At a Summer Resort. Scene—Yaquina Bay. Time—Arrival of steamer Richardson at Newport.

Passengers are hurrying to and fro, eager to land. In his hurry one man shoulders his tent and, grip in hand, starts for the gang plank, when the Captain forcibly detains him to extort an additional two bits for the privilege of landing his baggage.

Who They Are. Considerable interest is being taken in the young culprits now in the county jail with gloomy prospects before them, on account of their rash act in tampering with a switch that caused the loss of a human life, says the Democrat.

A Mismanaged Postoffice. This writer knows from personal experience that the postoffice at Newport is badly mismanaged—perhaps as badly as any in the great state. Complaint is general among the strangers there.

Why Not a Paper Mill. Farmers complain of having to handle too much straw with their grain. And when it is considered that nothing makes better paper than straw, the question arises why would not a paper mill be a paying investment in Salem?

A Coincidence. Many years ago, at his home in New Bedford, Mass., Wash. Stimpson, who has made Salem his home for a number of years, heard the wonderful story of Mr. Holden's captivity and suffering among the barbarous islanders.

Coming to Salem. The McMinnville Reporter says: The firm of Bishop & Kay has dissolved, Chas. Bishop retiring. Mr. Bishop has long been identified with the business interest of the city and has at all times proven himself a reliable, conscientious business man.

Filtering the City Water. The pile driver will be ready in a few days, when the workmen will commence driving piles around the suction of the Salem water company in the river.

More New Boats. Several of the river boats of the O. R. & N. are so old and their hulls so much rotted that they will have to be laid on the shelf by next season. The Occident is one and the Champion another.

Not Much Danger. The water works at Salem are to have a ten million gallon pump. If it should burst some day there would be a Johnstown at the Capital.

Sold at Sheriff's Sale. In the matter of sale of the Davis property at Sheriff's sale this afternoon, the land was bought by J. W. Batchelor for $2250.

The Nuptial Knot. A marriage license was this afternoon granted to Irwin S. Geer and Miss Belle Erb, both of Marion county.

News of the River. The Three Sisters arrived this morning from Portland and went on up the river. She brought a good load of general freight, and made good time in spite of the low stage of water.

July Weather Report. During July, 1889, there was no rain. There were 19 clear, 4 fair and 2 cloudy and 5 smoky days. The highest temperature for the month was 94° on the 19th; the lowest temperature for the month was 56° on the 1st; mean temperature for the month 69.9°. The average mean temperature for July in twenty years is 65.4°. The average precipitation for the month in the same time is .45 inches.

Albany and Astoria Surveyors. The Sheridan Courier says: "The surveying party of the Albany & Astoria railroad company are running lines in different directions from here, to find a practical route through the mountains to the coast. As is usually the case, no definite information could be obtained from the engineer, but in answer to the question whether Sheridan would get the road, he said: 'I can't tell what may occur, but it seems to me that the indications are favorable for the road to strike somewhere in this vicinity.' He states that the route between here and Albany is an excellent one."

The Stanley Property Sold. This afternoon F. Levy, executor of the estate of James Stanley, deceased, disposed of the Stanley farm at public sale. This farm consists of 320 acres and lies east of the asylum. The property was bid in by P. J. D'Arcy, for the state of Oregon, at $45 per acre and it is understood the same will be converted to the use of the asylum, and as there is considerable of it, the reform school may be located there.

Harvest and Grain Hauling. Harvest is rapidly passing by and farmers have begun hauling wheat to the mills. On Salem prairie a large amount of threshing has already been done, and there are a few crops that are not cut and the farmers report them so ripe that the grain shatters out.

OCCIDENTAL JOTTINGS. It is estimated that 12,000,000 grain bags will be used in harvesting this year's crop in Oregon.

It is no longer a question of doubt that a gang of counterfeiters is at work in Oregon. The country is afflicted with the presence of a lot of men of questionable reputation, and many bogus twenty-five cent and half-dollar silver pieces and $5 gold coins have been put in circulation.

The McMinnville Reporter has it from headquarters that the Astoria road will not come farther south than Forest Grove in crossing into the valley; that it will connect with the P. & W. V. (narrow gauge) at Dundee, and have its Portland depot at the foot of Jefferson street.

A party of engineers are at present in the field surveying for a railroad from Eugene to the Siuslaw country, and before another year has elapsed construction will be well under way on this line. The Siuslaw harbor has just been surveyed and proved most satisfactory and the engineer in charge will recommend a liberal appropriation by congress to improve it.

It is the opinion of the state board of horticulture that this most destructive enemy of not only the fruit, but the ornamental and forest trees as well, the San Jose scale, has secured a hold in some of the orchards in Southern Oregon, and it is feared that it will be found in other parts of the state. Careful inquiry from parties with whom the scale is found, develops the fact that they have been brought into Oregon on trees shipped from California.

The Portland Mercury has the following: The question of establishing a daily Democratic paper in this city is again being agitated. It has been understood for several months past that young Mr. Hearst, proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner, has signified his willingness to publish a first-class daily in Portland, provided a reasonable subsidy was raised by the people to show that they were in earnest about the matter. If Mr. Hearst were interested in a paper here, he would spend half a million to make it a success.

A Conundrum. A young man seated at dinner, the other day, said to his wife: "Ellen, if you are good at guessing, here is a conundrum for you: If the devil should lose his tail where would he go to get another one?"

After some time spent in guessing, she gave it up.

"Well," said he, "where they retail spirits."

Eager to get it off, she hastened to a lady friend with: "Oh, Marian, I have such a nice conundrum! Joe just told me of it. I know you can't guess it. If the devil should lose his tail, where would he go to get another one?"

Her friend Marian having given it up she said: "Where they sell liquor by the glass."

Marian didn't see the point of the joke.
