FRIDAY JUNE 7, 1889

The Lottery of Life. An appreciative audience last night witnessed the presentation of the drama, "Lottery of Life," by the Chicago comedy company, at the opera house.

Capital's Annual Election. Capital engine company No. 1 last night conducted their regular annual meeting for the election of officers, with results as follows: Foreman, T. A. Howard; first ass't, Geo. H. Sautert; second ass't, H. S. Jordan; president, P. H. D'Arcy; secretary, W. J. Clarke; treasurer, J. G. Wright; board of fire delegates, W. J. D'Arcy, Thos. King, H. S. Jordan; R. H. Price, driver. T. A. Howard was placed in nomination for chief engineer of Salem fire department.

Salem to the Rescue. At the order of Chief C. N. Churchill, Frank Welch last night telegraphed to Seattle, stating that Capital engine and hose, with men, stood ready to respond to the call for aid. The telegram was duly received and was about the last one to go over the wires before the telegraph office burned. The following reply was received at 10 o'clock this morning: "Fire now under control; business portion burned. Robert Moran, Mayor."

Real Estate Transactions. Daily transfers furnished the CAPITAL JOURNAL by the Union title abstract company: Wm. Sloeum to Adelia Hudley, lot blk. 1; Owen's Add. $ 800 H. Hireberg to Mary F. Roberts, 5 acres, near Salem. 2500 00 Thos. H. Hubbard to Alonzo Swartz, small tract in t 9 2 w. 700 00 A. N. Gilbert to H. F. Hatch, lot 4, blk. 10, North Salem. 700 00

Locating the Reform School. The board of trustees of the state reform school has about decided upon the purchase of land on which to locate the reform school soon to be established in Oregon. The land selected is the Warner tract, nearly five miles south of Salem. This tract contains between three and four hundred acres. The purchase price is given at $35 per acre.

An Exciting Runaway. Silverton was the scene of an exciting runaway yesterday afternoon. The team of R. Allen, attached to a lumber wagon, took a run through the principal streets, totally demolishing the wagon and running over a cow that was resting in the shade of a tree. The cow's jaw was broken by the wagon and the horses were entangled in the tree. No one was hurt.

Couldn't Help It. It was the intention of the JOURNAL last night to issue a special edition of the Seattle fire, but as the telegraph offices burned so early in the conflagration it was not possible to get a full account of the great disaster. This evening, however, the telegraph columns contain the latest news it was possible to obtain.

To-morrow Night's Lecture. At the M. E. church to-morrow evening Prof. Copeland (ad in another place) will deliver his celebrated lecture on "Snobs and Snobbery." He is a most eloquent platform orator, and has received flattering press notices wherever he has been. Salem is quite sure to give him a large audience.

Died Very Suddenly. Miss Eva Rogers died very suddenly at the home of her father, George Rogers, two miles north of Independence, Wednesday. She was in her usual health, but in the evening was prostrated by a hemorrhage and died after a few moments.

Glanders and Gleet. Polk county seems to be alike unfortunate with her horses. In the vicinity of McCoy several horses have been quarantined, the disease being nasal gleet. The county stock inspector will kill them, hoping thus to prevent the spread of the plague.

The Pastor's Reception. This evening the friends of Elder K. H. Sisco, the new pastor of the Christian church, will tender himself and bride a reception at the parlors of the church, to which friends of the church are invited to attend.

A Marriage License. A marriage license was this morning granted to W. H. Nash and Miss Dora Buchanan, both of Turner vicinity.

Must Respond Again. The charitable people of Salem have not completed their call for aid for the Johnstown sufferers before a dire calamity renders hundreds homeless in a near sister city. Subscriptions for aid and relief must at once be started in their behalf, and it is but justice to say that Salem will meet the call with a generous purse.

Articles of Incorporation. Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of state to-day as follows: The Hopkins Methodist Episcopal church of Pine valley. The property and money consists of $900 and the sources of revenue is the voluntary offerings of the people. The officers shall be president, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer.

A General Purpose. The net proceeds of the sociable given at the Christian church last night for the benefit of the Pennsylvania flood stricken districts will be not less than $175. The unsold tickets have not yet all been returned but enough is known to make it safe in saying that the amount realized from last night's social will not be less than this sum.

County Court Proceedings. The county commissioners of Marion county, in session this afternoon, awarded the contract for building of the 118 foot span bridge on the Woodburn and Sluck's mill road. Royal and Rudder are the contractors, and are to build the bridge for $917.

The commissioners spent this morning in looking up land upon which to locate the poor farm. They have not yet abandoned the idea of purchasing a larger tract and making of the infirmary a self-supporting institution. To-day they viewed the F. Levy tract of 160 acres five miles south of Salem; also the 160 acre place of H. W. Cottle six miles south of Salem. They have not, however, decided upon a location, neither have they fully decided to make a purchase.

They come to make their home in Oregon.

That is the place. --Already a half million dollars have been received at Johnstown from various sections of the country, to be used in giving relief to the survivors of the flood.

Occidental Jottings. Geo. B. Currey has bought the Rogue River Courier, the newspaper at Grant's Pass. Thirty-five acres of land adjoining Yaquina City was recently sold to Albany, Corvallis and Yaquina men at $350 per acre. The president yesterday appointed M. W. Hunt of Salem, Oregon, commissioner for the district of Alaska, to reside at Unalaska, in place of Robert Anderson who declines. Salem has organized a strong club for the purpose of improving the public parks. They will no doubt be successful in doing much good toward beautifying the parks. William Martin, who lives eight miles southeast of Pilot Rock, Umatilla county, was poisoned from "poison oak" recently, and died Wednesday from its effects. The state teachers' association will be held in Salem, July 21 and 22. The teachers will then start to the National educational association to be held in Nashville, July 16, 17 and 18. With a box factory, woolen mills, cigar factory, ice works and other enterprises proposed, as well as a railroad to the sea, Salem will make a wonderful growth within the next few years. A good many papers persistently speak of Washington Territory as the state of Washington. This is just a shade premature. It is just possible that the great men who will compile a constitution will do it in such fashion that the people will knock it to smithereens. If the people do this, it will be Washington Territory for some time.
