BEFORE IT IS BORN.

Some Startling Statements of Gen. oral Interest.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, on being asked when the training of a child should begin, replied, 'A hundred years before it is born.'

Are we to infer from this that this generation is responsible for the condition of the race a hundred years from now?

Is this wonderful generation the natural result of the proper diet and medicines of a hundred years ago?

It is conceded in other lands that most of the wonderful discoveries of the world in this century have come from this country.

Our ancestors were reared in log cabins, and suffered hardships and trials.

But they lived and enjoyed health to a ripe old age. The women of those days would endure hardships without apparent fatigue that would startle those of the present age.

Why was it? One of the proprietors of the popular remedy known as Warner's safe cure, has been faithfully investigating the cause, and has called to his aid scientists as well as medical men.

Impressing upon them the fact that there cannot be an effect without a cause. This investigation disclosed the fact that in the olden times simple remedies were administered: compounded of herbs and roots, which were gathered and stored in the lofts of the log cabins, and when sickness came on, these remedies from nature's laboratory were used with the best effects.

What were these remedies? What were they used for? After untiring and diligent search they have obtained the formulas so generally used for various disorders.

Now the question is, how will the olden time preparations affect the people of this age, who have been treated, under modern medical schools and codes, with poisonous and injurious drugs. This test has been carefully pursued, until they are convinced that the preparations they now call Warner's Log Cabin remedies are what our much abused systems required.

Among them is what is known as Warner's Log Cabin sarsaparilla, and they frankly announce that they do not consider the sarsaparilla of so much value in itself as it is in the combination of the various ingredients which together work marvelously upon the system.

We hope that the public will not be disappointed in these remedies, but will reap a benefit from the investigations, and that the proprietors will not be embarrassed in their introduction by dealers trying to substitute remedies that have been so familiar to the shelves of our druggists. This line of remedies will be used instead of others. Insist upon your druggist getting them for you if he hasn't them yet in stock, and we feel confident that these new remedies will receive approbation at our reader's hands, as the founders have used every care in their preparation.

Sad Yellow Fever Incident.

A little white boy, about 7 years old, had been discharged, cured, from the quarantine and found his way from his guardian's side to his old home, in which, during his illness, his father, mother and sister had died and the house was shut up.

He asked the people around for his father and mother and the poor little fellow was finally told that all his people were dead. He stooped down and picked up the cat, which had been the only thing to welcome him home.

He sat down on the doorstep of his father's house, fiddled the cat in his arms, and said, in a piteous voice: 'Pussy, there are only you and I left now. We are all alone.' After some time the neighbors got him to go to one of their houses with the only friend of his old home in his arms.

Cabinet Rumors—Late Speculations and Condensed Dispatches.

Will Not Interfere.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The supreme court of the United States denied an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of David S. Terry, of California, convicted of contempt of court and for a violent scene in which he and his wife attacked the officers of the court. The application for the writ was made on the ground that Terry at the time of this offense, was not in the court room and did not have a notice of intention to bring him to trial. Justice Harlan, who rendered the decision, says the offense was committed in full view of the court.

Preparing for Inauguration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—A. T. Brittan, a well-known lawyer of this city, has been designated by the executive committee of the republican national committee to take charge of the ceremonies attending the inauguration of President Harrison. He has been authorized also to appoint all necessary officers and committees to look after the work.

Barnum Improving.

LIMESROCK, COBB., Nov. 12.—W. H. Barnum shows a slight improvement. The physicians have a slight hope that he may pull through.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

There are two cases of smallpox in Tacoma.

The mayor of the city of Vancouver notifies the citizens by posters of the prevalence of smallpox in Portland and other cities on the coast, and advises everyone to guard against the disease, and offers to those without means vaccination at the city's expense.

A Washington dispatch says: 'It is understood that both Whitelaw Reid and Murt Halstead are candidates for foreign missions. Mr. Reid has long aspired to represent the United States at the Couris of St. James, and Mr. Halstead wants to go to Germany.'

Senator Gorman stated that in his talk with the president he told the latter that no explanation could hide the real reason for his defeat. The republican party had won a fair victory. He frankly told the president that his tariff reform and civil service reform schemes had beaten the democratic party.

