A HOSPITAL will be established at Salem. This city is putting on lots of airs lately. Salem is a beautiful city. -Dayton Herald.

A RAVING maniac recently escaped from a Pennsylvania madhouse, and wandered down into Texas. He was nominated for Congress before he could be recaptured.

As a manufacturing city Salem is making rapid strides forward. The past few weeks work the commencement of operations in two cigar factories. The next will be the starting up of the woolen mills.

SALEM has heard the great Talmage. He stopped at but very few cities in Oregon, and was wise in having this city among the number. He is a great preacher and an eloquent orator. His sermons are read every week by three million people.

You can go in any direction about Salem and houses in course of construction will greet your gaze. New residence and business houses are going up everywhere and the present will be by far the greatest building year the capital city has ever known.

WAIT until Salem gets her other street car line and her motor line to Silverton—then she will go rapidly marching on to assume the proportions of a big city. The fact is, one street car line, and it four miles long, is paying, and when we have two one will help the other. Let her toon!

THIS is a prosperous year for the Willamette valley. But then all years are prosperous in this famous land by the sun-down sea. Crops of all kinds have been good, and prices are ranging pretty well up. Fruit of all kinds is plentiful and the air is filled with the shouts of the prosperous.

PORTLAND is the metropolis of Oregon and Salem is the second city of Oregon and is making a fine second. She leads in whatever she attempts. The next thing will be a hospital, and a cannery, and a box factory, and then the Salem, Tillamook & Astoria railroad.

OREGON has three men of whose records she may be justly proud. They are Senators Mitchell and Dolph and Representative Herrmann. What they have accomplished for the state may be pointed to with commendable pride and what is now in prospect will be grand achievements when completed.

THERE can no longer be any doubt but that congress at its next session will make an appropriation of not less than $100,000 for a government postoffice building in Salem. This will be a grand thing for Salem, and is something the city needs and should have without delay. Let the appropriation be made.

LOOK BEFORE YOU DRINK. The shocking mistake made by a Reading woman who swallowed crystallized white vitriol under the impression that it was a dose of epsom salts has many parallels. Hardly a week passes that the newspapers do not chronicle some blunder of the kind, and yet people continue to do the very thing they know by the experience of others to be fatally dangerous. To take medicine without label on the bottle, or to drink from a bottle or glass in a dark room, is like trifling with death, and, while some are fortunate enough to avoid a fatal error, many become victims of their own heedlessness. Unfortunately the sufferers fail to serve as a warning to their careless fellow-creatures. Like the woman who contemplates to kindle her fire with kerosene because nothing has happened to her, the people who swallow supposed medicine blindly will not be frightened by accidents to others because they have never had anything happen to them, and have an idea that escape from the perils of the past furnishes immunity from the dangers of the present.

Names tell sometimes. It is a fact that a fellow named Kuss has been locked up in Chicago for brutality to a woman.

CHAPTER XIV.

Our reception on board is faithfully described in the following certificate given by captain Short, the original of which is still in my possession:

"LINTIN, Dec. 29, 1834.—This is to certify, that on the 27th day of November, 1834, off the small island commonly called Lord North's by the English, situated in latitude 3° 3' north, and longitude 131° 29' east, on board the British brig Britannia, bound to Canton river, we observed about ten or eleven canoes, upward of one hundred men, approaching the vessel, in a calm, or nearly so, with the intention of coming alongside. But having the small complement of thirteen men, it was considered most prudent to keep them off, which was effected by firing a few six-pound shots in a contrary direction from the boats, some of which were then in pistol-shot. At the same time hearing cries in our own language, begging to be taken on board, the boat was dispatched away to know the cause. The boat returned to the ship, and reported an American on board one of them. She was then sent back, having strict orders to act with caution, and the man got from the canoe, into the sea, and was taken up by the ship's boat, and brought on board. He then stated in what manner he came there. And said he had another of his countrymen in another canoe. I said if we could get some of those boats dispersed, that every assistance should be rendered for the liberty of the other man. Accordingly they did so, all but three. The ship's boat was then dispatched in search, and soon found the other man. He was brought on board, but in a most deplorable condition with fever, from the effects of a miserable subsistence. These two poor fellows were quite naked, under a burning sun. They appeared to bear all the marks of long servitude, and I should suppose two or three days would have been the end of the last man taken on board, but from this act of Providence. It appears that these men were wrecked in the Mentor on the Pelew Island, and were proceeding with their commander to some Dutch settlement, in one of the Pelew Island canoes, when they got to the aforementioned island and were detained by the natives; and that Capt. Edward C. Barnard had got on board some ship, and reached Canton river shortly after their detention at the island, which has been confirmed by the different masters now at the port of Linton.

