Republican National Ticket.

For President,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.
For Vice President:
LEVI P. MORTON,
Of New York.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.
Robert McLean, of Klamath County.
Wm. Kepus, of Multnomah County.
C. W. Fulton, of Clatsop County.

TUESDAY, OCT. 16, 1888.

A PARTY of twenty-five engineers are at work around Joilet mapping out a route for the proposed Hentepu Canal.

GOLD LEAF beat the world's one mile pacing record for 3-year-olds Wednesday on the Napa, Cal., track, making 2.15.

DURING the three months ended Sept. 30, more new industries were established in the South than during either the previous quarters of 1888.

SEVERAL hundred of cattle in Anglaz and Allen counties, Ohio, are affected with pleuro-pneumonia and many have died. The herds affected are strictly quarantined.

THE transactions in wheat in New York during the week have been 107,738,000 bushels, the heaviest week's trading on record. Of the amount stated, but 642,000 were spot.

A BANQUET was given at St. Paul Thursday night in honor of the election of T. F. Oakes as president of the Northern Pacific. Henry Villard, Charles Francis Adams, and Professor Von Esmerich, of Berlin, were among 100 guests present.

THE democratic policy of loaning the existing surplus to banks selected by the executive, without interest, instead of buying up the 4 per cents of 1861 at less than the accruing interest, arouses the natural inquiry, "What is the consideration for this peculiar favor?"

AT DeMoines, Iowa, Thursday, in the State Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster was re-elected president by 220 votes, against 21 for Mrs. Carhart, the candidate of those who wished to commit the organization to the support of the third party.

THE republican and democratic state committees of Indiana have agreed that in all election precincts where the inspector is a democrat, a republican judge and clerk shall be selected; and in precincts where the inspectors are republicans, democratic judges and clerks shall be chosen. The democratic committee also makes the proposition for the appointment of a committee of 100—forty-five to be democrats, forty-five republicans, and ten prohibitionists—to discover and punish election frauds.

THE most remarkable thing in this campaign is the growth of the republican candidate. No American can fail to feel a pride in the qualities he has displayed. His conduct, manner, words, have been simply perfect. He has done only what was fitting for him to do; said only what he ought to have said; and in both words and acts shown that ready sympathy with all phases of our American life which most deeply appeals to the respect of the American people. He said more and said it better—treated more subjects and touched each one with more comprehensiveness, tact, and precision, with more elegance of metaphor and aptness of illustration than any candidate of any party within the memory of any living man. It matters not what may be the result of the struggle; when it is over Benjamin Harrison will be the foremost living American. From the ranks of an average citizen he springs in three months to a station singularly exalted. His course gives assurance that if elected he alone will be president, and if defeated he will stand in the esteem of the most intelligent moiety of our people one of the fittest ever named for that position.—Albion W. Tourgee, in Inter-Ocean.

And the JOURNAL also thinks that Harrison ought to, and will be elected.

"A NUT FOR THEOLOGY."

Under the above head the Statesman publishes an item of garbled news that has been going the rounds of the whisky journals to prove that intemperance is a good thing—has a tendency to prolong life, etc. If this was true would not life insurance companies have found it out long ago? Is it probable that they would refuse these citizens the privileges of their companies if the theory is correct? Then supposing it was true would not the misery and disgrace entailed on the innocent make a temperate life the preferable? The evil effects of drunkenness, says the California Bulletin, are certain to assist themselves in some form or other. It is not always the mad assault or the gory hand of murder that wrecks the happiness of the domestic circle. Sometimes the infatuation shows its malignant power in loss of situation, poverty, a broken home, starving children, the workhouse or the prison. We will venture to relate a true little story, the facts of which came under our personal knowledge. A promising young man, of good education, began business in partnership with a gentleman whose daughter, a lady of culture and refinement, he married. The young couple lived in a pleasant home, had some sweet little children, and for a time got on prosperously. But the young man acquired a taste for wine; it grew upon him; he must needs have his bottle of champagne every day, and after a while champagne was not potent enough for his taste. The result was that the business was neglected, money was taken out by the junior partner in excess of his rights and beyond the capacity of the business. Bankruptcy ensued, the home was sold, the wife and children were thrown upon the charity of friends. The homes intoxication has wrecked and destroyed are without number. Where once in holy prayer at eventide around the mother's knee sweet lips of innocent babes first learned to lip the holy names of Jesus and Mary, where pretty children came to welcome the return after his day's work their father and their bread-winner, intoxicating drink has desolated the homestead and left the children on the world as waifs and outcasts. Sons and daughters have had their careers seemingly so full of promise in the hey-day of their youth blighted and spoiled under its malevolent influence. The young man has sorrowfully to tell of talent wasted and opportunities thrown away, while the young woman has to lament the absence of that sweet and holy influence which, like a magnet, drew her Sunday after Sunday to the altar rails, and which made it her boast to call herself a Child of Mary or a member of the Holy family.

THE day is coming—haste the day, too—when the man who wears a cane under his arm and carries an umbrella on his shoulder will be taken out and hit on the head with a flounder. And he'll be hit hard enough to kill; that's the beauty of it.

