Complete Recital of the Daily Doings Compiled From Various Sources.

Happenings Over the City and News From the Country Roundabout.

Revival Meetings.

The revival meetings inaugurated by Mrs. Emma Malloy at the M. E. church last evening will be continued throughout the week and perhaps longer. These meetings open with an unusual interest. The church was literally packed—almost equal to any night of Mr. Moody's meetings—notwithstanding the fact that other meetings were being held in all the churches of the city. Mrs. Malloy is a wonderful woman. Her logic, her eloquence and her earnestness equal anything heretofore heard by a Salem congregation. Quite a number arose and went forward for prayers, and several professed their convictions of a release from sin. The pastor, Mr. Rollin's, promises to be prepared with additional chair this evening—equal, perhaps, for all who may desire to attend—and will be pleased to see every seat occupied.

A Revivalist Coming.

Major George A. Hilton telegraphs that he will be in Salem on January tenth. He will remain until Monday and his first address will be on Thursday night, probably at the opera house, unless that should be otherwise occupied. Major Hilton is a fine orator, something after the manner of Messrs. Hughes and Ward. It is hoped he will do much good in Salem. The advocates of moral suasion in temperance can find no fault with his methods.

Nearly Ready for Market.

Capital Park addition to Salem is now being surveyed and the plat will be completed by the last of the week and placed on the market. This is the seventy-eight acre tract purchased by Dr. Jessup and others of Mc. Cormack and Stratton, and lies just east of the Casitol. It is a desirable tract and will make a fine resident addition. Hughes, Bellinger & Co. will have the sale of it.

More Real Estate Sales.

George Watts has purchased twenty acres in Salem, south of the depot, of Jacob Idlewyne; consideration $1000. Mrs. Murphy has disposed of her house and two lots in North Salem, to Mr. Vibbert; consideration $550. These sales were effected through the real estate agency of Thomas & Payne, who have a good list of property for the market.

A Successful Institution.

Nearly three years ago the Capitol Adventure Co. was incorporated in this city and opened their doors to the purchasing public. They have an immense stock of dry goods, clothing, shoes, groceries, etc. Those making one purchase at this popular house are sure to return again for their prices are so low and their goods so satisfactory that they cannot resist the inducement held out.

Needed Repairs.

The long needed repairs are now being made on the narrow gauge railroad on both sides of the river. Heretofore this road has been rather a nuisance so far as convenience to the traveling public was concerned. The West Side division appears to be more dilapidated than on this side of the river. Trains over there have a mishap almost every trip.

Oregon the Best.

Dr. J. Jennings, who spent several years in Salem, last fall concluded to try the eastern states. After traveling through most of those east of Oregon, fully satisfied that this is the best place yet. The Doctor is now here and will re-locate among us.

Marion's Smallest Tax-Payer.

Idleman & Walker of Portland are by a good many cents the smallest tax-payer in Marion County. Their total tax is only two cents. This is the tax on 310 acres the valuation of which is $1200, but its encumbrances are almost as large.

A Bursted Gun-Barrel.

Ben Thomas, while hunting a few days ago about Marquasville had the thumb of his left hand torn off by his gun-barrel exploding. Accidents among the sportsmen are numerous of late.

gentlemen frequently complain of their face and neck breaking out into small pimples. If Dabur's Specific is applied to the face immediately after shaving, a matter how close the shave, all soreness will be prevented.

THE CORONER'S DUTY.

EDITOR CAPITAL JOURNAL:—I would say in regard to Mr. Croisan trying "long and hard" to wire me, that because he could not call me within a few hours time, that was no excuse in any sense of the word for taking the case in his own hands or putting it in any one else's hands. The telegraph office is open here every day in the week and part of the night, and even though the sheriff could not have wired me on Sunday, Monday would have done just as well, or any other day within two or three days time. The coroner has authority to set the date of the inquest. He must put himself under the disqualifying conditions of the statute or else he is the coroner and no one else can assume to appoint a coroner or act as coroner. I have made this reply in the hope that if I have not stated the facts, that we may hear from those who are better informed. This should be understood, as the public are concerned in the matter as well as the coroner.

The Same Applies Here.

Sometime the Astoria road will be built and Albany wants it, for it means the beginning of a greatly increased traffic this way, which otherwise will go somewhere else. Such a road would be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to Albany, directly and indirectly. Should it go through Salem to the Oregon Pacific, much Eastern Oregon trade would be diverted from this city. Albany must get up on its ears, and now is the time.—Democrat.

A Fine Piece of Work.

The West Shore for January is to be one of the finest issues that successful journal has known. This edition is to be devoted to Salem and many superior illustrations have been prepared for it. This magazine is the only one on the coast that is prepared for the execution of such artistic work. Even from the east, Mr. Samuels receives many orders for illustrations. This New Year number of the West Shore will be a treat to your friends over the mountains. You should get a few copies and work a little as an immigration agent.

She Is Mrs. Barrett Now.

