A True Wife.

It is not to sweep the house, make the bed, darn the socks and cook the meals, chiefly, that a man wants wife. If this is all he needs, hired help can do it cheaper than a wife. If this is all when a young man goes to see a lady, send him into the pantry to taste the bread she has made, send him to inspect the needlework and bedmaking, or put the broom in her hand and send him to witness its use. Such things are important, and the wise young man will quickly look after them. But what a true man wants with a wife is her companionship, sympathy and love. The way of life has many dreary places in it, and a man needs a wife to go with him. A man is sometimes over taken by misfortune; he meets with failures and defeat; trials and temptations beset him, and he needs one to stand by and syrupathize. He has some hard battles to fight with poverty, enemics and sin, and he needs a wife that, when he puts his arm around her, he feels he has something to fight for; she will help him to fight; then put her lips to his ear and whisper words of council, and her hand to his heart and impart inspiration. All through life, through storm, through sunshine, conflict and victory, through adverse and through favoring winds, man needs a woman's love.
