THOSE old awnings still stand.

How does your heart go out for that proposed hospital?

DR. HARRY LANE is doing a good thing in putting in that bath house at the Insane Asylum.

THERE is not a city in the state Portland not excepted that has finer retail stores than are right here in Salem.

WONDER how much the gamblers and pickpockets love the city officers since they have read the "emigration act" to them?

THOSE AWININGS should have been removed before state fair begins, for fear the city may have a half-dozen damage suits on hands.

THERE is no longer heard, "Is Salem going to have an electric street car line?" Now it is. "The electric street car line is an assured thing."

HENRY SHAW, the St. Louis millionaire, gave that city a park worth $15,000,000. It is a new departure which we hope will have an imitator in Salem.

BOULANGER and John L. Sullivan are twins in misfortune. Each has the shadow of a jail key over him and each wishes to get into an office which neither can reach.

UNDER the absurd law and the more absurd rulings of the court, it will be almost impossible to secure a jury in the Cronin murder trial outside of an asylum of idiots.

IT is asserted that Mrs. Langtry preserves her splendid complexion by rubbing her cheeks with veal. It is also insinuated that the veal used is the cheek of Fred Gebhardt.

A POISONOUS butterfly has appeared in Japan. The touch of one causes the flesh to itch and swell and the skin to peel off. If true this discovery is of great interest to entomologists.

ARE the enterprising citizens of Salem going to stand like bashful school children, and allow other towns to draw railroads and other improvements that Salem needs to possess, before she can be able to accomplish much? Surely not.

A FLAG will soon be placed on every postoffice and government building in the United States. Secretary Windom having announced that an order is to be issued for the stars and stripes to be hoisted by postmasters and custodians of all government edifices throughout the country during business hours.

THE farmer's wife who injured herself and her child by jumping from a street car at Albany because the horse ran away, was evidently not familiar with the nature of the steeds on the street railways or the effectiveness of a heavy car as a brake. It is generally safe, under such circumstances, to stay with the car, as the ordinary horse soon gets tired of that kind of a runaway.

A SAN FRANCISCO paper says: The public will watch with deep interest for the report of the board appointed by Secretary Tracy to frame a plan for the increase of the navy. We shall learn from that whether the policy of the department will be to keep us in the front of progress, or whether the unfortunate precedent set in the reduction of the requirements for the new 2,000-ton cruisers is to be followed. The adoption of a plan of any kind will be an improvement. We have lost over a year through the custom of waiting for appropriations before beginning designs.

One admirable feature of the report has already been foreshadowed. It is that of making all the vessels in the service of the Government available for fighting purposes. We have a fleet of over a hundred craft - revenue cutters, coast-survey ships, light-house tenders and the like - outside of the navy, and it is simple extravagance not to build them in such a way that they can be useful in case of war. The whole auxiliary fleet ought to be reconstructed and the present vessels sold.

MIXED FRUITS FOR CANNING.

There are some fruits too acid to be canned alone, that are very much improved by mixing others with them. Blackberries put up with red plums or blue plums are better than either of these fruits canned separately. Plums are too tart and blackberries are quite often insipid, if of the smaller varieties, or if the season be a wet one. A very perceptible difference is shown in the amount of sugar necessary to sweeten them when canned together. The fruit can be taken half and half or in the proportion of one-third of the sour fruit.

Cherries and raspberries together make a very good sauce, stewed; also raspberries and currants, but currant seeds are very objectionable to many people. The juices of the two make excellent jelly. Raspberry or blackberry jam can be made from the following recipe: To twelve pounds of berries, take six pounds of tart apples, red Astrachan, peeled and quartered; cook the fruit together with just sufficient water for the beginning to keep the apples from scorching. Boil hard for two hours; then add twelve pounds of white sugar and boil hard twenty minutes. An extra stove lid on top of the one next to the fire will prevent the fruit from burning. Iron rings can be purchased at the tin-shop for a few cents, which are very convenient for standing the kettle on while doing slow cooking; an old pie-pan inverted will prevent the contents from burning. Jams need thorough cooking in order to insure their keeping without mold if put away unsealed.

WHATEVER may be the physical effect of opium smoking on the white races it has certainly been demonstrated by Dr. Ayers, the colonial surgeon of Hongkong, that a Chinese may be a confirmed smoker of the drug and yet enjoy good health. In the latest medical report he sums up his observations made upon a large number of prisoners in the Hongkong jail. He found that the opium smokers enjoyed immunity from cholera, although other prisoners succumbed to the disease. His conclusion is that the opium smokers had other vices, and that if he indulges in moderation he may be industrious and healthy, although he smokes opium every day. The opinion of Dr. Ayers is worthy of respect, because he has had the best means of studying the subject; but those who have watched the influence of opium on white men know that moderation in its use is the exception, and that the drug is responsible for nearly all of our pretty crime. Strong drink is less fatal to the physical and mental stamina of white men than opium. The Oriental drug enfeebles the will, corrupts the character and saps the strength. The American "fend" does not confine himself to opium, but usually indulges in other vices, so that he is the most worthless and debased creature the imagination can conceive of.

