NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The books of the carriers of the CAPITAL JOURNAL are being revised and a new force of carriers has been put on to replace the old.

There is perhaps as much building going on in Salem in proportion to the population as there is in any other part of the country, and all of the houses are improvements on previous structures.

State and municipal should place the electric service of a city on the basis of a public improvement entitled to special privileges, in order to secure the service for users on terms, and under economic conditions, best calculated to properly serve the interests of all citizens.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman affirms that the days of big prices for big stuff have gone by so long as Washington manufacturers find it possible to lay timbers down in Chicago as large as 18x18, and up to 98 feet in length, for something under $40, and pay 90 cents rate.

MAN! KNOW THYSELF.

In times far past it was a custom among the schools to require each pupil to institute a self-examination of himself before retiring to rest.

How have I spent this day? What have I done to advance myself in the right way? Am I contracting any bad habits? What kind of company have I kept?

The wisest man of antiquity uttered this immortal saying, "Know thyself." It has been handed down for thousands of years.

habitual students of themselves, as they confess, and regularly instituted a stern inquisition into their own daily conduct. Go thou and do likewise.

IN 1892, WHAT?

There is much speculation in some quarters in reference to the election for president in 1892; especially is this the case with a class of democrats who seem to believe that the only available man in the ranks of that party is Grover Cleveland, the late president of the mugwumps.

We are prepared to do justice to Mr. Cleveland, giving him proper credit for such of his acts as are deserving of approbation, but at the same time claims the right to criticize those which are deemed to have been erroneous.

One trouble with Mr. Cleveland, and one perhaps which had much to do with his defeat in 1888, was that he had been made to believe that he was a great man—greater even than the party which placed him in office, whereas the truth is there were a great many men in the ranks of that party of greater experience in governmental affairs and of at least equal mental capacity.

As to the force of character, moral and political honesty of Cleveland, we have nothing to say by way of unfavorable comment, but being merely human, that he should have erred is by no means a matter of astonishment.

That the mistakes of Cleveland, committed while president, were so numerous and so glaring as to cause the defeat of his party in 1888, does not admit of a single doubt in the opinion of the writer. A man as president may be justified in committing an act amounting to suicide politically, but he has no right, while killing himself, to kill or even to cripple the party which hoisted him into power.

These lines will not probably meet the eyes of a large number of those democrats who seem so anxious to see Mr. Cleveland nominated for president a third time, but we beg to suggest to any of such persons that in one opinion wisdom would indicate the propriety of abandoning the idea at once and forever.

The results of these elections in his own state, New York, ought to convince his friends of the impropriety of any further attempts to carry him.

A Disgruntled Lobbyist.

A lobbyist at Springfield, Ill., who had been a railroad deadhead for many years, was called to his home about 40 miles from Chicago, by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his wife.

"I have no doubt it is all right," said the conductor, "but I cannot carry you."

"Then," said the lobbyist, in despair, "I shall have to drive out there and I don't know the road, and it will take me all night anyway."

I can't carry you for nothing, but I will advance you the money if—"Thunder and lightning!" exclaimed the lobbyist, smiling all over. "I've got $1,000 right here in my pocket, and he ran off to buy a ticket. When he came back he said: "Conductor, if you hadn't mentioned money I should never have thought of paying my fare. I had feared I could travel on anything but a pass."

Rondelet.

How kind fate was to us that night, When down the lane moon-velled in white, We walked upon the dewy grass, A blissful twin, with heart so light, I think we did not reckon, quite, How kind fate was!

Chinese Composers.

About once a month we register a blood curdling oath on the accumulated files of the Telegraph to the effect that the very next time our compositorial staff exasperate us by their inconceivable idiotic style of spelling we will appeal to our readers by publishing the paper with all its errors on its head.

The Burial of Sir John Moon.

Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note, as his corse to the ramparts, We hired not a soldier, discharged his farewell shot O'er the gram when our Hero we buried.

We buried him doubly at dead of night, The soda with our bayonets turning, By the shuffling moon-beams, mirth and light and the loutish drily bunting.

