The Capital Mills Leased. The Capital flouring mills of Salem have been leased by the Portland flouring mills company and possession will be given Sunday (September 1st). This Portland company control most of the larger mills of Oregon, including the Salem flouring mill, and the fact that the big mill is about to come under their control, perhaps permanently, is a significant one for Salem. It means rejuvenation for this valuable property and increased activity in the milling business in the capital city.

A Special Dance. At the asylum last night the usual dance was given for the patients, but as soon as the unfortunate had been returned to their wards a "special" dance was given for the benefit of those who were in attendance from the city. Prof. Diamond's quintette club furnished the music, which was up to the usual high standard. The audience room was comfortably filled and the intricacies of the light fantastic were indulged in until ten o'clock. This was the regular monthly dance and was a most enjoyable affair.

A Painful Accident. At Champeog on Monday a most painful accident occurred in which a young man named Fane will perhaps lose his arm. He was walking along by the side of a separator and in attempting to step up on it made a mis-step and fell to the ground, the wheels of the separator traveling over and crushing his arm in a terrible manner. It was crushed from the hand almost to the shoulder. Young Fane is well known in Salem, where he attended school.

Going to the East. A number of Salem people will start on Tuesday next for a trip to the eastern states. Among them are John Hughes and daughter Edith. Miss Hughes will enter the conservatory of music at Boston. Mrs. Clara Arbergast and mother, Mrs. Thompson, will stop in Ohio. Sampson Jones and wife, Fred Smith, Dr. Holmes and wife will go to New York. Dr. Holmes will attend the medical lectures at that place.

An Illustrated Weekly. For some time there has been a rumor afloat that an artistically illustrated weekly journal is to be published on the Pacific coast, and now it takes definite form in an announcement by the publisher of the West Shore that he will issue the first number of such a journal on the 14th of September. Special attention will be given to graphic illustrations of events happening on the Pacific coast, and the topics of special interest to our people. The price will be 10 cents a copy, or $4 a year.

All Speak Well of It. The state papers generally this year are speaking many good words for the coming state fair to be held at Salem for the week commencing Sept. 16. The Corvallis Times says "the fair this year will be a greater success than ever before." The attendance is sure to be greatly increased over previous years. Already many who have never before attended are expressing their intention of being present this year. There will be extensive exhibits from many places.

Changes at Chemawa. The Indian school at Chemawa does not open until Oct. 1. A few changes have been made in the employes and teachers. Dr. Miller, Clerk Morris and Mrs. Bristow, one of the teachers, will retain their positions. Miss Godley, music teacher, will sever her connection with the institution on the first of September. The heads of the manual departments will remain the same.

Two Conference Items. The Oregon M. E. conference is in session at Portland. To it the Willamette university reported the largest attendance and the greatest prosperity of any year in its history. And it was voted that the question of a theological school in connection with the Willamette university be made the order of the conference Saturday.

Yaquina's Third Week. The telegraphic columns this evening tell of another wreck at Yaquina Bay. This one, however, is not extensive, the vessel being a small fishing schooner.

Articles of Incorporation. Articles of incorporations were filed with the secretary of state to-day as follows: The Columbia and Nehalem railroad company, E. T. Jeffrey, J. C. Carson, A. Kinney, C. Rockwell, D. C. McKechee, F. A. Moore, incorporators. Their business is to build, maintain and operate a railroad and telegraph line from a point at or near the mouth of Milton creek at Scappoose bay, Columbia county, to a point at or near the mouth of Oak Range creek on the Nehalem river in the said county. The principal office is in Portland and the capital stock is $250,000, divided into shares of the value of $100 each. Also the Carbon center lead and silver mining company, the capital stock is $1,000,000, divided into 1,000,000 shares, of one dollar each. Their business is to purchase, lease and operate mines; the principal office is in Portland, Oregon, and the incorporators are D. W. Burnside, R. W. Emmons, Gerald Robertson, Nat Elliott and Geo. L. Story.

