A Transparent Fraud.

"Mister, please won't you buy a bouquet and assist a sick lady?" is the appeal that a little girl has been making to citizens of Salem for the past few days. The sympathies of the charitably inclined were at once enlisted and they listened to the story. The sick lady was dying of consumption and lived at number 142 Summer street. The little girl was getting money to assist her by selling tissue paper bouquets for thirty cents each.

Sowing the Seed.

Advertisements in the JOURNAL are like bread cast upon the water—they bring their returns surely. This is strictly a home institution. It is owned here and spends all its money here. Its owners and employees spend large sums of money in Salem and they always consult the JOURNAL'S advertising columns before making any purchases.

Some More Cottages.

The owners of Yew Park addition contemplate the early construction of a half dozen cottages there. These cottages are built to be sold on the installment plan, including the lot. The sale for such houses is good and the six will no doubt be sold almost as soon as their construction is completed.

At the Fair Ground.

Work is progressing rapidly at the fair grounds. Stables for the horses are about completed and carpenters are now busy building the sheep sheds. A new booth has been built and the track is in very good order for this time of year and is worked on daily and by the 16th of September it will be in excellent condition.

How It Booms.

It is a matter of considerable gratification for the JOURNAL to state that its weekly circulation for the past few months has been increasing at a rapid rate. Hundreds of new names have been added. The paper grows in popular favor and many are beginning to recognize it as a family necessity.

Apparatus Arriving.

The Gold Mountain mining company of this city are now receiving their assayer's apparatus and will soon be prepared to assay mineral brought to them. Already they have received several samples of ores from the Santiam country. They will soon make a test of some of that rotten quartz and see what it really does contain.

The Railroad Commission.

The Senate's board of commissioners, which is now the only recognized board, is in session to-day. There is not much business before them other than correspondence, which has again grown to be quite extensive. The inter-state commission is having them consider a plan of universal reports to be adopted by all of the states.

Wheat Still Firm.

The price of wheat has fallen from sixty-five cents per bushel to sixty-three cents at the Turner mills, but the price at Salem is at present sixty-five cents. A number of farmers are selling at this price.

The New Buildings.

The masons are now at work on the Breyman and Bush blocks, and the carpenters are framing the new Minto & Lowe livery stable. These three buildings will now be hurriedly completed.

A Theological School.

At the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Willamette University, held in June last, a committee of five of its members, who were also members of the Idaho, Puget Sound, Columbia River and Oregon conferences, was appointed to present the matter of a theological department before the annual conferences for their co-operation in organizing, and as there is no institution of learning in the entire Pacific Northwest for the training of persons preparing for the Christian ministry, and as there is an urgent and ever-necessary demand for such a school it was the sense of the conference in session at Portland yesterday, that the time is now fully come that such a department in connection with the Willamette University should be commenced.

Resolved, That we recommend to the trustees of said university, to take the necessary measures for the establishment of such a school, by the election of an adequate number of professors for the same, whose duty it shall be to decide upon a curriculum of study, and procure the requisite material for the same, so that the school can begin at the earliest reasonable date after the commencement of the school year.

Bold Daylight Robbers.

Sneaking thieves entered the railroad Chinamen's house just south of the Salem depot yesterday, and stole clothes, rice, socks, etc. The robbery was not discovered until Section Boss Prunty came in from work with his crew of Chinamen. This is the second railroad Chinese camp broken into within the last three days. The citizens of this place should take warning and fasten their doors and windows so the outlaws cannot make an entrance. The Chinamen who were robbed were at work on the railroad when the robbery occurred.

The Salem Cannery.

The required amount of stock is now subscribed for the new cannery and work will commence in the preparation of buildings in a few days. This will be a great help to Salem and the surrounding country. Mr. Carpenter, the gentleman lately from Canada, is still in the city, and will remain and take the management of this new and important enterprise.

Appointments for 1889-90.

The Oregon M. E. Conference, which concluded its labors at Portland yesterday, reports the following appointments for the ensuing year: Dallas, T. F. Boyd; Stayton, W. Huriburt; Turner, Robert Booth; Amity, A. C. Fairchild; Brooks, J. W. Miller; Hubbard, C. M. Bryan; Salem, Wm. Rollins.

The Tower Contract.