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST? "This intense competition in ocean record-breaking," said a man the other day, "reminds me of the time when the Black Hills excitement was at its height. There suddenly sprang up dozens of fast freight lines, running from Cheyenne to the new gold districts. Week by week the time of trips was cut down, until freight was carried in lightly built wagons drawn by four or six horses. They used to go dashing out of Cheyenne at a break-neck speed which would have made the fast stage lines of the California days green with envy. Like the stage lines, they had to have relay stations, and that with the incapacity for carrying heavy loads, owing to the lightness of the wagons, the expense caused by using up so much horseflesh and the competitive race-cutting, there was little money in the business. There came a crash; freighters settled down to a normal pace again and were content to live less rapidly and make a little money. I often wonder what the outcome of this ocean competition will be when steamers are built more for speed than anything else." - St. Louis Republic.

ADVICE FROM BELOW STAIRS.

"Bridget, I would give all my wealth for half of you health." "Sure, ma'am, you need only give $5, for that's the price of six bottles of 'J. V. S.', as the boys call it. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla will make you as strong as me, ma'am." Mrs. J. Barron, of 142 Seventh street, San Francisco, writes: "I have been taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla with immense benefit. It is perfectly splendid to build up nervous, run-down and worn-out women." Mrs. Barron, of 223 Erie street, Mrs. G. Werner, of 233 Betty street, and hundreds of others relate the same experience with the pure vegetable juices of this California compound.

A BLIND MAN'S SKILL.

While in the employ of the New Jersey Southern railroad a few years ago Charles H. Fenimore, of Farmingdale, had the misfortune to lose the sight of one eye, the result of getting a hot rivet from the locomotive in it, says the New York Sun. About a year afterward, while working in a marl pit at Lower Squankum, he got a small sharp pebble in the other eye. He was taken to an infirmary in New York, where every effort was made to save the sight, but he became totally blind. Revolving in his mind various projects for the support of his family, he determined to try keeping a country store. His friends endeavored to dissuade him from the undertaking, but he was resolute and opened a small store in Lower Squankum, three miles from Farmingdale. He soon showed an aptitude for the business, and accomplished things which seemed marvelous. His dwelling-house is over a mile distant from his store. At first his little daughter regularly took him by the hand at morning and evening and conducted him to and from his occupation. A little later he said he could go alone, and has done so ever since. His method is to count the steps from the front of his house to his "ore, and he has experienced no difficulty in reaching both in safety. He locks and unlocks the door and opens and closes the shutters without assistance. His son sweeps out and dusts the store, but he expects soon to do this without assistance. His sense of touch and memory are simply wonderful. Every sort of good put up in packages is so arranged under his direction that he can deal out any thing in his stock that is called for. This he does by counting the steps from either end of the counter, and the number of shelves, beginning with number one at the bottom, and enumerating the dividing spaces from either end of the rows of shelving. He weighs accurately any thing from a quarter of a pound of tea to twenty-five pounds of flour, being guided by touch in arranging the weights and the tipping of the scales. His memory of voices is so sensitive that he has never been known to make a mistake in a person's name. As a test a stranger to him was sent to the store. He was a fair mimic, and endeavored to personate a man well known to Mr. Fenimore. He signally failed, the blind storekeeper interrupting him at once and saying: "I don't know who you are, but you are not George Brewer."

MORAL DEAFNESS.

How One Woman Didn't Hear Stories of a Scandalous Nature. Physical deafness is an affliction; moral deafness is a blessing, says the Youth's Companion. "I was so embarrassed at Mrs. Chase's 'other day,'" said a young girl. "I told her that she should have her engagement ring, and when I had finished all she said was: 'Do you know where the sewing circle meets this week?'" Mrs. Chase, of whom the story was told, was a wise woman; she had discovered early in life that there are some gossips and scandal-mongers who can not be suppressed by polite means, but whose disagreeable stock in trade must be pointedly ignored. Therefore, when a malicious story was mentioned in her presence she became conveniently deaf. One day a woman much older than herself, whom she would have treated with respect, confided to her a choice bit of social scandal. Mrs. Chase impassively sewed on and said nothing. "Well, what do you think of it, my dear?" asked the tale-bearer, impatiently. "Ought they not to be ashamed to live in the style they do when they actually haven't enough to pay their debts?" Mrs. Chase held up her work and gazed at it in absorbed interest. "Now would you make that rose white or pink?" she asked, innocently. "Don't try to change the subject," retorted the other. "If you don't want to express an opinion you needn't, but you can say anything to me, you know. I shan't repeat it." "Do you know," said Mrs. Chase, in an apparent burst of confidence, "I really did not hear a word you said! Years ago I began the practice of trying to think of something else as soon as people attempt to gossip, and I've succeeded so well that now I can really make myself stone deaf to what I ought not hear."

