DISORDERED HEARING.

Disturbing Influences Which Cause the Senses to Act Abnormally.

The senses, in their normal action, never deceive; but they are all liable to disturbing influences of various kinds, which cause them to act abnormally. They may be painfully exalted in sensibility, or the organs of sense may be so blunted as to become partially or wholly incapable of performing their usual functions. They may even give rise to sensations that are absolutely false. The eye may "see" bright lights, beautiful scenes, forms of familiar friends or monsters of hideous shape—see them as clearly as we see any thing—and yet the apparent objects be wholly unreal.

Disorders of hearing are the most common of all. Ringing, tinkling, rumbling, roaring or beating—as of an audible pulse—are heard in various disturbed states of the system. This is a frequent result of the misuse or overuse of drugs, as by the large doses of quinine taken in malaria. False voices may be heard, so distinct that the person does not at once suspect their objective unreality. These hallucinations may connect with an unsound state of the brain, but they may be wholly independent of it.

The celebrated Dr. Macnish, when suffering from fever, had hallucinations of sight and hearing combined. He says: "I was broad awake; my eyes were closed, and yet I saw with perfect distinctness the whole scene going on in the theater—Ducrow, performing his wonders of horsemanship, and the assembled multitude, among whom I recognized several intimate friends. When I opened my eyes the whole scene vanished; when I closed them it instantly returned. But, though I could thus dissipate the spectacle, I found it impossible to get rid of the accompanying music. This was the grand march in the opera of Aladdin, which was performed by the orchestra with more superb and imposing effect and with greater loudness than I had ever heard it before."

The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal lately described a case due simply to marked constipation of long standing. At first the voices were heard at night. They seemed to be the voices of three persons, who persisted in tormenting the patient with offensive talk. At length they annoyed her by day as well as night. They would sing, yell and quarrel among themselves, and at times commanded her to do things that affrighted her. Sleep was impossible day or night. She was wholly relieved by a few days of careful treatment, which regulated the bowels and secured sound sleep.

FUNNY HIBERNICISMS.

Specimen Gems of Irish Wit, Humor and Bright Repartee.

Stories of Irish wit and humor are like good wine—they mellow and acquire delicacy of flavor with age. They are evergreen, preserving their freshness like the verdure of the Emerald isle of whose blessed soil they are racy. Hibernicisms never lose their sparkle and mirth-compelling quality. "age can not wither nor custom stale their infinite variety;" we never tire of telling or listening to them, and nobody but a Scotchman with a corkscrew would be likely to get the idea into his head of speaking of them as chestnuts. We are indebted to the American Review for making a collection of the rarest gems, from which we cull as specimen jewels of the first water the following:

"Pat," said a field officer, "go to your Captain and tell him you're the laziest rascal in the regiment." "Plaze, yer honor, wud ye have me go to the Captain wid a lie in me mouth?"

A pauper woman, who was being commiserated in having lost all her teeth: "Shoor, an' isn't it time to lose thim, whin I've nothing for thim to do!"

An Irish woman, uninvited to a wake: "Well, well, I'll have a corpse of my own in my house some day, an' thin you'll see who'll be invited."

"Arrah! Where will you find a modern building that has lasted as long as the ould wan!"

"I am writing with a sword in one hand and a pistol in the other."

"Mr. Speaker, I would give half of the constitution—nay, the whole of it—to savè the remainder."

"Single misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all misfortunes is usually followed by a greater."

"A great many people are dying this year who never died before."

A party at cards. One player remarked: "Here is a shilling short." "Who put it in?" asked an Irishman present.

"Sir, if you come within a mile of my house I hope you will stop."

"He's so thin I'd hardly know him. You're thin, and I'm thin, but he's thinner than both of us put together."

Unintentional Apostasy.

An old clergyman used to relate the following anecdote with great glee: Once, when preparing his parishioners for the solemn ordinance of confirmation, he found among them an old woman so excessively ignorant and stupid that, for some weeks prior to the time, he was obliged to have her come to his house every day in order to instruct and catechise her. At length he began to hope that his time, patience and zeal had not been entirely bestowed in vain, a few bright flashes of understanding having burst from the old dame's clouded intellect. The important day arrived. "Now, my good friend," said the worthy pastor just previous to the commencement of the ceremony, "as this is the last moment in which I shall have an opportunity of conversing with you, let me ask, do you thoroughly understand and believe all the articles of your Christian faith?" "Aye, yes, sir, thank 'ee," replied the venerable pupil, with a simper, and dropping one of her best courtesies: "I does, indeed, now; and, thank God, I heartily renounces 'em all."

Feminine Wood Carving.

Wood carving is one of the newest feminine fads. The passion for carved hall and dining-room furniture and for wood over mantels has something to do with the craze. The tools are easily handled and require little muscular strength, but a quick eye, an artistic feeling and a steady hand. The designs are confined only to the tastes of the fair modeler, and may include any thing which her imagination conjures. Small pieces of work are the rule, however, such as panels and tiles for the side of the mantel, and the like, but carved desks, sideboards and large decorative pieces are not beyond the ambition of the more aspiring. If the taste for wood carving continues to increase it will supply an occupation in which women who go in for something more than amusement will find, if they are artists, one more welcome resource.

Great American Inventions.

The fifteen great American inventions of world-wide adoption are: First, the cotton gin; second, the planing machine; third, the grass mower and reaper; fourth, the rotary printing-press; fifth, navigation by steam; sixth, hot-air engine; seventh, the sewing machine; eighth, the india rubber industry; ninth, the machine manufacture of horse shoes; tenth, the sand-blast for carving; eleventh, the gauge lathe; twelfth, the grain elevator; thirteenth, artificial ice-making on a large scale; fourteenth, the electric magnet and its practical application; fifteenth, the telephone.

