THAT they may regain lost health invalids are advised by their physicians to go down by the sea waves for a little change and rest.

"HOW IS THIS," said an angry purchaser to a land agent in Nebraska, "you said that the temperature here averaged only 50 degrees for the year and now it's zero!"

OURSELVES AHEAD. It is published that the citizens of the United States average only about six dollars per capita.

A FEW MILLIONAIRES. New England can show as many as fifty millionaires, so called, but who are worth many millions each.

What old Ben Butler is worth no man knoweth but he is many times a millionaire. The Ayers family is notoriously rich, among the richest.

Goodness and Humor. Rev. Joshua Peterkin is perennial in humor as he is in goodness. One of his anecdotes in the Episcopal Council was that during a flood in the Ohio valley a relief boat went to a submerged house and found the thrifless owner peeped up in the second story.

Henry Was a Success. "Tell me, Uncle Charles," pleaded Amelia, "do you think that Henry will make a good husband?"

STANDS AT THE HEAD.

The Oregon Exhibit Stood First at the National Teachers' Association. Concerning Oregon's exhibit at the National Teachers' Association at Nashville, Tennessee, the Nashville American published there, says: The exhibits are so numerous and all so worthy of mention that it is difficult to determine which carries off the palm, especially as they differ essentially.

Special attention is due to the little party of seven who have shown such progressive and enterprising spirit in bringing this exhibition over 2500 miles. Conversation with them reveals the liberal ideas with which they come, ever ready to overlook the possible shortcomings of a Southern city, lavishly praising its every advantage, and all the while manifesting a just pride in the merits of their own state and country.

The Gospel of Justice. Col. R. G. Ingersol says: I believe in the gospel of justice—that we must reap what we sow. I do not believe in forgiveness. If I rob Mr. Smith, and God forgives me, how does it help Mr. Smith? If I slander cover some girl with leprosy of some imputed crime and she withers away like a blighted flower, and afterwards I get forgiveness, how does that help her?

It Died with Him. Fred J. Seymour, who died at Findlay, Ohio, last week, from a paralytic stroke, was the discoverer of a process of manufacturing aluminum by which the precious metal could be extracted from common clay, and so carefully did he keep his knowledge to himself that no one living is believed to possess the secret.

A Contrary Man. "Do you know," asked a woman at the Woodbridge street station the other day, "whether a small man with a lop shoulder and a cataract in his eye has been fished out of the river within the last two days?"

A Deep Dark Problem. She—it must be awfully nice, Jack, to be a great editor and to be able to sway men's minds with the stroke of a pen.

"SCRAPS."

Some of the old prohibitionists now call Massachusetts the Old Bay Rum State.

Immense forest fires in the Rocky mountains are raging in Wyoming, northern New Mexico and western Kansas.

Fierce timber fires in the vicinity of Gunnison, Colo., have been burning several days, the smoke obscuring the sun.

Sarah J. Mackin, a widow of Johnstown, Pa., who lost all her earthly possessions by the flood, has just been awarded a pension and back pay amounting to $5,906.

Poultry farming does not take a great deal of land, but with good management the harvest comes every day, and though it is small, its multiplication by all the days of the year, makes a sum that compares favorably with more pretentious ventures.

Each respectable beggar in our large cities has his particular stand or district, inside the metes and bounds of which no other beggar intrudes. And a good business they make of it. The which is merely prefatory to the introduction of a little dialogue between two Dublin professors of indigence:

First Boy—Will you cross your heart and take your oath that it is so? Second Boy—You bet I will. First Boy—Will you take your dying oath? Second Boy—Yes, I will. First Boy—Will you bet a nickel it's so? Second Boy—No, I won't take no such chances as that.

Visitor (to Bobby)—That's a beautiful new pair of trousers you've got, Bobby.

Bobby—Yes; pa said he gave $15 for them.

Visitor—Isn't that a big price, Bobby, to pay for a little boy's trousers?

Bobby—I s'pose so; but he meant when he bought 'em for himself.

"Good-morning to ye, Mrs. Fogarty" (reaches a snuff-box to offer a pinch).

"Thin good-morrow kindly, Judy; I hope I see you well this mornin'."

"So, Mrs. Fogarty, you married your daughter?"

"I did—praise be to goodness!"

"Did she get a good match?"

"Faix, thin it's herself that did! She got blind Darby Driscoll, on the Dyke, that makes more than any o' them beggars in Cork."

"I'm delighted to hear it, Mrs. Fogarty. Did you give her any fortune, Mrs. Fogarty?"

"Any fortune, is it! Ah, thin now, Judy, is insultin' me you'd be? Sure you know in your heart that a child o' mine was never married without it. Didn't I give her the best side of Patheric street, which, if well beggled, is worth seven and sixpence sterling a week?"