"The statement given in to me by the two men runs thus: That they were wrecked May 21, 1831, on the Pelew Islands, and detained on Lord North's Island the 6th of December, 1831. The two men's names are Benjamin H. Nute and Horace Holden. I should thank any shipmaster now in port, acquainted with the circumstance, to confirm it by his signature, in order to make some provision for those men should they require it. But from the disposition and liberality of those American gentlemen coming forward, that are acquainted with the circumstances, perhaps it will be unnecessary. At the same time I shall be very willing to draw up any form or in any other way according to the opinion of the American friends. I should hope that every vessel passing the aforementioned islands, passing any of their boats, will give them a trifle. I gave them what articles those two men thought beneficial, and should have held a closer communication with them had I been better manned and armed.

HENRY SHORT, Barque Britannia."

Never shall we find words to express our joy at once more finding ourselves in the company of civilized men! Nor can we be too grateful to Captain Short, and his efforts and crew, for their kind attention during our passage to Lintin. Everything in their power they did to restore our health and strength, and to render us comfortable. On arriving at Lintin we found ourselves sufficiently recovered to be able to pass up river to Canton. We remained there under medical treatment, until the ship Morrison of New York, was ready to sail, when we took passage in her for our native country, and arrived in New York on the 5th day of May 1833.

(TO BE CONTINUED NEXT SATURDAY.)

When your father's sister visits you lodge her in the aunt's chamber.

He Was Mistaken.

A man with fire in his eyes and his fists doubled up was prancing around when a policeman hailed him with:

"Are you looking for anybody in particular?"

"I should remark that I was! I'm going to smash a fellow's head the minute I find him!"

"What for?"

"He called me a crank, and I don't take that from anybody."

"I suppose you know the definition of the term?"

"You bet I do! It means a fellow who will walk into a saloon where five or six of his friends are and drink alone. I have never done it in my life, and I'll allow no man to impeach my honor."

The officer explained the term as generally understood, and the man replied:

"Is that possible? Well, then, I won't smash him. I must post up on some of these things before I get into trouble."

A Boy's Nose for Bait.

Kezka lake is twenty miles long by two wide. Penn Yan is at one extremity, Hammondspout at the other. While making passage across the lake a citizen of the former place related this story: "Some years ago a friend of mine, taking his little son along, went fishing on the lake. The boy was at the father's back at the stern of the boat. Soon a violent splashing accompanied by a stifled scream startled the father, who a moment later clutched the foot of his son, just disappearing in the water of the lake. Pulling him aboard he also landed a salmon trout five feet long, weighing forty pounds, with its teeth firmly imbedded in the boy's face on either side of his nose. The little fellow lying on the seat, his body half over the side of the boat, was narrowing his face in the lake. The fish sprang up, seizing him, and so he lost his balance. As quickly as possible the boy was taken home, a doctor and a photographer were called, and to-day a picture of the boy with the fish attached may be seen at Penn Yan." Doubting the story I was taken into a pilot-house, where the story was verified. The boy, now a young man, was pilot of the boat. He corroborated the story fully, showing me the scars on his face.

She Had a Bite.

Every one had his or her line over the rail of the boat awaiting a bite, when she turned to the young man with a downy moustache and two watch chains, and exclaimed:

"Oh, Augustus, I believe—I believe I have a bite."

"Then pull in," he commanded.

"But it may be a great big fish, and may pull me into the water."

"I won't let him."

"But if he does?"

"I will save you or we will perish together!"

"Then—then I will pull."

She pulled, and brought in a sea-robin about as big as your finger. The peril had passed. We sneered at the catch, but they minded it not. Not until that moment had they dared acknowledge their love. He was her'n and she was his'n, and they were very very happy as together they spit on their bait for mere luck.

The Bottle Said It.

He had been hanging on for some time, but as yet had not "screwed up his courage to the sticking point." She had waited patiently, but her patience was well exhausted. It was Sunday evening. That day she had stopped in at Webster's and purchased a few bottles of soda-pop. She handed him a bottle, remarking, laconically, "Pop?" He "pop-ped."

An Imaginative Story.

The heroine of a story now running in a Southern paper is made to say: "I will do the washing this time, mother, for it is the greatest of delights to me." This is a wide departure from the realistic in fiction; in fact, it reaches the pinnacle of the ideal at a bound. As the work of the imagination the story will take high rank.

"I owe you an apology, old boy," said Giles. "Never mind the apology," said Merritt, "just let me have the V."