A Proposed Motor Line. If the Salem and Silverton motor line should be constructed (and there is no longer any doubt that it will be) a line will no doubt be pushed from Silverton along the foothills to Scott's mill on Butte creek. The projectors of this line propose running their line along the foothills and eventually penetrating the heavily timbered country at the headwaters of Butte creek. The road for many miles would be through a land that already blossoms as the rose, but which would flow with milk and honey when a motor line had divided it into small fruit and garden tracts. The rumor is reliable.

Charley Bowen Released. Charley Bowen, the South Salem painter who has been confined in the county jail for several days pending examination as to his sanity, was to-day released. He had sobered up in jail and the charge preferred against him was withdrawn. Charley says he is all right and declares that the only thing that was the matter with him was the great amount of liquor he had taken aboard. He says the reprimand has been a good one and that he will try and heed the lesson.

An Unnecessary Luxury. Notice is hereby given that it is dangerous for a man to die suddenly around Salem—even though it be evident that death is the result of natural causes—or the expensive and needless luxury of a coroner's inquest be held over him. The inquest held over the remains of Charley Bismarck was one of this kind. The city marshal summoned the coroner and the play was enacted, resulting in the finding of the only verdict that could exist under the circumstances—death from natural causes. Therefore it is desired that strangers sojourning here be very careful and not die suddenly, thus needlessly entailing an expense upon the county.

An Insane Commitment. James Murray, the young Dakotan who was taken in charge by the city authorities, was this morning examined for insanity, and committed to the asylum for insane. At times he is quite rational, but again is wild and unmanageable. His insanity is the result of self-abuse.

She Is Forging Ahead. The Dallas Itenizer's editor has been over to Salem and here is what he said upon returning home: "Salem is forging ahead more rapidly than any other place in the state, outside of Portland, and principally because it has been and is being advertised better than other places."

It Pays to Raise Beans. Just over the river in Polk county this season Charley and Ed. Loose have raised about seventy-five bushels of beans on six acres of land. They are selling them at $1.80 per bushel. Although wheat is a good crop in this valley it seems the raising of beans beats it.

Polk County Hops. In Polk county hop picking is in full blast. O. P. Beardsley of Eola will have over 50,000 pounds of hops, an increase over last year of 10 per cent. He has 100 Chemawa Indians at work. Dove Bros. will have 175 pickers, mostly whites. They have eighty acres and four hop houses.

Registration of Scholars. Public school begins on Monday next, and this week Clerk David Simpson's office is doing a rushing business in the registration of school children. Many more are registering this year than last, and the indications are that school will open with a large attendance.

Vigor And Vitality. Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. That tired feeling is entirely overcome. The blood is purified, enriched and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are aroused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the mind made clear and ready for work. Try it.

Fine Stable. R. A. Bybee has had built on his farm a few miles north of Salem a large stable to be used as a race horse stable. It was built by Mr. Chas. Pugh and is a very neat job. It contains ten stalls.

Notaries Public. F. D. Chamberlin of Portland, Geo. Sharer of Prairie City, Grant county, J. W. Rayborn of Corvallis, P. O. Christone of Forest Grove, were appointed notaries public to-day by the governor.

PURELY PERSONAL. —Prof. Lane returned home from Portland this morning.

—Irvin Wagner, fireman of the government tug boat, is in the city.

—Mrs. James Bachelor, daughter, and son have gone to Mehana to rusticate.

—Mrs. M. E. Baekus and Mrs. M. R. Sherman have returned home from Wilhoit springs, and report having had an enjoyable time.

—H. L. Speight, brother of Mr. Speight of the firm of Speight & Roach, arrived in the city to-day from San Francisco. Mr. Speight seemed well pleased with this section of Oregon, and it is hoped that he will make this his future home.

LOCAL SUMMARY. —L. Geier has opened up a new fish market on Court street, opposite the opera house.

—Protection lodge A. O. U. W. lost a valuable member in the death of Richard H. Dearborn.

—Admission to the state fair this year is only fifty cents for men and twenty-five cents for women.

—Track laying on the Oregon Pacific will be renewed next week and soon be completed to the summit.

