon the party, and this favorite quotation used. Such a procedure was unjust at that time, and would be now. The writer as well as the reader knows that dishonest men are found in all parties and are liable to secure positions of trust. Now when it applies to these individuals, the CAPITAL JOURNAL joins with the democratic cry of "Turn the rascals out," and asks them for decency's sake to keep up the music.

GENERAL Benjamin Harrison, self-appointed defender of the flag. Yes, he did not wait to be drafted, and then hire another man to stand up and be shot at by southern democrats, and then let his substitute die in a postchance. He undertook the glorious task himself.—Chicago Inter-Ocean. Just so! And the people of the republic will now partially reward him, by electing him their chief executive. Patriotism is still abroad in the land.

The president's political proclamation, calling for retaliation powers in the settlement of the fishery question with Canada, has been answered in a way he least expected. The House passed a bill Saturday, granting him all the power he asked, and passed it so unanimously that he must put it in operation, if the emergency occurs.

The bill provides that whenever the president deems it his duty to exercise any of the powers given him by the existing non-intercourse act he shall have the power by proclamation to suspend in whole or in part the transportation across the territory of the United States, in bond and without the payment of duty, of goods, wares and merchandise imported or exported from any foreign country from or to the British dominions of North America. It also authorizes the president whenever he shall be satisfied that any discrimination detrimental to the interests of the United States or of its citizens is made in the use of any of the Canadian canals to issue a proclamation to that effect, and provides that in such a case a toll of twenty cents per ton shall be collected on every foreign vessel and her cargo passing through either the Sault Ste. Marie canal or the St. Clair Flats canal, or that the president may in his discretion prohibit the use of those canals to foreign vessels.

The passage had its brief day, and is wasted powder. It is not, and has not been treated as a sincere and serious document, either in England or in Canada. The president already had ample authority to cover all the cases liable to occur. Congress is justified in passing the bill that the president's memory may be freshened, and his backbone strengthened on this "outrage" business, that called for the message.

BRO. BENJAMIN of the Roseburg Plaindealer must now feel better. Hear ye him: "A republican, democrat and prohibitionist went up to the temple to pray. The republican stood with his head toward Heaven and prayed: 'O Lord, we thank Thee that we are not like other men. We thank Thee first of all for the pure, incorruptible, holy republican party. We thank Thee that all democrats are liars and all prohibitionists are fools, and that we alone are good. We have no special favors to ask, knowing that to be consistent Thou must of necessity be with us.'"

The democrat prayed thus: "O Lord Thou knowest we do not often bother Thee with our prayers. Yet there is a few things wherein Thou canst be of great use to us. Bless Cleveland, O Lord but curse his civil service. Bless the prohibitionist in the north, but damn him in the south. Bless Minnesota and the little Norwegian, Knute Nelson, but curse Pennsylvania and that traitor Sam Randal. Bless Bro. Brown, in Walla Walla; but confound that Little Giant Mill, who is deep and designing. The rest, O Lord you can safely trust to our care."

The prohibitionist fell on his knees, as usual, and prayed: "O Lord, thou knowest we have done little else but pray, for many years. Now, we are going to fight and do thou, O Lord, be pleased to stand by and see fair play, while we show the Pharisees and Sadducees that there is a God in Israel."

HIGH LICENSE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The new high license law of Pennsylvania has at last gone into operation all over the state. This law fixes the retail liquor license in cities at $500, in towns at $300, in boroughs at $150, and in country townships at $75. It gives the county judges the absolute power of granting and revoking licenses, and requires them to entertain such considerations as the need of the community from which an applicant comes, and the relative number of his petitioners and the remonstrations against him, as well as his general moral character and capacity for preserving order.

The complete returns show that the number of licensed houses in the state is reduced from 14,553 to 7,724. There were 11,500 applications, two-thirds of which were granted. The revenue from the licenses granted is $1,833,963, as against $978,179 under the old law; or virtually twice as much revenue as before, from half the former number of retail houses.—Exchange.

HON. J. H. MITCHELL, U. S. senator from Oregon will accept thanks for valuable public documents received.

A hand tapped at my door, low down, low down, I opened it and saw two eyes of brown, Two lips of cherry red, A little curly head, A bonny, fairy sprite, in dross of white, Who said, with lifted face, "Papa, good night."

She climbed upon my knee, and kneeling there, Lipped softly, solemnly, her little prayer, Her pure, sweet baby lips, Carried my soul with hers, half unaware, Into some clearer and diviner air.

I tried to lift again, but all in vain, Of scientific thought the subtle chain; So small, so small, My learning all; Though I could call each star and tell its place, My child's "Our Father," bridged the gulf of space.

