TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. DAILY. One year by mail, $5.00...

Office, corner Court and Liberty Streets SATURDAY--AUGUST 10, 1889.

Oregon Apples as Keepers. Mr. C.S. Morgan of Howell Prairie brought the JOURNAL office this morning some apples that had kept since they were gathered nearly a year ago.

Where is it? The Dallas Observer says: By the way, what has become of this railroad project? Several weeks since our citizens were quite active in the matter.

Right You Are. Posters are up announcing the meeting of the State fair at Salem, commencing September 10th and lasting one week.

Whose is it, Anyway? According to the Oregonian, "Brown's island," a few miles up the river from Salem, formerly belonged to Polk county.

Captured an Eagle. Gus Kaiser, who returned from Nectucca bay Wednesday, brought with him a large gray eagle, which he captured while there.

That Explains It. The CAPITAL JOURNAL wants to know why a railroad cannot afford to carry a man over their road cheaper than a hog.

The Last Chapters. Mr. Holden's Narrative is nearing the end and those who have or have not heard the story told should avail themselves of this opportunity of reading the heretofore untold or unpublished chapters of the tale as now being published in the JOURNAL.

Very Low Water. The river is lower than it has been for years. At Albany it registers an inch and a half below the low water mark.

What He Don't Know. The Nebraska editorial excursion of 1889 is now numbered among the has-beens, the members of the party having returned to their semi-eastern homes.

Concerning Salem the same writer manages to remark: "Salem, the capital of Oregon, is another town worthy of mention. With the exception of the normal school and university, all the public buildings are located there, and have been a great help in building up the town.

Articles of Incorporation. Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state as follows: The Gladstone real estate association with H. E. Cross, F. O. McCown and James P. Shaw as incorporators; capital stock, $68,000 divided into 680 shares of the value of $100 each.

Concerning the Cannery. A reporter of the JOURNAL this morning interviewed Mr. Henry Carpenter, who is in the city for the purpose of starting a cannery. He says that Salem is in one of the best localities in this state for starting a cannery, and that one should be started this summer.

Rough on Salem. The following is from the Chicago Herald and is altogether rather hard on Salem: "Out West," says a theatrical manager, who has just brought his company into Gotham, "they don't always do things in New York style. We played at a theatre in Salem, Or., two weeks ago, and when I asked an old gentleman with long whiskers, who was sort of general factotum about the theatre, what time they usually ran up the curtain, he said, shifting a quid of tobacco in his mouth, "Well, we don't have no regular time; we generally begin when the folks begin to stomp." So we waited till our audience got there and "stomped," which was about nine o'clock."

He Wouldn't Work. The prisoner who has been at work on the streets the last three days this morning refused to work and was given the ball and chain to carry with him. Harry Dunn who was also arrested was given the same punishment for not working, but Harry agreed to work if they would relieve him of the chain, which was done and he is at work on the streets. The other man still refuses to work.

Mr. Fishburn and wife and children, Joseph Selwood and son, Mr. Coggs and wife, Mrs. A. F. Cox, C. N. Cox, Miss Addie Cox, Nellie Boice, Miss Maggie Cosper, Miss Laura Cosper and Rev. P. S. Knight constituted the party that left this morning for Yaquina bay.

Schools Will Open. The public schools will open on Monday, September 21. The building inside has been painted and the basement is now in good order for next term of school.

A Unique Outfit. A party of gentlemen passed through this city this morning in an old fashioned stage. They are on a tour through the United States and they are taking pictures of the country and cities through which they pass.

A County Court Item. In matter of the location of a county road leading from the Green bridge to the county road leading from Marion to Salem, E. E. McKinney, Lewis Blakely and Wm. Duncan were appointed viewers to assess damages, view to be made August 15.

For Fire Cisterns. The idea of constructing additional cisterns for the storage of water in case of fire is growing rapidly in popular favor with the citizens of Salem. They are not slow to realize that the city needs better protection in case of fire and they see that nothing is quite as effectual as big storage cisterns.

The Farmers water ditch company with J. E. Strickney, M. A. Hamilton, Z. O. Hoffman, Z. H. Tucker, Wm. Craven, V. O. Wilson, I. D. Halsey, J. P. Wilson, J. O. Boyd, H. E. Gossline, James McClain, W. D. Burnap and Daniel Kinney as incorporators; capital stock $20,000, divided into 1000 shares of $20 each. The ditch is to be placed in Wallula county.

G. A. R. Circular. E. B. McElroy, Department commander of G. A. R., is busy sending out circular letters to the Oregon Post commanders and members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

One of the largest, finest and most complete exhibits of the products of Oregon, consisting of grains, grasses, vegetables, woods, minerals, fruits, etc., that has ever been secured, is now being collected, arranged and prepared in this city for shipment to Milwaukee.

The Department Commander, together with members of his staff, will accompany this excursion. The excursion will be in charge of Col. W. A. Bantz, of Lincoln Post number 4, Portland and, W. N. Ladue, of Sedgwick Post No. 10, Salem. This will be a very pleasant trip.