It was to-day decided by the penitentiary board that the tank for the water tower would not be constructed until next spring. It was to be built of brick but as the season is so far advanced they could not be made readily and the tower will go over until next spring, when perhaps new bids will be solicited and a wooden structure erected. It would require 250,000 brick.

Preferred the Cash.

Friday, when Frank Albaugh, who was robbed of $100, called at the Silverton bank to get his checks cashed the cashier insisted upon giving him a certificate of deposit or a draft on Salem, as the bank was running low on gold, there being so many farmers drawing pay for their wheat. But Albaugh preferred to take the glittering coin. Of course it is too late to cry over poured out milk, but the unfortunate gentleman can only say with the poet, "If."

The Asylum Wing.

Bids for the construction of the new wing at the asylum were considered by the board of asylum commissioners to-day. Jackson & Huthelins of Salem were the lowest bidders, ($30,874) but withdrew their bid, and the contract was awarded to A. W. Scott of Portland for $36,323.

A Civil Action.

Justice Chase's court yesterday and to-day has been occupied with a civil action, J. L. Skinner vs. Otto Hansen. The plaintiff brought suit for damages, the defendant having built a house for him which after having been paid for in full was never completed. Damages were awarded plaintiff in the sum of $20. J. A. Carson appeared for plaintiff and Tilton Ford for defense.

Supreme Court.

J. M. Bower, resp. vs. Ben Holladay; Joseph Holladay, executor of the will of Ben Holladay, app.; appeal from Multnomah county; argued and submitted; (rehearing.) Wm. Church, Jr., app. vs. the city of Portland, resp.; appealed from Multnomah county; argued and submitted. George D. Young was admitted to practice in all the courts of this state upon certificates from the supreme courts of Indiana and Washington.

A NEW STREET RAILWAY.

The Capital City Railway Company Incorporated. Salem's second street railway company was today incorporated and will soon begin active operations in the construction of the line. Louis Kuhn, P. S. Knight and M. L. Chamberlin are the incorporators and the articles of incorporation are as follows:

II. The object of the corporation shall be to construct, equip and operate street railway lines in the city of Salem and adjoining suburbs; to own necessary rolling stock for transporting passengers over said lines; to own all necessary grounds and construct shops, barns and all other necessary buildings; to buy, sell or improve real estate adjacent to said lines and to perform all other acts necessary to carry out the objects of the corporation.

III. The principal office of this corporation shall be located in Salem, Or.

IV. The capital stock of this incorporation shall be $25,000, divided into 250 shares of $100 each.

The company will appear before the city council very soon and ask a franchise over the streets which they propose using. The line will run from Commercial street to the penitentiary and asylum, via Chemekete and State streets.

Ready For Business.

The Gold Mountain and Dry Gulch consolidated mining company opened up their office and stock books for business this morning. Their office is fitted up nicely and everything is in readiness for a grand commencement. To-day parties are down from the vicinity of the mines. They came to get stock and give it as their opinion that all the Santiam country lacks a little capital to develop it. This mining company is incorporated for the object of developing the mines of the Santiam and it is hoped they will do a big thing.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

The most of the day yesterday was taken up in registering and accepting for tuition. This morning the various classes were organized and the prospects are flattering for a heavy attendance and a prosperous year.

Several more students came in last night and this morning and more are expected on this evening's train.

There are now about sixty young men at the boarding hall and nearly thirty young ladies at the Woman's college, which is more than in former years at the opening of school.

Miss Jones of Evanston, Ill., is expected in a few days, when she will take charge of the elocution classes in the university. Miss Jones comes with the highest recommendations from Prof. Concock, professor of elocution in the Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

John M. Peables and W. T. Rigby left on the one o'clock train for Prineville, where they will be engaged in teaching the young idea how to shoot.

Prof. Clyde Cooke has been engaged to take charge of the art department of the university.

The discovery of fifty-two old Spanish coins in the cellar of a St Augustine house appears to have turned the heads of the dwellers in that sleepy Florida city. Every one wanted to have a hand in the treasure hunt and to stake out claims. It is probable the present find will prove to be all there is of the treasure and if further searches are made there will be no reward to satisfy cupidity. The modern hunters after the hoards of pirates have had hard luck, the most conspicuous instances being the fellows who dug for days on Turk's island and brought up nothing but mud.

"What's your name, Sis?" asked Cholly of the pretty waiter girl. "Pearl, sir." "Ah, you're the pearl of great price, no doubt?" "No, sir. I'm the pearl before swine."
