

CAPITAL CITY NEWS.

Recital of the Daily Doings Compiled From Various Sources.

Happenings Over the City and News From the Country.

For Public Health.

Citizens justly complain of the filthy condition of several alleys and parts of streets. There is too much carelessness on the part of some in dumping refuse of business houses into alleys. As no hogs run at large we must be our own scavengers. How do you think it impresses a stranger to see ponds of green, slime-covered water right along some of our busiest pavements? Yet there are such. Let all the waters be drained off. One small pond of the kind has served to give disease to a whole neighborhood. As so many tens of thousands of visitors are now coming it is well to brush up and put our best foot foremost.

Go to that meeting to-night. We are assured of the mill when we raise $20,000.

Pooled the Jailor.

Shackelford, the venerable horse doctor is perhaps as big a nuisance as is permitted to inhale pure ozone. Yesterday evening he tried to have the idea gain circulation that he had made a desperate attempt to commit suicide. When he was called to come and receive his rations the jailer's gaze met Shackelford's prostrate form across the bed. The old fraud was feigning death. His eyes rolled in their sockets and his breath came quick and fast. He palmed insensibility. Medical aid was called and a hot emetic made a lively corpse out of the old villain.

Turn out everybody and the mill will be ours.

One More New Enterprise.

An advertisement in another column announces that at an early day Salem will have a first class business college. The facts have been in the possession of the JOURNAL for a good many weeks, but the principals requested silence on our part. The school will open under most favorable auspices with men of acknowledged ability at the head. We bespeak success for the new college, as it will occupy a field heretofore untouched.

It will be a grand victory. Woolen mills for Salem.

Some Newspaper Legislation.

Those newspapers which have been raising a howl because of there being no newspaper legislation proposed will breathe easy when they hear of a bill introduced which provides some protection for the "voluntary sending of newspapers." If they will only protect the publishers a little now, it will be all right.

This is the night of the woolen mill meeting.

Dry As a Fish.

Silverton's saloon closed last night, the city council having failed to renew the license, and this morning those who were looking up their usual "morning's morning" were disappointed. They will have to "rush the growler" for awhile.

The cry is for a woolen mill. Come everybody.

Circuit Court.

Next week will be held the regular term of the circuit court for Marion county. The docket, which will be rather small, has not yet been arranged. The grand jury is promised much work.

Mossbacks and others should turn out to-night.

She Married Her Cousin.

Mrs. Emma Malloy, the evangelist who has recently given Salem a feast of revival and was married in this county a few weeks ago was wedded to her own cousin, Morris Barrett.

By a united effort we can raise $20,000. Go to the meeting to-night.

He Killed a Bear.

A bear scalp was brought in this morning for the payment of bounty. It was that of a big black bear which had been killed upon the Santiam by J. Bartlett.

Everyone who is interested in the welfare of Salem should attend the woolen mill meeting to-night.

A Seasonable Hint.

Genuine new buckwheat flour, and a fine article of table syrup, at the Grange store, 128 State street, Salem.

To-night is the time of the big meeting.

TO BUILD A WOOLEN MILL.

This is the Night For the Big Citizens' Meeting.

To-night at the council chamber will be held the joint meeting of the citizens of Salem and the Board of Trade. This meeting is for the purpose of considering and making a final disposition of the proposition to establish a woolen mill in Salem. A full attendance is desired, as the action of to-night's meeting will perhaps settle, for weal or woe, the great question. Whether or not we are to have a woolen mill will be known very soon. If the citizens say we shall have it and follow their words with good hard coin, an extensive manufactory will be constructed at once. Mr. Kay is awaiting our decision, ready to start for London to purchase machinery of the latest and most complete design.

Salem will have a woolen mill, or we have misjudged her citizens.

Let the good work go on.

"This is the night that makes us or undoes us quite." Add your mite and the mills will be ours.

Lots of Letters.

The Portland board of Immigration reports that it receives about two thousand letters of inquiry per month. Kansas heads the list of inquiring souls seeking pecuniary or physical salvation. Then follow Nebraska, Illinois and so on. The printed matter sent out by the board last month exclusive of leaflets consisted of nearly one hundred thousand and large illustrated periodicals such as the Northwest, New Empire, The Portland, etc. The arrivals for January are surprising, being nearly nine times more than for January 1888. Calculating by every rule used in the past and which their experience has proved to be correct it gives a product that is too astonishing for belief. And yet, if the rules hold good, some eight hundred thousand souls will try to find homes in Oregon this year.

More Revival Work.

Messrs Studd and Burke, who so ably assisted in the Moody meetings in this city recently, have returned and will begin a series of meetings this evening, the first being conducted in the Presbyterian church. These gentlemen have just closed successful meetings at Portland and East Portland and return to us with victory written upon their banners. They are young men and full of push. They are eager and anxious to guide the wanderer home and are devoted to their chosen labors. They are recently from London, where they occupy stations of rank. It is said, and by those who ought to know, that these gentlemen are defraying their own expenses on this tour of evangelization, they being simply able to do the same, and it being through choice.