—The postoffice is closed this afternoon out of respect to the deceased postmaster, Mr. Dearborn.

—Painless dental operations at Dr. T. C. Smith's, 92 State street.

—The twenty-eight convicts now engaged in making pressed brick for the new asylum wing turn out 1600 brick per day.

—Epileptic tea, paints, oils, varnish, window glass and a fine line of general groceries at Gilbert & Patterson's.

—The public schools of Salem open on Monday and the board of education has not yet succeeded in hiring a principal.

—Another survey is being made, but the shortest and best route is found to lead direct to the grocery store of Squire Farrar & Co. There you will find what you want at prices to suit and goods of a quality that is bound to please. Go now.

—The narrow gauge system issues script in payment for work and then refuses to take their own script in payment for freight or passenger fare.

—Jacob T. Hunsaker, well known among the early pioneers of Oregon, died near Woodburn, a few days ago. He came to Oregon from Illinois in 1846 and settled near St. Helens.

—J. Loey, a horse dealer, in handling a young horse last evening, stepped on some obstacle and fell, breaking a small bone in his right leg between the knee and ankle.

—Had a fire occurred at nine o'clock last night there would not have been sufficient water pressure to fill the hose even. At that hour so much pressure was taken off the JOURNAL motor died.

His Last Request. An Irishman was in the habit of going home drunk every night of his life and beating his poor wife Biddy in the good old fashion. He didn't lick her because he disliked her, but just because he thought it the proper thing to do. Finally, however, the patient woman could stand it no longer and appealed to the priest.

"Now, see here, Pat," says the good father, "I'll tell you what. You'll stop this right here. If you ever get drunk again I'll turn you into a rat—dye mind that? If I don't see you I'll know about it just the same whether ye get drunk or not, and if ye do get drunk, into a rat ye go. Now remember that—there's a good man."

The next night when he came home and kicked open the door one glance showed Biddy that he was loaded to the hat. She gauged his "jag" at once and saw that he was in fighting trim, so she dodged behind the table in an attitude of defense.

"Don't be afraid, darling," said Pat in a subdued key, as he steadied himself before dropping into a chair. "I'm not going to bat you this night. I'm not going to lay the weight of me finger on ye. I want ye to be kind to me to-night, darlin' and to remember, if ye kin, the days when we were swatehearts, and ye loved me. Ye know his river-side was here last night, and he told me if I ever got drunk again he'd turn me into a rat. I'm drunk this mornin', darlin'. The praste didn't see me, but he knows I'm drunk, and this night into a rat I go. I want ye to be kind to me, darlin' and watch me, and when ye see me gettin' littler, and the hair growin' out on me, an' me whiskers gettin' long, for God's sake, darlin', as ye love me, kape yer eye on the cat."

DIED. DEARBORN.—At his home in South Salem, Thursday August 29, 1889, at 4:45 p. m., Richard H. Dearborn, aged fifty-seven years, six months and six days.

The deceased was a prominent and well liked man, being postmaster of Salem and having for many years conducted a harness and saddlery business in this city. Mr. Dearborn was born at Madison, Indiana, February 23, 1832, and came to Oregon by way of Panama in 1853, settling in Roseburg where he engaged in the mercantile business. In 1864 he removed to Salem, where he has since resided. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his death. The funeral was conducted from the family residence this afternoon at four o'clock, the remains being interred in the Rural cemetery.

RESIDENT LOTS IN NOB HILL,

Salem, for building lots, have no equal. The whole plat is in a fine state of cultivation, seeded in clover, with a good turf. No grubs, no stumps, no rocks or gravel, soil good, elevated and level, has a fine view of the city, surrounding country, the mountain ranges and snow-capped peaks. Pure cold well water. Is twelve blocks south of the Chemeke hotel and postoffice blocks, on Commercial and Liberty streets. These lots are offered by Jones & Watson on installments, without interest until paid. They are now actually worth in cash more than the prices named for them on long time without interest. Several lots have been sold on which fine residences will be erected. If you want one or more lots call on JONES & WATSON, who will show you the plat and the lots.