No melon coffin enclosed his breast, not in shut nor in shored we wound him, But he lay like a wicker taking him not, Wilt his martial clock around him.

Few and short were the prayers and said and, we spoke not a word of sorrow, But we steadfastly gazed on the fall that was dead and we bitterly thought of the morrow.—Hong Kong Telegraph.

She Hated Monotony.

"Maude," he said, with a quivering quiver in the vowel sounds, Maude, three weeks ago to-night I asked you to marry me."

"You did."

"And you said 'no.'"

"That was my answer."

"Two weeks ago to-night I asked you the same question."

"I remember."

"And you made the same reply."

"I did."

"A week ago I asked you to be my wife, and you said 'no' again."

"Yes."

"You have had another week to think the matter over, and I called to see whether you had arrived at any other conclusion."

She reflected a moment, and then said gently: "Harry, I recognize the fact that each time I have answered you in exactly the same way. There has been nothing in my replies, so far, to relieve the similarity."

Then, after another pause, she said still more softly:—"Harry, I should hate very much to be considered monotonous."

And Harry didn't wait for any further answer.

Too Much Pure Alcohol.

The Drain Echo gives the following account of the death of Milton Applegate, brother of Lish Applegate, on the 23rd of June, at Yoncalla: "He had been drinking heavily of pure alcohol three or four days, and his mind had become so worked up that he evidently knew not what he was doing. Going into the kitchen, he told his wife that he was going to kill himself, and walking into the next room he deliberately took a Winchester rifle containing two cartridges, placed the muzzle against the left side of his head just above the ear, pulled the trigger and the cartridge instantly sped on its fatal course, coming out at the crown of the head."

The following is from a Portland paper: "A Michigan man now here asserts that there are innumerable quarter-sections yet to be located on our coast, which in ten years from now will each be a fortune to their holders. He avers that what is now true of Michigan will in twenty years be realized here—timber worth $10 per thousand in the standing tree. The moral of all this is get yourself a quarter section and hold on to it for twenty years."

HE SENT IT EAST.

For a year I was troubled with pains in my back and side, and headaches, the result of liver and kidney trouble. I was attracted to Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla by the starting testimonials in the papers and which seemed so practical as it was indeed to try it, would at any rate do no harm. It acted as a gentle laxative and after the second bottle my pains and aches disappeared and I felt like a new man. It did so much for me that I sent several bottles to my family in New Jersey, who also took it with the most satisfactory results.

A San Francisco business man was inveighed into paying $8,000 for "a gold brick," said to be worth $20,000. It was the same old trick but well played, as the chippings he was allowed to take from the brick assayed the pure stuff. The shippers got away.

Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron, and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being, in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Web Foot State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

The uses of electricity are limited only by the want of intelligence in producing fitting apparatus for its application. The demand for such apparatus is limited only by the want of intelligence on the part of the public to know how to use it properly.

It should be generally known that Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic induces a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and wakefulness, and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

The Rev. Dr. R. H. Morrison, the father-in-law of Stonewall Jackson, died in Lincoln county, North Carolina, a few days ago, aged 91 years. It was on his account that Mrs. Jackson refused the office of post-mistress which President Harrison tendered her.

A SCRAP OF PAPER SAVES HER LIFE.

It was just an ordinary scrap of writing paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottle of this wonderful discovery free at Dan'l J. Fry's drug store.

A Give Away—She—All extremely bright men are awfully conceited, anyway. He—Oh, I don't know; I'm not.

This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create sad havoc with the hands and complexion. Soft white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Duffard's Specific. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay return. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.

For sale by Daniel J. Fry, druggist.

If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull or debilitated, pain or pressure in the head; take cold easily, you may rest assured that you have catarrh. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms terminate in consumption and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive, less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have, for many years, offered a standing reward of $500 for a case of Nasal Catarrh, no matter how bad or of how long standing, which they cannot cure. Remedy sold by druggists at 50 cents.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, foul breath, belching, flatulency, nausea pains in the shoulders and breast. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic promotes healthy digestion and removes all unhealthy symptoms. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

$100 REWARD. $100.

The readers of the JOURNAL will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O., Sold by Druggists, etc.