Mrs. Malloy, the noted evangelist, filled the pulpit of the M. E. church last night, and thrilled a packed house with her eloquent appeals. Many hearts were profoundly affected, and about a dozen persons signified their determination to change their lives by accepting Christ. Mrs. Malloy will preach again to-night, and every one should avail himself of the privilege of hearing her.

More Angoras.

W. D. Claggett received to-day direct from the pure flock of Angoria goats of C. P. Baily of San Jose, Cal., a couple more of those beautiful animals. This is one of the finest and most lucrative branches of husbandry and every dealer in this class of stock should call upon Mr. Claggett, see these animals and make arrangements to get one or more for the improvement of his own flock.

Are Meeting To-day.

Secretary Manning of the Board of Trade tells us there will be a calling together this afternoon of the committee appointed to confer with the Astorians regarding the extension to Salem of the Astoria & South Coast R. R. It is expected a delegation will be selected at this meeting to go to Astoria and confer with the officials of this road.

Light Draughts Needed.

The Oregon Pacific are profiting by the low stage of water on the upper Willamette. The O. R. & N. boats are tied up but the Bentley, Three Sisters and Hoag continue to ply on the upper river, going as far up as Corvallis. The river is very low for this season of the year.

Crazed By Morphine.

Another unfortunate wretch has succumbed to the inevitable effects of the morphine and liquor habit and was brought here to the insane asylum. He is Jackson Martin, who is thirty-one years of age and a barkeeper by occupation. He hails from Portland.

Have Moved Their Office.

Imus Bros., attorneys and real estate agents, have moved their office to 204 Commercial street, near the corner of Ferry street, in order to be closer to passing business. They invite a visit to their new quarters, and have some fine property listed.

A pain in the back often leads to complicated diseases that are almost incurable. Oregon Kidney Tea cures the first and prevents the latter. It is purely vegetable and is warranted.

THE FARMERS' CONGRESS.

It Will Meet in the Capital City on Monday, January 14th.

The next session of the Oregon Farmers' Congress, which was organized in Salem during the meeting of the state fair, will be held in Salem on Monday next. This association was organized to become a branch or part of the National Farmers' Congress and has perfected its organization, which was commenced last June, by electing officers, adopting a constitution and issuing an address to the farmers of the state.

The officers are: President, M. Wilkins of Lane county; secretary, Joseph Gaston of Multnomah county. The executive committee of five, whose duties are to prepare addresses, is as follows: John P. Robinson, Marion county; A. W. Lucas, Polk county; J. W. Shute, Washington county; W. R. Kirk, Linn county; James Bruce, Benton county.

This congress was organized because, after careful consideration, it was the sense of the committee that there is a sentiment among the farmers desiring an open organization to consider and discuss questions affecting their interests and prosperity; and because a very large number of the agricultural and producing classes feel and believe that there are serious evils oppressing their interest, and that in order to act understandingly and take such action as will abolish these grievances, an open organization for discussion and investigation is not only desirable but necessary. The committee was unanimous that no organization should be attempted which might be thought to be a rival or opposing organization of the Grange, but rather one which should be supplementary to and friendly with that organization, so that the two might co-operate and work in harmony to achieve one end—the greatest good for that great class of toilers on which all other classes and interests depend.

The object and aim of the organization is pretty clearly stated in article I. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

This association shall be called the Oregon Branch of the Farmers' Congress, and its object, the organization of the farmers of Oregon for the purpose of investigating and discussing openly and irrespective of party, those questions which affect the interests of agriculture and labor, such as taxation, transportation, trusts and the currency; and combining and concentrating the power and influence of the agricultural classes by petition, ballot or otherwise, so as to carry into the laws of the land, the wishes or decisions of this association on any public question.

Railroad Chickens.

About a month ago, says an exchange, a young man in Milton, Or., thought he would like to be a locomotive fireman. He made his application to the Oregon Short Line road and was sent out to run the ropes. Thinking he might get hungry before his return he put a dozen raw eggs in a tin pail which he placed on the tank box. The trap was such an eventful and busy one, but the eggs were forgotten, and it was the last "run" of the would-be fireman, who became disgusted with the life he had wanted to lead, the pail and its contents were left on the tank box. Three weeks later, when the engineer went to the box for some tools, he discovered a new dinner pail, which he appropriated. Taking his find to the engine he removed the cover, and lo and behold! there lay nine lovely young chickens, only three of the eggs having failed to hatch in the patentless incubator. If you doubt this, call and see the orphans.

CONVENIENT.

Enough to wear, enough to eat.
With loving wife and children plenty;
Enough of friends to keep one sweet,
And all the children and—twenty.
Settled on an eighty farm,
Far enough from village tattle;
Feeling no night can do me harm,
Listening to my children's prattle.
Shelter for our hens and cows,
For our huge and decent novel;
We'd be happy anyhow,
Kept from cards and nasty novel.
With a span of horses neat,
Drive to church in stormy weather;
You would find us in our seat
When the people get together.
Joining in the tunes we know,
Listening to the good old preacher,
Then to Sabbath-school we go,
Acting there the part of teacher.
Thus to dwell and thus to live,
Children honoring father, mother;
Now our motto I will give:
"Not for self, but for each other."
