South Salem Heights

Here Stretches Out Before You a Panorama,
THE TRANSCENDENT BEAUTY AND GRANDEUR

Of which entralls the beholder with bewildering admiration and wonder. In the distance the rugged Cascade Range draws out its serpentine length, while along it at intervals rise up like grim sentinels all the white and weird SNOW-CROWNED PEAKS of the great northwest, their heads extending high in the celestial vault. The river goes winding northward "like a silvery ribbon wide," and on every side are elements of beauty. Lovely drives are being laid out and graded through the shady elevation and altogether the site is a grand one for elegant homes.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

Barnum is Dead.

NEW HAVEN, April 30.—W. H. Barnum, ex-chairman of the democratic national committee, died this morning.

A General Holiday.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Dispatches received from a large number of points throughout the United States, including the Pacific coast, report that the inauguration centennial was generally observed throughout the country.

The Big Celebration.

PORTLAND, May 1.—The large numbers which arrived in the city to participate in the ceremonies yesterday were immensely swollen by every train which arrived with its overcrowded load of humanity. Especially was the excursion train running from Eugene City loaded down to the fullest extent. The militia companies of Eugene, Albany and Salem were on the train as well as large numbers of citizens from along the route, and the streets of Portland were one continual throng.

Indian Atrocities.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—A special from DeWitt, N. M., says: A. E. Head to-day received the following telegram from Sheriff Whitehall at San Simon: "W. K. Munchas and Cook, two miners, came to San Simon cattle company's headquarters last night and said that Frank Cady was killed by Indians at Deer creek. Cady was buried Friday. He was shot through both legs and then put on a stove and roasted. As near as could be ascertained there were forty Indians."

The Big Banquet.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Metropolitan opera house was to-night the scene of the second chief event of the great centennial celebration, and the theatre of the greatest banquet possibly ever held within the recollection of man. The interior decorations of the now historical building exceeded even the splendor and display of the ball celebration of the previous night. The stage and auditorium, connected in one continuous floor, were the foundations of over a quarter of a hundred tables arranged in double horseshoe fashion, with a seating capacity for 800. Nearly 8000 wine glasses glittered at intervals along the array of tables, and 200 waiters, as well drilled as so many soldiers, were ready to respond to the slightest wants of the diners. The tables were elaborately decorated. The expense of the dinner is said to have been $35,000, the wine alone costing an expenditure of nearly $16,000. The bill of fare in ordinary print was eight inches long and of French construction, being wound up with twelve kinds of wine and three cordials.

A New Sect.

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 30.—There is great excitement here over the result of the trial of Mrs. Kinnethan in the Westminster Presbyterian church for heresy. Mrs. Kinnethan recently joined the Beckmanites, a religious sect who worship the Rev. G. J. Schweinfurth as Christ. She has stated in public that she believed Christ had appeared on earth in the person of Schweinfurth and worshipped him as such. She was fully satisfied of the fact, and there was nothing that could change her views. To the charges, one and all, Mrs. Kinnethan pleaded not guilty. She refused to have any counsel appointed to defend her, saying she was able to defend herself. When asked to swear she refused to do so and opening her Bible read passages showing that it was proper to swear not at all. She said, however, that she had been taught by the preachings of the church that Christ was coming on earth and was now fully satisfied that Schweinfurth was Christ. Nothing could change her views. She was accompanied by one or two of the female Beckmanites, who were allowed to say something, and repeated Mrs. Kinnethan's story.

The jury found defendant guilty of blasphemy, apostasy and heresy, and she will be expelled. Schweinfurth, the alleged Christ, came here a few years ago not worth a nickel. He now has one of the finest farms in this section of the country, and is worth over $50,000. On the farm is a large house, where the meetings are held.

A Favorable Opinion.

PORTLAND, May 1.—Alexander Mackey, attorney of the liquidator of the Oregonian Railway company, has returned from a trip of inspection over the lines of the company, and found the roads in fair condition; bridges, trestles and ties in good order. He thinks the Willamette valley a most charming section of country—a regular garden, but capable of considerable development, especially in the foothills. He considers the great need of the valley is more population, and was pleased to find in every district new people coming in and settling on small tracts cut off the large farms. After seeing the territory through which the narrow gauge road runs, he has a higher opinion of the value of them and is still less inclined to be in a hurry about advising the stockholders to dispose of their property at any sacrifice.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The king of Holland is going to travel in hopes of improving his health.
Much excitement exists near Kansas City, over the reported discovery of a rich gold field.
Saturday was the birthday of General Grant. It was appropriately celebrated in many eastern cities.
The weekly crop report sent out from Washington says that more rain is needed in Dakota and Minnesota.
The Revs. Taylor, Edwards and Hopper, who have been held for ransom by Chief Bushlu, near Zanzibar, Africa, have been released on payment of the sum demanded.
Los Angeles, Cal., has a new temperance temple erected at a cost of $40,000, by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. It was dedicated yesterday with appropriate ceremonies.

Refused Two Future Presidents.

Among the curious coincidences gathered by the Religio-Philosophical Journal is that two girls from the same small Ohio village rejected two future presidents of the United States, and both for the same cause—poverty. Hayes was one of the suitors, but the parents of the girl opposed the match on the ground that he showed hardly sufficient ability to warrant trusting their girl to his care. Garfield paid attention to the other, and again the parents objected that his future prospects were none too bright. Bedford, the village in question did not at the time contain 500 inhabitants. But in Ohio a girl runs great risks of refusing a president when she declines any suitor whatever. The coincidence would be stronger if it had occurred in some state where the lightning strikes less unexpectedly.

A Popular Courtesy Ignored.

"There are few smokers who will hesitate to ask an utter stranger for a match, and men who might pass each other on the street every day for weeks without even a nod of recognition will exchange 'lights' in a smoking-car without the slightest restraint." So spoke a young man to a group of friends the other day.
"But," he continued, "I met a man yesterday on the cars who was an exception to the rule. I was passing through the smoker with a cigar all ready to light, and felt in my pocket for a match. He gave me a cold stare, and paid no attention to my request."
"Was he deaf?" asked one of the crowd.
"No, he was handcuffed, and I felt like a thief when I discovered it, too," was the sad reply.—Elmira Gazette.

How George Won Her.

"It grieves me to give you pain, Mr. Ferguson, but I fear it can never be. Try, try to forget me."
"I'll try, Miss Laura," replied the young man, in a melancholy hopeless way. "Absorbed in the vortex of business, as I shall be henceforth, I may be able to still the clamor of my aching heart and banish your sweet image from my mind."
"Then you contemplate going into business?"
"I have made arrangements," he said in a hollow voice, "to open a large retail confectionery store."
"Oh, George, exclaimed the beautiful girl wildly, as she flung herself into his arms, "the sight of your suffering is more than I can bear. I am yours!"
If such a calamity as the death of President Harrison and of Vice President Morton should occur, Mr. Blaine would be president.
