Not a Pleasant Situation. The street commissioner's path of duty in this city is not always strewn with roses. In fact it is an embarrassing one.

Among the many street car travelers yesterday, was a prominent merchant with his family, and while two cars passed each other on the Commercial street siding, the drivers changed cars with each other.

HOW IT HAPPENED. As soon as the accident occurred a JOURNAL reporter was on the scene and the following are the facts in the case. Dell Dismore and Homer Craven, two young gentlemen, were passing along Commercial street and their attention was attracted to the awning which was slowly sinking down in the center.

Wants Jack to Try Farming. Jack Dempsey returned home overland from San Francisco last Wednesday and went out to Wilhoit Springs to meet his wife, who he says is the best person he ever had an engagement with.

Distressing Accident. Saturday about noon Mrs. Propst, wife of Marion Propst, who lives near Albany, was riding on a street car in that city, when the horse became frightened and sprang sideways off the track.

At the Fair Grounds. A visit to the fair grounds will awaken a realization that the State fair is close at hand. Yesterday, hundreds of Salemites took advantage of a pleasant car ride and visited the grounds.

Dyspepsia. Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia than Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A SERIOUS HAPPENING.

An Old Dilapidated Wooden Awning Falls on Irving Claggett With Almost Fatal Results. Sunday afternoon about three o'clock, the city was thrown into a fever of excitement over one of the most serious and probably fatal accidents that has occurred in the city of Salem for years before.

For some time it has been realized that the numerous old wooden awnings throughout the city, were in a dangerous condition. About eighteen months ago this matter came up before the city council and at the time it met with a lively discussion.

On the east side of Commercial street, between State and Ferry streets is simply erected a lot of death-dealing traps. These are not the only ones in the city by a dozen others or more.

ONE FALLS. The old wooden structure in front of the building, No. 258 Commercial street, occupied by Schoemaker & Fishburn, and owned by John A. Rotan fell yesterday on Irving Claggett, of Independence, and to-day he is lying in a critical condition, writhing in excruciating pains from injuries received by the accident yesterday.

Articles of Incorporation. Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state to-day as follows: The Portland mutual live stock company, of Portland, with S. A. Boustin, John Kiernon, H. H. Moulton, R. M. Wilbur and W. A. Cox.

Terminated as Usual. Friday evening last, Hon. T. T. Geer decided to burn the stubble on his farm near Clymer and the result was as usual.

Street Car Travel. The Salem street car line was put in active service yesterday. From early morning until the cars were housed at ten o'clock last evening, was a continuous travel of people from one end of the line to the other.

Rushing It Toward Completion. The contractors who are putting in the new fire proof vault at the court house, are rushing the work along as fast as possible.

Resigned. Fred Baker who has acted as salesman at Weller Bros. grocery store, on the corner of Commercial and Ferry streets for some time, has resigned his position and will leave in a few days for a visit to Seattle and Tacoma, where he may possibly remain.

Arrived Safe. Ira Adams, clerk at the Chemekete hotel received word to-day that his wife had arrived at her destination, West Salem, Ohio, all safe, making that long journey in just seven days.

W. C. T. U. Meeting. The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at their hall Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

Drunk and Disorderly. One Blanchard was arrested for being drunk and disorderly, and given four days at hard labor on the streets.

DIED. BEWLEY.—In Portland, Sunday Sept. 8, 1889 Mrs. A. M. Bewley of that place.

doubt but what suit will be entered against some one, and damages asked for. It is now time that the city council should pass an ordinance and see it enforced that all the death dealing traps be removed.

LATER. At four o'clock the unfortunate victim is still no better. It is feared his injuries are greater than was first thought to be.

A SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER.

The City Officers Arrest One Augustus Straub for Selling Liquor.

Last evening City officers Glaze and Minto arrested a stranger, Augustus Straub, on the charge of selling liquor to Indians. Yesterday there was a large number of Indians camped near the depot and it seems that along late in the evening Straub visited the camp and was induced by one of the Indians to come to the city and purchase a half gallon of "fire-water."

The officers got onto the racket and arrested the gentleman near Fisher's barn. He attempted to get away but was caught and lodged in the cooler where he was searched.

On him was found a pocket-book, containing $3 or $4, and also a valuable diamond earring, valued at about $200. He claims that he never bought the whisky for the Indian, and says he has the Indian's money in his pocket yet. The officers think that probably they have arrested a well-known thief, and that the diamond has been stolen from some one.

Articles of Incorporation. Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state to-day as follows: The Portland mutual live stock company, of Portland, with S. A. Boustin, John Kiernon, H. H. Moulton, R. M. Wilbur and W. A. Cox.

Terminated as Usual. Friday evening last, Hon. T. T. Geer decided to burn the stubble on his farm near Clymer and the result was as usual. The fire got beyond their control and before it could be stopped it had consumed over 2000 good rails.

Street Car Travel. The Salem street car line was put in active service yesterday. From early morning until the cars were housed at ten o'clock last evening, was a continuous travel of people from one end of the line to the other.

Rushing It Toward Completion. The contractors who are putting in the new fire proof vault at the court house, are rushing the work along as fast as possible. Yesterday, notwithstanding it was Sunday, they worked a large force of men.

Resigned. Fred Baker who has acted as salesman at Weller Bros. grocery store, on the corner of Commercial and Ferry streets for some time, has resigned his position and will leave in a few days for a visit to Seattle and Tacoma, where he may possibly remain.