THE Oregon Land Company's ten acre lots are selling rapidly, 40 having been sold since the 8th of Sept. There is no probability that 10 acres of good land within four miles of Salem will ever again be offered for $30 per acre on easy terms. There are now five houses in process of construction on lots already sold and roads are being opened and bridges built so that the value of all of the lots is being rapidly enhanced. Any one wishing to buy ten acres of good land for much less than the price of a city lot will do well to look at this property at once as there is no doubt but that it will all be sold inside of thirty days. Call at the office of the Oregon Land Company on Commercial street and you will bestow the property for a change.

MARRIED.
PAGE-JORY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jory, 2 1/2 miles south of Salem, on Sunday, October 14, B. H. R. 1420 and L. W. D. Jory, Rev. W. T. Van Story officiating.
The wedding was a very pleasant one. In the ceremony there were two couples as attendants. The bride and groom were tastefully attired, and the parlor was beautifully decorated with evergreen, flowers, wreath, and floral wedding bell. After the ceremony a bounteous and excellent dinner was partaken of by the guests. Many congratulations were given, and also a good list of valuable presents. The happy couple will reside two miles south of Hope Chapel, and have many friends to wish them God-speed.

THE COLUMBIA SYNOD.

Closing Hours and Final Adjournment of this Religious Body.

Yesterday afternoon's exercises of the Synod consisted principally in the hearing of reports of committees.

The committee on Sabbath observance reported that forty-nine sermons had been delivered on that subject during the year, aside from prayer and miscellaneous addresses. Pastors are urged to set apart at least one day in the year on which to treat this subject, and let great care be exercised by ministers and church members in regard to their example with reference to this subject.

Committee on freedmen reported that 261 ministers and teachers were employed by the board during the year; of this number 187 were blacks.

Committee to visit Albany college was appointed as follows: Revs. T. G. Watson, E. J. Thompson, W. A. Mackay, F. G. Strange, and Elders Warren and Milroy.

Rev. P. C. Hetzler, agent of the American Bible society, addressed the Synod, and a resolution was adopted endorsing the work and recommending that each pastor devote one sermon to and take up a collection for the benefit of the society.

It was decided that the Synod should meet next time at Pendleton.

After adopting the following resolutions, prepared by T. M. Boyd, A. J. Brown and W. B. Wray, committee on resolutions, the Synod adjourned:

First. That we express the thanks of the Synod to the families of Salem for their delightful hospitality, which has added so much to our comfort and pleasure, and the pastor and the session of the church.

Second. To the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor for the reception tendered us on Saturday afternoon.

Third. To the papers for their reports.

Fourth. To the transportation companies for renewed favors.

Fifth. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parties interested.

TURNER TERMINES.

Wm. Loftus is building a house out near the church.

Two-thirds of the votes cast in this place are republican.

John Ashmead is going to leave here next Wednesday for Rock Point.

Mrs. Elder Shanks left here Monday to join her son, who is sick in Eastern Oregon.

The hotels here are very well patronized, as there is considerable travel through this place.

The Oregon Milling company is pretty busy now. They are getting out on an average about 150 barrels of flour per day.

J. Zumkeller was buried here today. He died Monday at Wells Station. His friends and relatives are in this place.

THE JOURNAL will contain hereafter a regular weekly report of Turner happenings from a correspondent in this place.

W. T. Van Scoy of Jefferson has a four acre patch of strawberries near here that are in bloom and have some ripe strawberries of delicious taste.

Turner has two general merchandise stores, two blacksmith shops, two feed and livery stables, two hotels, a drug store, postoffice, mill, good school house, Baptist church in which several denominations hold forth, one butcher shop, two warehouses and a chair factory in which cowhide bottomed chairs are manufactured. The O. & C. railroad passes through here. Business is very good.

MARRIED.

PAGE-JORY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jory, 2 1/2 miles south of Salem, on Sunday, October 14, B. H. R. 1420 and L. W. D. Jory, Rev. W. T. Van Story officiating.

A Novel Lottery.

A novel lottery scheme has been proposed in Russia. The chief conditions are these: A young woman of excellent moral character and noble birth is the chief prize; her name is to remain a secret until after the drawing; the total receipts from the sale of tickets, amounting to 5,000 rubles, are to form her marriage portion; the holder of the lucky ticket is to marry the young woman and thus receive the dowry; but if she won't marry him she must pay 2500 rubles.

Thousands of Dollars.

Are spent every year by the people of this state for worthless medicines for the cure of throat and lung diseases, when we know that if they would only invest $1 in Santa Able, the new California discovery for consumption and kindred complaints, they would in this pleasant remedy find relief. It is recommended by ministers, physicians, and public speakers of the golden state. Sold and guaranteed by D. W. Mathews & Co., at $1 a bottle.

The most stubborn case of catarrh will speedily succumb to California Cat-cure. Six months treatment for $1. By mail $1.19.

Nearly every steamer or boat that arrives at Yaquina is loaded with steel rails for the Oregon Pacific.