DUDE AND MARINER.

A Would-Be Wit from the Hub is Made Sad by Jolly Jack Tar. Ladies and gentlemen of leisure who enjoy making curiosity-prompted incursions into odd localities had better pause to take bearings sometimes ere they chaff all the apparently simple folk they meet. At the Charleston navy-yard the other day, says the Boston Record, a gentleman and two ladies went on board the receiving ship, and, as usual, were escorted over the ship. When they came to the row of cannons on one of the decks, the gentleman turned to the ancient mariner in charge, who had already answered several irrelevant questions, and quizzingly inquired, pointing to the cannon: "What are these?" "Pop-guns for shooting fleas," was the prompt reply. The questioner, nonplused for a second or two, again returned to the charge. "I suppose you make them here; how do you do it?" he persisted. "Oh, first search for a round, vacant hole, and when we find it we take it up and pour hot iron around it," answered the tar, gravely. The questioner, perceiving by this time that he was getting the worse of the chaffing, and that the ladies for whose benefit he was exerting his wit were growing uncomfortable, suddenly made up his mind to leave that sailor in undisturbed dignity over his own province.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all drug stores. Price, $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Household Hints.

To set the color in black or dark hosiery, calicoes, cambrics, etc., put a large tablespoonful of black pepper into a pail of water, and let the articles lie in soak a couple of hours. Never use soap in the water when cleaning oilcloth. It fades the color and breaks up the paint. Ammonia, also is to be avoided, because it gives the cloth a dull, dead look. If a brush is used, it should be a soft one; but it is better not to use any, except in cases when the oilcloth has been long neglected or poorly washed for some time previously. Cut glass, the crevices of which readily secrete dust, needs to be washed with hot suds, and the cuttings scrubbed with a moderately stiff brush; then rinse in warm water, and wipe dry with tissue paper. To make a fine shirt bosom stiff, after starching in warm, boiled starch, dry, and then starch in some of the cold boiled starch and fold until ready for ironing. If a wrinkle should happen to make an appearance, take a small cloth wet in the starch and rub the wrinkle out and iron a lin.

Scented powders for satchets, handkerchiefs boxes, and bureau-drawer pads can easily be made at home. For rose powder, mix three ounces of cornstarch with one oforris powder, and pass through a fine sieve. Pour eight drops of attar of rose, and mix well. For violet powder, mix together four ounces of orris powder, twenty drops of essence of bergamot, and twenty drops of essence of ambergris. A WOMAN'S DISCOVERY. "Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Daniel Fry's drug store.

Queen Victoria has sent Colonel Gouraud to Paris to present Edison one of his phonographs, into which she had spoken, warmly congratulating the American inventor. MARI WINS. We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Sold by Daniel J. Fry, druggist.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at $1.00 and $1 per bottle at Daniel J. The Best Residence Localities

In the city of Portland and other prosperous towns are those owned by men or corporations who have the disposition and ability to improve them.

HIGHLAND ADDITION

-IS OWNED BY-

THE OREGON LAND COMPANY!

And this Corporation is determined to

Make It The Most Attractive Addition

To the city of Salem. They have at this time fifteen teams employed and the contemplated improvements have scarcely begun. It is intended to make the drive leading from Commercial street through Riverside and Highland additions and around Highland Park

THE FINEST DRIVE IN THE STATE

Of Oregon. The line of the Salem Street Railway Company runs through the middle of this addition, and no lots will be more than two blocks distant from the line. Highland Park will in the near future be

THE MOST POPULAR RESORT

ABOUT THE CITY OF SALEM.

Lots in Highland Addition are High and Dry and Well Located; Most Excellent Drainage

The soil is black and rich. From all points a fine view is obtained of the public buildings and our highest mountain peaks. Arrangements are already being made for the location of two churches in this addition, and a number of residences are soon to be built. Buildings only of the best class will be permitted. Residence lots within the limits of the city of Salem are worth on an average over $1000. We can sell you better lots in Highland addition for one-third of the money, and being directly on the line of the street railway they are practically not half so far from the public buildings and the business part of the town as the majority of the so-called "inside lots."

Buy a Lot in Highland Addition for Three Hundred Dollars,

And let some other fellow pay $1000 for an inferior lot not so well located. With the difference of $700 you can build a beautiful cottage, or put it out at a rate of interest that will buy you nearly two thousand street car tickets every year.
