A Daring Burglary. Last night some unknown parties entered the house of Mrs. McManus, on the corner of Front and North streets, ransacking it through. They effected an entrance by placing a small ladder to the upstairs window.

The friends of young Pennington, who is in jail at Baker City, sentenced to be hanged early in August, are making a concerted effort to secure a respite, if not a pardon to life imprisonment, for the erring youth.

The county commissioners' court of Marion county is in session this afternoon in the regular July term. They have much business of importance to transact which will occupy their attention during the greater part of the week.

Good news comes from the La-Chapelle neighborhood on French prairie, near St. Paul. It is to the effect that no new cases of smallpox have developed in the La-Chapelle family, and the children who were afflicted have now about recovered.

The capital city band will go to Albany and assist with the celebration to-morrow. The soldier boys are preparing to go, and all are anticipating a grand time during their stay in the sister city.

Last night about nine o'clock Rudolph Wetter stabbed one of his partners, by the name of Ryan, with a knife, three times, inflicting wounds which may prove serious. They were discussing some matters in which Wetter got angry and attacked Ryan with a knife.

The names of the children accidentally shot near Turner Monday evening were Neal, and not Wagner as stated last evening. They are the grand children of Mr. Wagner, hence the mistake by the JOURNAL'S informant.

WOODARD.—At his home near Dallas, at three a. m. Wednesday, July 3, 1889, Joseph Woodard, aged seventy-six years.

He was an old settler of Polk county, having arrived there in 1859. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his departure.

THE COUNCIL MEETS.

Salem and Silverton Motor Line Ask For a Franchise. At the regular meeting of the Salem city council last night the committee on fire and water submitted a report favoring the purchase of 500 feet of rubber hose and 500 feet of cotton hose.

The regular quarterly reports were read and referred to committee on accounts and current expenses. They were: The quarterly report of the city treasurer, showing balance on hand April 1st, $722.60; received since, $2754; total, $3476.60; amount since paid out, $3900; balance on hand, $116.17.

Report of recorder, showing amounts of fines and license collected during the quarter, $1310.70; amount warrants drawn during quarter, $5372.81.

The report of street commissioner, showing amount of street tax collected in labor during quarter, $498.91; amount cost collected, with balance on hand April 1st, $65.25; amount disbursed for labor, $62.30; balance cash on hand, $3.95.

A petition was presented by the Marion county improvement company and read, asking for the right of way for a steam railway or motor line on Front street, on Trade from east side of Commercial to the Willamette river, on Commercial from north end of Trade to southern boundary of city; on Chemekete from Front to eastern boundary of city. This is the company whose proposition it is to build and operate a motor line between Salem and Silverton.

Prof. Frank Rigler dissented and said the army of U. S. used corporal punishment. It has not been abolished in any state. Rather sacrifice mildness to discipline. Pupils should be made to feel that the school is for their benefit entirely. Prof. M. G. Lane said that wise use of corporal punishment was beneficial to the pupil. Prof. Adams said it was unwise to take away any means of governing a school. Prof. Leatherman said reduce corporal punishment to a minimum. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Ira G. Holt and lady of California. Prof. Holt received with expressions of thanks for genial reception and hearty expressions of an earnest interest in Oregon public schools.

Prof. Edwin Morrison of Pacific Academy read a paper entitled "Philosophy of Modern Education." Education is in a course of steady development, and the present condition is the result of all past experience. Observation is a natural avenue of instruction, but must be supplemented by the thinking mind. The people of to-day have use for scientific knowledge in the public school rather than for classic Greek and Latin. The scientific appliances of the day are much more needed to be understood. The paper was carefully prepared, and scholarly. Session closed and re-opened at 1:45 p. m., when Miss Luhi Thompson favored the association with a piano solo.

Miss Helen F. Spaulding read a paper on "Civil Government—Its Place and Purpose in School." Statesmanship established the public school system. All evils may be remedied by the public schools. In the infancy of the nation all men understood the spirit of the constitution, and to-day this understanding is being intensely insisted upon.

The State teachers' association meets at the legislative hall in Salem, beginning at 7:30 last evening. The session will continue for three days, with daily program as follows: WEDNESDAY MORNING. How to Secure a Greater Local Interest in Our Public Schools. M. L. Pratt, Astoria. Importance of Vocal Music in Public Schools. Z. M. Parvin, Salem. Mistakes in School Government. W. K. Yates, Corvallis. Philosophy of Modern Education. Edwin Morrison, Pacific Academy. Civil Government—Its Place and Purpose in Schools. Miss Helen F. Spaulding, Portland.

Industrial Education in Schools. Frank Rigler, Oregon City. Commercial Work in Public Schools. A. P. Armstrong, Portland. Military Discipline and Instruction in Public Schools. J. B. Letcher, Astoria. A Lesson in History. Allen, Portland. General Discussion—Means and Ends of culture to be Provided for Pupils and Teachers by Reading Circles, School Libraries, etc. EVENING SESSION. Music. Recitation. Music in Public Schools. Address.—Patriotism in Public Schools. O. A. Woodruff, Vancouver, Mass.

THE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION. Proceedings of the State Pedagogues in Convention Assembled. The session was opened this morning promptly at 9:30 with instrumental music by Miss Mamie Parvin. Prof. Parvin read a paper on "Importance of Vocal Music in Public Schools." He said 75 per cent. of children in the public schools between the ages of six and eight years can be taught to read music. Only about 5 per cent. will totally fail. The greatest difficulty is in finding teachers competent to give instruction in music. It makes pupils better readers. Music refines the heart and makes better character. Whatever conduces to their happiness promotes the growth of moral character. Prof. Parvin's paper showed the many advantages to be derived from vocal music, and the good results obtained therefrom.

Prof. Horner of Roseburg continued the discussion saying that in his school he made charts and instructed his pupils in reading music and now his pupils can read music at sight. Prof. W. E. Yates of Corvallis read a paper entitled "Mistakes in school government. Make few rules. It is a mistake to make many." Rules are and should be results of developments, a decisive action is the establishment of rule, and the deliberate decision of the teacher of the way he can best manage his school. The speaker said corporal punishment is not to be prohibited but must be reduced to the minimum. Miss Ellen Spaulding of Portland said the teachers are not to be arbitrary, corporal punishment is out of date and must be excluded from the public schools; generally only little folks are whipped. W. H. Bendle, Indian commissioner, said his government could not compel him to inflict corporal punishment. In families where corporal punishment is most frequent the nobleness of mankind is crushed out. Prof. Frank Rigler dissented and said the army of U. S. used corporal punishment. It has not been abolished in any state. Rather sacrifice mildness to discipline. Pupils should be made to feel that the school is for their benefit entirely. Prof. M. G. Lane said that wise use of corporal punishment was beneficial to the pupil. Prof. Adams said it was unwise to take away any means of governing a school. Prof. Leatherman said reduce corporal punishment to a minimum. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Ira G. Holt and lady of California. Prof. Holt received with expressions of thanks for genial reception and hearty expressions of an earnest interest in Oregon public schools.