A late dispatch is of a very discouraging nature from Florida's yellow fever stricken points. One from Gainesville read as follows: 'The yellow fever has increased in violence and almost all of the people have fled. There were seventy-six cases and ten deaths reported up to noon to-day. There is great distress.'

George W. Curtis says: 'I think the result was due chiefly to the presentation of the single issue, which the president's party accepted, but did not decide, which was new and unexpected to the country. Much is due also to a disappointment with the president's civil service reform clause; to the trading of votes, and to the lack of personal popularity.'

Efforts are being made by the Treasury department to secure the consent of Canada and Mexico to prevent the Chinese from crossing their respective borders into the United States. It is evident, however, that Mexico will do nothing in the matter. Minister Romero says that article two, of the Mexican constitution, reads as follows: 'All men have the right of entering and leaving the republic, or traveling through its territory, and of changing their residence without the necessity of letters of security, passports or other similar requirements.'

The "Bald Knobbers" Must Go.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 12.—The supreme court to-day affirmed the verdict of murder in the first degree against Wm. Walker, chief of the notorious "Bald Knobbers" organization in Southern Missouri. He will be hanged December 28. This decision also affects three others of the gang who were convicted about the same time that Walker was.

More Charred Bodies.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 12.—This morning another body was found in the ruins of a lamp factory, which was burned. It was unrecognizable. In all seven charred bodies have been taken from the ruins.

The Chief Gives Up.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Gen. Warren, chief of police, has tendered his resignation. It is understood this action is due to severe criticisms upon his efficiency in connection with the Whitechapel murders.

His LAST REQUEST.

A Scene Snatched From a Novel of The Day.

"George Ferguson, you have gone a little bit too far."

Pale with indignation and outraged pride, the young woman looked sternly in the face.

"Why, Laura," he stammered, in helpless confusion. "I—I—er—ah—I didn't think you would care." "Didn't think I would care!" she echoed with crazy mockery.

"Did you think, sir, that an acquaintance of ten or twelve months entitles you to the privilege, unasked, that my most intimate friends of many years' standing would not dare to claim? Have you no conception, sir, of the word presumption?"

What had this young man done? Intoxicated by her beauty, and fancying he saw in her glorious dark eyes a challenge, half-coy, half-saucy, he had rapturously kissed her.

Dumb with astonishment, George Ferguson now quailed before the lightning-like indignation of the high-spirited girl. He saw he had made a fatal mistake.

"This must end our acquaintance, Mr. Ferguson," she said. "In many respects it has been a pleasant one. I had come to esteem you highly—to regard you as a young man of high and noble impulses, free from trivialities, the weakness, the inordinate self-conceit and assurance that the spirit of the age seems to infuse into the mental constitution of the young men of modern society.

"You have thrown yourself down from the pedestal upon which I had mistakenly placed you. Mr. Ferguson," she continued, sadly, "hereafter we meet as strangers."

"Be it so, Laura Kijoues," replied he, with recovered self-possession. "I shall not presume to question your right to dismiss me thus summarily, however strongly I might feel inclined to protest against the injustice of your act in so doing. I bow to your mandate. Henceforth we are strangers. But before I take my last farewell of you, as I am now about to do, and go out into the world to struggle with this only a sorrowing, lonely man, deprived of his last earthly hope, must struggle to keep but despair from knowing his heart-strings assunder—before I leave forever the presence of one with whom I have passed so many happy hours, whose memory will cling to me through all the cheerless years that may yet drag their weary length over my head, I have one last request to make of you."

"What is it sir?"

"Please get off my lap."—Chicago Tribune.

Indians Shoot At The Moon.

Four thousand blanketed Comanches, Iowas, Cheyennes, Arapahoes, and Delawares were at the Atakeen agency to get their rations when the recent total eclipse of the moon occurred. The savages were greatly excited. The principal chief ordered them to shoot at the "evil thing," and the force of Indians opened fire in air, keeping up the shooting far upward of an hour, and until they were out of ammunition. When the moon appeared in view after the eclipse, wild whoops went up for what they believed to be their victory.

A lady who was afflicted with Salt Rheum on the face and other parts of the body for many years and who was treated by the best physicians on the Pacific coast without any but temporary relief says: Dutard's Specific has entirely cured me of my troublesome complaint and although I have not used the medicine for many months, I have had no return of the disease. I shall always feel grateful to you. Sold by D. W. Matthews & Co.
