COUNTY COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Regular Monthly Session of Marion County Commissioners. The commissioners court of Marion county met yesterday in regular monthly session for the consideration of what business might properly come before them.

Many of the citizens and interested parties from the neighborhood of Stayton were in attendance to see what disposition was made of the matter of constructing a bridge across the Santiam at Stayton. Aid for the Sufferers. Salem is responding nobly in the cause of aiding those rendered destitute by the great Pennsylvania flood. At their meeting last night Chemekete lodge I. O. O. F. voted the sum of $25. This they endeavored to telegraph to Johnstown this morning over the Western Union but were unable to do so as already the reserve of $60,000 had been telegraphed from different points, from Philadelphia. They sent it via New York. From the fact that so large a sum has already been telegraphed from the Quaker City would indicate that the response for aid is general. The collection taken up at Judge Williams' lecture last night at the opera house amounted to $70, the conservatory net proceeds were $5, the ladies are giving a benefit this evening and various private donations are soon to be forwarded. Salem is doing her part nobly.

Booth, who lives next door, heard the noise and gave the alarm and also fired a couple of shots at the retreating thieves. By the time the police officers could reach the scene of activity the burglars had fled and it was impossible to trace them.

An Imperative Necessity. That pure air is to an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sassaaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed, scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sassaaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

A GOOD CUP OF COFFEE. Is a great attraction for a restaurant. The coffee drawn from Heilbrunn's Patent coffee receptacle is one of the many great attractions of his excellent coffee. The art of luminous painting was known to the Japanese nine hundred years ago, and an extract from one of their old writers has been translated as follows: "One Su Ngeh, many years ago, had a picture of an ox. Every day the ox left the picture frame to graze and returned to sleep within it at night. This picture came into the possession of the Emperor Tai Tsung, of the Sung dynasty (A. D. 975-998), who showed it to his courtiers, and asked them for an explanation, which none of them, however, could give. At last a certain Buddhist priest said that the Japanese found some narcotic substance within the flesh of a certain kind of oyster they picked up when the rocks were bared at low tide, and that they ground this into color material and then painted pictures with it which were invisible by day and luminous by night." The secret simply was that during the day the figure of the ox was not visible, and it was therefore said that it left the frame to go to grazing.

In a museum of curiosities at Salem, Mass., there is preserved a common cherry seed or stone, hollowed and fashioned like a basket. Within the basket are twelve tiny silver spoons, the shape and finish of which cannot be distinguished with the naked eye. The name of the artist who constructed this little wonder has been lost, but the existence of the thing itself will not be questioned by any one from the old witch headquarters of the Bay state.