Tiger shooting continues to be excellent sport in India, there seeming to be no diminution in the supply of the fierce creature. An Englishman writes home: "On two occasions I shot three together; one lot in a thicket over a bullock they had killed, the other three over a 'kill' by moonlight. They were quite unsophisticated; and, as one was killed on the spot by the first shot, the others returned in a few minutes, evidently thinking it was all right, as their comrade had stayed behind. I shot one of these when the other again soon returned, and I got the three before 9 o'clock. Next day I came to a splendid mate tiger face to face and on foot. He had come to eat a dead elephant, which I had gone to look at. I shot him dead on the spot."

A Fortunate Druggist.

Mr. Edwin W. Joy for many years and now a prosperous druggist on the corner of Stockton and Market streets in San Francisco, probably never dreamed of rivaling in wealth the modest kings of the country. But various rumors having been floating around to the effect that he had struck it big, an Examiner reporter was detailed to unearth the cause, and after much difficulty unraveled the following story:

It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of botany, located in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet the few cases that came to him attracted no little attention. His success seemed to be in the treatment of liver and kidney disorders, and vitiated blood. In fact his ability to cope with these common complaints was marvelous. He seemed almost infallible, and his quiet modest methods and his well-kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure about a year later Mr. Joy determined to fathom the secret, and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor he began a systematic analysis. In his examination he discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California, so simple and so well known under homely every day names to every school boy as to entirely dissipate the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret, that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to disguise the taste, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Immediately the same marvelous stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it has created has already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. And this another California druggist leaps into the arms of Dr. Joy.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public.

Professor of History—Mr. Crimble, if Napoleon were alive to-day, what part in the game of life do you think he would prefer to play? Student—I'm sure I don't know; but he wouldn't be tall enough to play first base.

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: "He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters. The Best Residence Localities

In the city of Portland and other prosperous towns are those owned by men or corporations who have the disposition and ability to improve them.

HIGHLAND ADDITION

-IS OWNED BY-

THE OREGON LAND COMPANY!

And this Corporation is determined to

Make It The Most Attractive Addition

To the city of Salem. They have at this time fifteen teams employed and the contemplated improvements have scarcely begun. It is intended to make the drive leading from Commercial street through Riverside and Highland additions and around Highland Park

THE FINEST DRIVE IN THE STATE

Of Oregon. The line of the Salem Street Railway Company runs through the middle of this addition, and no lots will be more than two blocks distant from the line. Highland Park will in the near future be

THE MOST POPULAR RESORT

ABOUT THE CITY OF SALEM.

Lots in Highland Addition are High and Dry and Well Located; Most Excellent Drainage

The soil is black and rich. From all points a fine view is obtained of the public buildings and our highest mountain peaks. Arrangements are already being made for the location of two churches in this addition, and a number of residences are soon to be built. Buildings only of the best class will be permitted. Residence lots within the limits of the city of Salem are worth on an average over $1000. We can sell you better lots in Highland addition for one-third of the money, and being directly on the line of the street railway they are practically not half so far from the public buildings and the business part of the town as the majority of the so-called "inside lots."

Buy a Lot in Highland Addition for Three Hundred Dollars,

And let some other fellow pay $1000 for an inferior lot not so well located. With the difference of $700 you can build a beautiful cottage, or put it out at a rate of interest that will buy you nearly two thousand street car tickets every year.

A PUBLIC BENEFACTOR.

"Who is H. H. Warner, of Rochester, N. Y., whose Safe Remedies, especially Warner's Safe Cure, have attained such success and celebrity at home and abroad?" The question is inspired as much by affection as curiosity, since through his instrumentality hundreds of thousands, in both hemispheres, have been restored to health and happiness.

Hon. H. H. Warner, then, is a leading and honored resident of Rochester, not only, but a prominent and influential citizen of the United States. On several occasions chosen by his party as a National delegate to nominate a President of the Republic, he has been a member of the Republican State Committee and of its Executive Committee. He is a member of the American Institution for the Advancement of Science; President of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce; a successful and upright business man. He has given away fortunes in charities. The celebrated and costly Warner Observatory of Rochester was conceived, endowed, and is maintained by him. His munificent prizes for the discovery of comets has been at once the wonder and delight of the scientific world.

The yellow fever scourge in the South, the Ohio floods, the fire disasters of Rochester and other cities awakened his profoundest sympathies and in each instance his check for from $500 to $5,000 swelled the several relief funds. Where other wealthy men give tens and hundreds, he gives hundreds and thousands. His charities are as ready and magnificent as his enterprises and public spirit are boundless. The world has need of more such men.

An incident led him into the manufacture of medicine. Seized some twelve years ago with what the ablest physicians termed fatal kidney disease, he was miraculously restored to health by what is now known as Warner's Safe Cure. At once he resolved to make known the merits of so potent a remedy, and the consequence is that to-day he has immense laboratories and warehouses in the United States, Canada, England, Germany, Austria, Australia and Burmah. Sales of his Safe Remedies are enormous, and their power over disease simply marvelous.

The merit of a production is in exact keeping with the character of its producer. An honest and reliable man himself, Mr. Warner makes and sells his medicines—a fact abundantly attested by their phenomenal efficacy and popularity.
