

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

PUBLISHED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY, BY THE Capital Journal Publishing Company.

CLARE B. IRVINE, Manager.

See fourth page for terms of subscription. Advertisements to insure insertion (for the same day) should be handed in by 10 o'clock.

SATURDAY JUNE 22, 1889

A QUEBEC paper says that the volume of immigration from that province to the United States this year will reach over 100,000, and it wants to know if something can't be done to prevent it.

THE treatment of mental diseases by colors is revived. Melancholy requires red; acute mania, blue. The young love yellow, the color most conducive to growth, while old prefers the warm red ray.

GOVERNOR GRAY of Indiana is now in Washington Territory, where he has decided to make valuable real estate investments. He is not the only Eastern man that has been convinced that the best opportunities in the country for making safe investments of money exist in this wild, rushing West.

RECENTLY Vesuvius has been more active than usual. Numerous convulsions in the interior resulted in the rending and then the collapse of the last new cone at the top of the mountain. "We are so used," a Naples correspondent says, "to these changes at the extreme summit that it is no new thing to see from Naples that the point of the active crater has fallen in, and the top of the mountain has been reduced to the flatter shape which is its normal form."

DO THE TEACHERS READ? Are all the teachers willing to admit they read the daily and weekly papers of their locality? If not, why not? Teachers live too much in their text-books, and not enough in the big busy world around them.

Newspapers are the great educators of the masses, and they educate teachers as well as other classes in society. Reading the current historians, the press of the land, will widen the range of thought, and prevent the dogmatical assumption of superior knowledge which overtakes many teachers at that critical age of "stand still" middle life, when it is generally believed that the pedagogic begins "to go to seed."

Constant association with inferior and submissive minds brings about this consciousness of self-satisfaction, and renders him unpleasantly assuming, if not altogether obnoxious to prudent business men. In the realm where his sword is law, and if he possesses the esteem of his subjects, holds sway over mind and character, he is authority upon all matters of interest.

The pupil leaves the school room to act in the great drama of life, and awakens to the fact in the future that his instructor, who was once his idol, was a narrow-minded man. Read the papers, fellow teachers; they will awaken new thought, broaden your education, increase your salary, give you a better social position and make you a more successful teacher.

While the foregoing refers solely to newspaper reading, let us apply this question to the reading of educational journals. How many teachers (7) there are who never read a paper that is devoted to the cause in which they are engaged. Would such negligence be tolerated in any other profession?

There is a time speedily coming, when there will be no place found in the ranks of the teaching profession for such dwarfed and bigged characters.

Never was there a time in the history of man, when the education of the people was receiving so much time, talent and money as in 1889, A. D. The intelligent world justly demands much of the educators of the youth, and fully realize that "they must upward still, and onward, who would keep abreast of truth."—Astoria Pioneer.

MR. HOLDEN'S NARRATIVE.

A Romantic Story of Shipwreck, Captivity and Suffering.

CAST AMONG BARBAROUS SAVAGES.

Horace Holden Subjected to Unheard of Sufferings Among the Barbarous Pelew Islanders.

CHAPTER V. By this time the natives had become nearly as anxious to part with us as we had ever been to leave them; and being naturally desirous to be rid of each other's company, we lost no time in preparing for our departure.

Our object now was to get into the open sea, with the hope of falling in with some vessel on its passage to China or elsewhere, and thus be able, after awhile, to find a conveyance to America.

The natives of this island had furnished us with the means of subsistence, and with comfortable lodgings, and for the purpose of enabling us to return home, had been at great expense in fitting up a craft, such as they thought would answer to convey us wherever we pleased to go. Situated as we were, we did not feel ourselves at liberty to expostulate against the obvious unreasonableness of their demands. We were, in truth, indebted to them for our maintenance while among them, and for the assistance they rendered us in fitting up our craft; and, as a suitable requital for these favors, and to remunerate them for their hospitality, we solemnly assured them, that should fortune so far prosper us, as to enable us once more to reach our native country, we would send to them two hundred muskets, ten casks of powder with a corresponding quantity of balls and flints. Besides this, we gave them assurances of having several articles of ornament, such as beads, belts, combs and trinkets of various kinds.

On the 27th of October, 1832, we set sail, having the boat in which we had escaped from the ship and which we had repaired as well as we were able and the canoe which had been constructed by the natives especially for our use. It was agreed, that three of our number, viz. Davis, Mader and Alden, should remain on the island as hostages, and that three of the natives (two chiefs and one of the common class) should accompany us, to see that the agreement made with them should be faithfully executed.