I sat with folded hands at rest, Turning this solemn thought within my breast; How faith would fade If God had made No children in this world—no baby age— Only the prudent man or thoughtful sage.

Only the woman wise, no little arms To clasp around my neck; no baby charms, No loving care, No sinless prayer, No thrill of lispng song, no pattering feet, No infant heart against our heart to beat. Then if a tiny hand, low down, Tap at the heart of door, ah! don't frown, Bend low to meet The little feet.

To clasp the clinging hand; the child will be Nearer heaven than thee—nearer than thee. —Lillie E. Barr.

In Iowa the opposing state tickets are in the field, the lines are formed, and the issues are joined for the contest in November. The result is not in the least doubtful. The Harrison and Morton majority will be not less than 20,000, and the state ticket will be handsomely elected, despite the new elements of opposition confronting it. The republican party of Iowa, having given heed to the unmistakable voice of public sentiment relating to the liquor traffic and the control of corporations, will be able to defeat the triple alliance composed of the democratic party, the whisky power, and the railroads.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at H. W. Cox's drug store. Large bottles $1.

Arboricultural Street Arabs.

As an incidental proof of how easily fruit trees grow in this part of the world, without care or cultivation, it may be stated that just outside the Salem Wells-Fargo express office, right on the street, are to be seen three small, chance trees, a fig, a cherry and a peach. They are not large but seem to grow and thrive despite their neglect, being on "stony ground," and being carelessly brushed against by passers by and teams. In after years, when they bear, how is Agent Hendrie going to protect the fruit until it matures and he can gather it?

Slack Wire Performance.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock a good sized audience gathered on the vacant lot west of the post office to witness Clivett's slack wire performance. He also performed juggling feats and, with the assistance of his partner Mr. Gilbert, who sings comic songs, kept his audience amused and entertained. The slack wire feats, which were performed on a wire 54 feet in length, were excellent. He also exhibited in the evening to an appreciative audience.

Farrer & Co.

Are shipping out fruit by the car load, but their own store is always attractive with the best varieties. In fruit, vegetables, groceries and provisions they are always in the lead.

Mormons are flocking into Wyoming in great numbers, and it is said that two years hence they will control the local elections in the western section.

Young ladies who wish to have small mouths are kindly advised to repeat this at frequent intervals during the day: "Fanny Finch fried five floundered frogs for Frances Fowler's father."—Phila. Record.

Joint and muscles may escape the agonizing tortures of rheumatism if they will but "take time by the forelock," and annihilate the symptoms of oncoming trouble with the benign and highly sanctioned blood purifier and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Poisons mostly constitute the ordinary means of battling with this atrocious complaint. Avoid the risk of using these by resorting to the safe as well as effectual and prophylactic preventive. After exposure to damp, through drafts and other causes which encourage a rheumatic tendency, a wineglassful of the Bitters prevents all effects. No surer preventive of malarial ailments like fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague-like states, and it is, besides, a most genial recuperator of strength exhausted by excessive mental or physical effort. Miners, mariners, operatives and others whose avocations involve laborious work in rough weather out of doors, or close application indoors, find it invaluable.

NEW TO-DAY.

NOTICE. BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED UP TO September 20th for the construction of a pile bridge across Mill creek at the north end of Commercial street according to the plans and specifications on file with the county judge. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Good bonds will be required. T. C. SHAW, County Judge.

THE QUESTION OF THE DAY.

PROTECTION OR FREE TRADE?

An Examination of the Tariff Question with Especial regard to the Interests of Labor.

BY HENRY GEORGE.

CLOTH, $1.50. PAPER, 35 CENTS.

This is the clearest, fairest, most interesting and most complete examination of the tariff question yet made, and will prove invaluable to all who wish to understand the subject.

The most thorough investigation of the subject that has yet been put in type.—New York News.

The appearance of this book marks a new epoch in the world-wide struggle for free trade. Henry George has a power of putting economic truths in such a clear and simple language that any child can understand him, while the most learned man can enjoy the accuracy of his statements and the suggestiveness of his thoughts.—Thomas G. Shearman in New York Star.

A book which every workingman in the land can read with interest and ought to read.—New York Herald.

Whoever wants to see the strongest argument—not only against protection, but against all tariffs—will find it here.—Christian Union.

The singular success of Mr. George is that he has made political economy interesting.—Unitarian Review.

Henry George's Other Works. Progress and Poverty, cloth, $1; paper, 50 cents. Social Problems, cloth, $1; paper, 35 cents. The Land Question, paper, 10 cents. Property in Land, paper, 10 cents. Address: H. W. FARRELL, 12 Union Square, New York.