For the Public Good.

It is an indisputable fact that the handsomest vestibule trains that are now run on the American continent are those on the Burlington route, leaving from Union depot in Denver, also St. Paul, immediately on arrival of all through trains from the west. The first and second class coaches are magnificent, the reclining chair cars superb, the Pullman sleepers extremely luxuriant, and as for the meals that are served in those palace Burlington dining cars—yum yum. The next time you go east to Kansas City, Chicago or St. Louis, if you mention to the ticket agent that you want your ticket to read from Denver or St. Paul over the Burlington route, you will get it, and you will always be glad of it.

If you go via the Northern or Canadian Pacific, the elegant vestibule trains of The Burlington Route, between St. Paul and Chicago, or St. Louis, will carry you along the eastern shore of the Mississippi river for a distance of 350 miles, amidst scenery that cannot be surpassed; or, if you go via the Oregon Short Line or Southern Pacific, and your ticket reads via The Burlington Route from Cheyenne or Denver, you will pass through all the thriving cities and towns located in what is popularly known as the Heart of the Continent. For further information apply to A. C. Sheldon, General Agent, 25 First street, Portland, Oregon. 4-19d&wtf are as a rule, possessed of happy dispositions but when these sweet dispositions, become soured and irritable, in consequence of the long train of distressing tortures peculiar to female complaints, they are then not companionable to say the least. It is the duty, not only of little women, but of all women so afflicted, to bring about the subjection, and immediate removal, of these painful maladies. This is easily accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the great specific for "female weakness." It is a positive cure for the most flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, and kindred ailments. All druggists.

THEIR BUSINESS BOOMING.

Probably no one thing has caused such a great revival of trade at Daniel J. Fry's Drugstore as their giving away to their customers so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

LOST IN THE STORM.

One of our local editors clipped from a leading magazine extracts from a vivid description of a western blizzard which we have taken the liberty to publish and at the same time suggest to H. H. Warner & Co., the proprietors of the celebrated Warner's Safe Cure, the feasibility of taking therefrom an extract for the introduction of one of their telling advertisements. The following is the description:

"At the close of a dark day in January a solitary horseman wends his way across the open prairie in one of our western territories. He passes at long intervals the lone cabin of the hardy frontiersman. Two or three old settlers, of whom he has inquired the way, have warned him that a storm is approaching, and one of them, with true western hospitality, urges him to find shelter in his cabin for the night. But he declines the proffered kindness and urges his tired horse forward. * * * The sky grows suddenly dark. * * * He decides to seek shelter. * * * The storm increases in its fury. * * * The rider dismounts to warm his fast chilling limbs. * * * Can scarcely breathe. Blindness comes on. Drowsiness steals over him. The end is near. * * * He is lost in the blizzard."

There is no doubt that the terror which seizes the bewildered traveler is similar to that which overcomes one when he learns that he is suffering from an advanced Kidney Disease, and is informed that he is in the last stages of Bright's disease. At first he is informed that he has a slight kidney affection. Later he begins to feel tired. Slight headache. Fickle appetite. Failure of the eye-sight. Cramp in the calf of the legs. Wakefulness. Distressing nervousness. Rheumatic and neuralgic pains. Occasionally pain in the back. Scanty, dark colored fluids, with scalding sensation. Gradual failure of strength.

Any of the above symptoms signify Kidney Affection, but he is told that he is all right. His physician treats him for symptoms and calls it a disease, when in reality it is but a symptom of Kidney trouble. He may be treated for Rheumatic or Neuralgic pains, heart affection, or any other disease which he is most susceptible to. Finally the patient has puffing under the eyes, slight bloating of the ankles and legs. His physician may inform him that it is but the accumulation of blood in his ankles for want of proper exercise.

The bloat continues and reaches his body.

Then he is informed he has dropsical troubles, and is tapped once or twice. He notices it is difficult to breathe owing to irregular action of the heart, and finally is informed that he has a slight attack of Bright's Disease. Soon his friends are notified that his is an advanced case of Bright's Disease, and that he can live but a short time. His honorable and dignified physician asks for counsel. It is too late. Still he sticks to the old family physician, and the physician knows and has known from the beginning that the patient has been stricken with death for months, for he knows full well that the profession acknowledge they have no remedies for the cure of Kidney Disease.

At last the patient suffocates—is smothered—and dies from dropsical trouble. Or perhaps the disease may not take the form of a dropsical tendency, and the patient dies from apoplexy, paralysis, pneumonia or heart trouble. Or it may take the form of blood poisoning. In each form the end is the same. And yet he and his friends were warned by the proprietors of the celebrated remedy known as Warner's Safe Cure, of the lurking dangers of a slight Kidney affection.

The newspapers have published the dangers. Columns of facts have been printed of men dying from advanced Kidney Disease or Bright's Disease. His friends and physician look around with horror and regret for seeming neglect, but he is lost. He did not heed the warning that a storm was approaching. He declined the proffered hospitality, and reckless went forward into danger. He struggled manfully for a time, but his strength failed, he grew gradually weaker and he was lost to the world. Not in a blizzard, but from the terrible malady which is almost daily occurring in every community, and which is doctored as a symptom instead of what it is,—a mortal disease unless properly treated.

A WOMAN'S DISCOVERY.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Daniel Fry's drugstore.