Fearing that the natives residing on the other part of the island might come upon us and prevent our going, we took our departure in the night. We soon found that our boat leaked so badly that it would be next to madness to proceed, and we returned in the course of the night. Our unexpected return gave great offence; but we insisted that to go to sea in that condition would be certain destruction. They at length consented to assist in repairing the canoe and boat, and to suffer us to remain long enough to complete our arrangements more to our mind. We were detained by these operations about a month, and then again took our leave of the spot where we had remained so long against our will; though we would not conceal the fact, that the rude kindness of the natives had so entirely overbalanced their faults, that, on parting with them, we experienced emotions of regret, and were quite overpowered with a sense of our obligations to them for the many favors which they had bestowed upon us. They had regarded and treated us as beings of a higher order than themselves; and our conduct had inspired them with a veneration and confidence almost unbounded. As a proof of this, three of their number were committed to our care, and were entirely willing to place themselves at our disposal.

Seven of our number now took the canoe, viz., Bousket, Seldon, Andrews, Hulet and the three natives, Captain Barnard, Rollins, Mute and myself prepared the ship's boat. We were accompanied on our passage the first day by a large number of the natives. At night, as we had then succeeded in getting beyond the reef, they left us, and we continued our course.

(TO BE CONTINUED NEXT SATURDAY.)

The Name Yaquina.

Eli Perkins suggested the other day that the name of Yaquina Bay should be changed to that of Oregon Harbor or Deep Harbor. He did not like the name Yaquina. It savored too much of Indians, he said. It is true that it is an Indian name, and some of the prettiest names on the Pacific coast came from the Indian language. Eli Perkins has no poetry in his soul or appreciation for the appropriateness of things, or he he would not have made the suggestion. Yaquina Harbor means black harbor. The name was applied because the river bearing the name of Yaquina for miles above the bay presents an almost ink color, its blackness being attributable to the large deposits of coal found along the stream in the vicinity of Yaquina.

Coal prospectors along the Yaquina river have recently found pure coal in the bed of the stream, and expert coal miners state that there are valuable coal deposits in the immediate vicinity of the port. It is only a question of time when rich coal fields will be developed there. In view of these facts the name "Yaquina" is very appropriate, and Eli Perkins is very respectfully asked to inform himself before inaugurating a "kick" at our pretty names, derived from the Indian tribes whose interesting and romantic history is intimately connected with the early settlement of the states of the Pacific coast.—Albany Herald.

A Lesson for Young Men.

Only a few months ago Clinton Pennington, but little past twenty-one years of age, athletic, vigorous and strong, left his home in Nebraska, and, as thousands of young men have done, sought a broader field of action in the great commonwealth of Oregon. On the 28th day of last May in the heat of passion, young Pennington shot and killed Chas. B. Balcom, a former friend while in Nebraska, and the only one to meet him with a friendly greeting upon his arrival in the far west. Precisely three weeks from that date, Pennington listened to the sentence of death which ends his earthly career on August 24, a little over six weeks from date of sentence. What a train of events this young man has crowded into that brief space of time! And how differently he might have shaped his course. His murderous weapon, as exhibited in the court room, was what most young men would pronounce "a beauty." It was not so heavy as the honest miner's pick or shovel nor so cumbersome as the wood chopper's axe; it was silver plated, with an elegant rubber stock and it fit the wearer's hip pocket so nicely. But, for all that, it is not the proper implement for any young man to use in carving out a fortune for himself in this country. Better a thousand times does the smooth ash handle of the pick or shovel fit the young man's hand in this work-a-day land of ours. Better music and better results follow the ringing strokes of the woodman's axe in those grand old forests of ours than ever emanated from the handsomest "Bulldog" that ever sounded the death knell of a young man's hopes. As for Pennington, the future holds nothing more between him and the grave, but for the young man yet free to act there is a deep lesson to be learned from his untimely fate.—Baker City Revivelle.

Don't patronize quack doctors. Don't go away from home to trade. Don't let the moss grow on your back. Don't be afraid of a few cents for the public good. Don't try to take advantage of a new comer. Don't charge a dozen prices for a thing. Don't let your youngsters run on the streets nights. Don't be a claim. P. S. Don't let the man with the non-explosive article for kerosene lamps take you in. It is N. G.