AN UGLY DISCOVERY.

A Report that Should Be Read.

"A recent analysis in Philadelphia by a celebrated chemist of ten popular brands of Sarsaparilla discloses the alarming fact that these ten samples of blood purifiers contained in the aggregate sixteen different minerals, eleven of which were active poisons. Iodide of Potash was discovered in every sample, mercury was found in all but two, which amounts to eight out of ten brands. Not one brand was the pure article."

A reporter took the above clipping to E. W. Joy, the manufacturer of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Mr. Joy exhibited no surprise. He said druggists knew it. He said he long ago saw the crying need for a safe and absolutely pure vegetable preparation of Sarsaparilla, hence his was named Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, because it contained nothing but pure syrup of sarsaparilla, combined with the pure juices of California's vegetable alternatives. Unlike potash sarsaparilla, it does not force impurities through the skin, but stimulates the various excretory organs, thereby correcting functional derangements and eliminating all impurities through the natural channels.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public.

Merit Wins Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. L. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Would Go That Far. "Say, come into the bark and identify me, will you?" he asked of an acquaintance on the street.

"Identify you as what?"

"As John Blank."

"Why, yes, I'll go that far I guess, though perhaps it is taking a risk. I didn't know but what you wanted me to vouch for your honesty and respectability."

A WOMAN'S DISCOVERY. "Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Daniel Fry's drug store.

Congenial Companions. Wife—Sir, you're a brute! Husband (mournfully): Why can't we be congenial, then?

MARIT WISS. We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Sold by Daniel J. Fry, druggist.

His Proposal. Edger—Miss Edith, I—ah—have something most important to ask you May I—that is— Edith (softly)—What is it, Edger? Edger—May I—Edith, would you be willing to have our names printed in the papers with a hyphen between?

NINE MILLION WITCHES BURNED. Sprenger computes that during the Christian era no fewer than nine million witches were immolated. In England, the last execution for witchcraft took place in 1716, but in Illinois as late as 1780 to 1790, several unfortunates were put to death. This a terrible reflection on the boasted enlightenment of the age; but we must not be over-sensitious, while we daily see friends going down to death, ignorance or prejudice preventing the use of remedies which might save them. Many a cold runs into consumption, while indigestion and impure blood debilitates the system, inviting fatal attacks, when the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would have ensured health and happiness.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, foul breath, belching, flatulency, nausea pains in the shoulders and breast. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic promotes healthy digestion and removes all unhealthy symptoms. Sold by D. W. Mathews

Reason Enough. Politeness is always in order, but just what form it shall take depends, of course, upon circumstances. Mamma, to Flossie, who had been lurching with a little friend—I hope you were very polite, Flossie, at the table, and said "Yes, please," and "No, thank you."

Flossie—Well, I didn't say "No, thank you!" because, you see, I took everything.

It should be generally known that Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic insures a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and wakefulness and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by D. W. Mathews.

A very interesting sight is to watch a minister try to open a car window. The dramatic effect comes from what he doesn't say.

The Best Residence Localities

In the city of Portland and other prosperous towns are those owned by men or corporations who have the disposition and ability to improve them.

HIGHLAND ADDITION

-IS OWNED BY-

THE OREGON LAND COMPANY!

And this Corporation is determined to

Make It The Most Attractive Addition

To the city of Salem. They have at this time fifteen teams employed and the contemplated improvements have scarcely begun. It is intended to make the drive leading from Commercial street through Riverside and Highland additions and around Highland Park

THE FINEST DRIVE IN THE STATE

Of Oregon. The line of the Salem Street Railway Company runs through the middle of this addition, and no lots will be more than two blocks distant from the line. Highland Park will in the near future be

THE MOST POPULAR RESORT

ABOUT THE CITY OF SALEM.

Lots in Highland Addition are High and Dry and Well Located; Most Excellent Drainage

The soil is black and rich. From all points a fine view is obtained of the public buildings and our highest mountain peaks. Arrangements are already being made for the location of two churches in this addition, and a number of residences are soon to be built. Buildings only of the best class will be permitted. Residence lots within the limits of the city of Salem are worth on an average over $1000. We can sell you better lots in Highland addition for one-third of the money, and being directly on the line of the street railway they are practically not half so far from the public buildings and the business part of the town as the majority of the so-called "inside lots."

Buy a Lot in Highland Addition for Three Hundred Dollars,

And let some other fellow pay $1000 for an inferior lot not so well located. With the difference of $700 you can build a beautiful cottage, or put it out at a rate of interest that will buy you nearly two thousand street car tickets every year.