Not Alone in the Matter.

A gentleman remarked to a JOURNAL reporter yesterday that a curious thing about the body of legislators of Oregon was that nearly two-thirds or more of the members were born outside of the state. While the above is true we are not alone in the matter as of the one hundred and ninety eight members of the great state of Illinois over one hundred and twenty-eight of them were born in some other state.

Almost a Fire.

About eight o'clock last evening the citizens living on North Front street came near witnessing a fire. The chimney of Mr. Barendrick's house caught on fire and caused considerable alarm, and drew quite a crowd out to fight the fiery flames should they have broken out. However the flames were extinguished easily and the fire companies were not called out.

Removal Notice.

S. A. Riggs (Successor to J. A. McDonald) has removed his Marble and Granite Works to Commercial street opposite State Insurance Building, where he is prepared to do first class work on short notice.

He has the largest stock ever brought to the state and will sell at prices as low as the lowest. For honest work give him a call. 2nd w

An Aged Couple.

On the first of February Len Eoff and his aged wife celebrated their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary at their home near Macleay. They are old pioneers of Oregon, having come to the coast when the now cultivated fields were a wilderness.

The Salem woolen mills! Work for many hands. The home for many families. Do you want it? Then go to the meeting to-night.

THE SALEM ICE FACTORY.

The Machinery For a Large Plant Has Been Shipped.

Some weeks ago Wm. B. Bushnell, a prominent New York capitalist and locator of ice manufactories and cold storages, paid Salem a visit and decided to establish extensive ice works here. He viewed the city carefully and critically and made all arrangements and expected to be ready for manufacturing ice by the 13th of March. He is also locating works at Seattle and Tacoma.

H. W. Cottle is in communication with Mr. Bushnell, who is now in Chicago, and from him it is learned that machinery for the Salem factory was shipped from Chicago four days ago and is expected to arrive here next week. The plant shipped to this city is one of seven ton capacity. With it were shipped two larger ones, for Seattle and Tacoma.

The manager of the Seattle branch passed through here a few days ago and when seen at the depot by Mr. Cottle, said that Mr. Bushnell would be here soon, when the plant would be located and the work of constructing suitable buildings commenced. It is proposed to make Salem the general distributing point for territory south as far as Ashland and north to Oregon City.

Excelsior Entertainment.

Last evening the opera house was filled with an appreciative audience, collected to listen to the fine program arranged by the Christian church. When all was so excellent it would seem unjust to make distinctions, but we must say that the ladies taking part were particularly happy in their efforts to please. Miss Parrish, in her beautiful solo, "Marguerite," carried her audience captive. Miss Scriber proved herself a trained elocutionist. The "Little Farm well Tilled," was rapturously applauded—also the Irish song in answer to an encore. In fact the entertainment throughout was of a high order and reflects much credit on all taking part, and met with the generous patronage it deserved.

LOCAL SUMMARY.

—Woolen mill meeting to-night.
—Painless dental operations at Dr. T. C. Smith, 92 State street. tf.
—Found—At 252 Commercial St., Speight & Souder. d 1 m.
—Quite a number of our citizens are improving their lawns and yards by leveling them up and sowing grass.
—The Corvallis Times is an able paper. The last few issues sparkle in original gems "lifted" bodily from the CAPITAL JOURNAL.
—The house movers are being kept busy moving houses and barns around so as to make room for more substantial and elaborate buildings.
—There were a number of immigrants arrived in the city last evening. Let the tide come on. Salem can furnish a home for all, no matter in what standing of life they may be.

—A. T. Yeaton yesterday purchased the span of white horses of the Lumbering company and this morning shipped them with several others to Portland. He paid $350 for the team.
—Tis not all of life to live nor all of death to die, but you get more choice fancy groceries than you can carry away for a very little money at Squire Farrar's. Dont take our word for it, but go and see for your self. tf.
—In two weeks time our woolen mill manufactured six hundred and twelve blankets.—Ex. The above will sound more home like and enterprising when the woolen mill is in operation in Salem.

—Everybody is heard to make some remark about the excellent pictures taken by Cherrington, the artist. He does fine work, and no discount. Remember the place, new bank block, up stairs.

—They are arriving by the car load. We refer to those fine new goods at the Capitol Adventure Co. They carry a complete live stock of goods in all classes and kinds of goods. Prices low and stock first class. tf.

—"A biddle" is the latest slang. It means that you are rich and belong to the elect, not to the nouveau riche. The term comes from the great Biddle family of Philadelphia whose members have been social leaders for a century.

—The Coquille Co-operation Co. of Parkersburg have filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. They propose conducting a general mercantile business. The incorporation is in the sum of $5,000, in 1000 equal shares.

Bismarck proposes a new Samesan conference.