A Missouri grocer advertises that any man who takes two drinks of whisky a day for a year at a cost of ten cents each can have for the same money at his store, thirty sacks of flour, 250 pounds of granulated sugar, seventy-two pounds of good coffee, and save $2.50 as a premium for making the exchange.

A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Starching Business Proposition. When Mrs. Fowler, of 227 Ellis street, stepped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect "The California Remedy," Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, would have in cases of dyspepsia and sick headaches, she was assured it would relieve both. She was so incredulous that the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it effected a cure. The following is the convincing conclusion.

San Francisco, February 8, 1888. DEAR SIR: Notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not had a return of either since. I believe I am permanently cured. You have my permission to make this public, for a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully,

Mrs. M. Fowler, 227 Ellis street

A SAFE INVESTMENT.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of throat, lungs or chest, such as consumption, inflammation of lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at Daniel J. Fry's drug store.

Wright's Myrrh Tooth Soap comes off congealer every time you have a brush with it. Try it. Sold by all druggists.

Many Sioux Indians are signing the agreement, notwithstanding the opposition of some chiefs. Oregon is one of the most productive states in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contains gold, silver, copper, iron, and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being, in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Web Foot State may be mentioned Oregon Kinney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

Disastrous rains have fallen in Germany, accompanied with thunder, doing much damage to crops and stock. It should be generally known that Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic invigorates a hearty appetite and increases digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and wakefulness and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

Herman Meyers of Fresno, Cal., charged with killing a boy who was stealing eggs from him, has been acquitted. A SCRAP OF PAPER SAVES HER LIFE. It was just an ordinary scrap of writing paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send a stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottle of this wonderful discovery free at Daniel J. Fry's drug store.

It is stated from Baltimore that Cardinal Gibbons will publicly denounce the Clan-na-Gael society if it can be shown that it in any way countenanced the murder of Dr. Cronin. This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create sad havoc with the hands and complexion. Soft white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Dutard's Specific. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

An actor's luck is illustrated by the terrible accident at Johnstown, where a company played, and being too late to catch the train for the next town, hired wagons to transport them just in time to escape certain death. In spite of the fact that actors travel more than any other profession, none seem ever to get hurt in any kind of accident.

Baeklen's Armea Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Daniel J. Fry, druggist.

"Miss Brown would be a charming girl," I heard a young man say. "If she had a good complexion and those spots would go away; but they spoil her looks completely." If Miss Brown would only take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery what a happy change 'twould make. It would drive out all the humors from her blood and make it pure. And the blemishes complained of disappear, be very sure.

The medicine is the great purifier of the blood, and disfiguring eruptions and blotches will soon vanish when it is used.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, foul breath, belching, flatulency, nausea pains in the shoulders and breast. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic promotes healthy digestion and removes all unhealthy symptoms. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

$100 REWARD. $100. The readers of the JOURNAL will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O., sold by Druggists, etc.

The Best Residence Localities

In the city of Portland and other prosperous towns are those owned by men or corporations who have the disposition and ability to improve them.

HIGHLAND ADDITION

—IS OWNED BY—

THE OREGON LAND COMPANY!

And this Corporation is determined to

Make It The Most Attractive Addition

To the city of Salem. They have at this time fifteen teams employed and the contemplated improvements have scarcely begun. It is intended to make the drive leading from Commercial street through Riverside and Highland additions and around Highland Park

THE FINEST DRIVE IN THE STATE

Of Oregon. The line of the Salem Street Railway Company runs through the middle of this addition, and no lots will be more than two blocks distant from the line. Highland Park will in the near future be

THE MOST POPULAR RESORT

ABOUT THE CITY OF SALEM.

Lots in Highland Addition are High and Dry and Well Located; Most Excellent Drainage

The soil is black and rich. From all points a fine view is obtained of the public buildings and our highest mountain peaks. Arrangements are already being made for the location of two churches in this addition, and a number of residences are soon to be built. Buildings only of the best class will be permitted. Residence lots within the limits of the city of Salem are worth on an average over $1000. We can sell you better lots in Highland addition for one-third of the money, and being directly on the line of the street railway they are practically not half so far from the public buildings and the business part of the town as the majority of the so-called "inside lots."

Buy a Lot in Highland Addition for Three Hundred Dollars,

And let some other fellow pay $1000 for an inferior lot not so well located. With the difference of $700 you can build a beautiful cottage, or put it out at a rate of interest that will buy you nearly two thousand street car tickets every year.

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—