A Plucky Brakeman.

James Roberts, a brakeman on a freight train on the Chicago and Alton railroad, deserves a great deal of credit and reputation for a deed which he recently performed solely in the interests of the corporation by which he was employed. Some tramps, who had been put off a train preceding the one on which Roberts was, boarded his train. Roberts in some way, lured them into the ice-room on an empty refrigerator car and attempted to lock them in, but the fastenings to the trapdoor on top of the car were broken and he could not lock the door, so the plucky fellow plumped himself down on top of the trap door and there he stayed. The tramps would push the door part way open and point their revolvers out, and indeed, fired several shots at Roberts, but he managed to keep out of range of the bullets and to hammer them back with a coupling pin. In this way he rode seventy miles, and then turned the whole gang over to the police of Bloomington.

That man is thrown away bracking on a freight train. Such pluck and nerve and sand as he displayed can certainly be put to a better use than coupling freight cars and skipping along their roofs and twisting the life out of himself working the old-fashioned brakes which are used on most of the freight cars. If the Chicago and Alton cannot find any better billet for him, one of the express companies ought to be able to give him a position where his peculiar qualities may be brought into play. True, he was the right man in the right place this time, but good men are too scarce to have them wasted in sitting on trap doors to be made a target of by a gang of worthless tramps.

But few plants will thrive on a wet soil. A good drain is sometimes better than manure. The warmest day of summer cannot impart sufficient heat to plants on a wet soil.

The Dock Laborers.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The work on the docks has assumed a normal aspect. Fewer non-union men are employed and many of the men engaged to fill the places of the strikers are joining the union. There have been no attacks this morning upon the blacklegs.

Three thousand men assembled outside of the Victoria dock this forenoon and demanded the dismissal of the blacklegs. The company refused to grant the demand. The men at work are guarded by the police.

The dock companies have sent a protest to Cardinal Manning and the Lord Mayor, pointing out cases of violence on the part of the strikers, and stating that a number of the men are refusing to submit to the terms of the agreement. They ask the Cardinal and the Lord Mayor to use their influence in the interest of peace.

A conference was held to-day between Cardinal Manning, Lord Mayor and the dock companies relative to the attitude of the strikers. Cardinal Manning promised that he would exhort the strikers to observe their agreement, and not molest the blacklegs. The Lord Mayor said that he would issue a proclamation against any riotous demonstrations by the strikers.

Swamp Lands.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—On motion for the review of the decision rendered by Secretary Vilas in December of 1888 revoking the approved swamp land list known as No. 5, Lake View land district, in the state of Oregon, Secretary Noble refused to reopen the case, holding that no great harm can result to the state under the decision as made, and on the contention of counsel for the state that a legal title to the land was by certification vested in the state, the secretary says, without expressing an opinion, that conceding this to be correct the department is without jurisdiction to entertain any motions or appeals of the state, and the whole question is resubmitted to the courts.

Education in Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Commissioner of Education to-day made public his annual report. In regard to education in Alaska, the commissioner states that there are thirteen teachers employed there, and in addition several mission schools and an industrial boarding-school is maintained. The commissioner suggests that the supervision of the industrial training and education in mission schools be placed under the immediate control of the government. He also recommends that native teachers be employed in public schools, and that only teachers who speak the native language be employed. In this way he thinks that natives will more readily acquire the English language and methods of civilized life.

Sold into Slavery.

MADRID, September 20.—The captain, four sailors, and one passenger of the Spanish vessel captured by the natives off the coast of Morocco have been carried into the interior to be sold into slavery. The Spanish government will make an immediate demand on the sultan of Morocco that the prisoners be restored to their liberty.

Suicide or Murder?

ST. LOUIS, September 20.—Henry Peters, a farmer aged 55, hailing from Quincy, Ill., was found on the stairs leading to the lodging-house at 614 Market street to-day with his throat cut. The windpipe is severed but Peters is still alive. It is not known whether it is a case of attempted suicide or murder.

Scientific botanists have been examining the plant life of Greenland, with a view to ascertaining whether that country belonged more naturally to Europe or America. They have decided that, from the standpoint of botanical geography, Greenland is nearly related to America. Perhaps it was a part of our continent once.

A Boston company are making rattan burial caskets. Sanitary reasons are strongly urged in its favor. In the heavy, tightly closed hard wood coffin a corpse remains a festering danger in the soil sometimes for years. In the open wicker work coffin it decays and returns to its original elements rapidly.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Thos. M. Grider, of Skipanon, will enter school Monday.

G. H. Bruce and F. L. Moore went down to Wheatland, to spend Sunday.

C. H. Spalding, of Klickitat, arrived in Salem to-day, and is preparing to enter school.

Rev. A. S. Mulligan, of the class of '88, and now located at Columbus, W. T., is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. Eades, sheriff of Umatilla county, and the editor of the Pendleton Tribune, took a look through the University the first of the week.

G. G. Miller, of Spokane, a former student of Spokane college, and W. H. Jordan, an old-time student of Willamette, will enter the Junior class Monday.

The young ladies of the Philodorian society will give an open meeting in two weeks from this evening. A good program has been arranged for the occasion.

Frank Powell, who was a student of Willamette University in '72, and David Fisher, both of East Portland, visited the university the latter part of the week.

Miss Victor, of Eastern Wash., and a sister to Miss Elvira Victor, of the senior class, arrived in the city last evening and will spend the winter in Salem.

Mrs. Combs, of Prineville, was in Salem the first of the week. She was accompanied by her two daughters, who will spend the winter at the Woman's college, attending the University.

Misses Laura Dimick and Carrie Gleason, of Hubbard, the former of the class of '89 and the latter, who will enter the senior class at the beginning of next term, spent a few days visiting friends and seeing sights at the fair.

E. R. Cox, of the Sophomore class of '88, passed through Salem the first of the week, on his way to California, where he will enter the Pacific University. Mr. Cox was a thorough student, and the Willamette's loss will be the Pacific's gain.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillette, graduates of the Iowa State University, who are recently from Ord, Nebraska, but now looking around Salem for a home, visited the various departments of the school Tuesday. They expressed themselves as well pleased with the schools of Salem. They are both teachers of high standing, and their opinion should be worth something.

The literary societies of the University have decided to publish a sixteen-page monthly journal, to be known as the Willamette Collegian, the first issue of which will appear in about a week. The design of the journal is to promote the general interest of education, and to supply a deeply felt want in the literary societies. The societies have chosen B. L. Stevens editor-in-chief, Miss Minnie Frickey and Jas. F. Aitshel associates and N. M. Newport business manager.

AUMSVILLE NOTES.

[Correspondence of the Capital Journal.]

AUMSVILLE, OR., Sept. 16, '89.

Noting statements made by your correspondent "Daisy," of Champeog, regarding hops, please allow me to ask for some information. "Daisy" says: "At thirteen cents a pound the average hop yard here will get $100 per acre." And that "Gus Hoser's yard yielded 109 boxes per acre." Taking Mr. Hoser's yard as an "average," how is it to "net $100 per acre?"

I am a novice in the hop business, but I have a few, and they yielded at the rate of 131 boxes per acre, but how to get the $100 per acre "net" out of them is what puzzles me. I am informed that a box of hops yields 12 to 14 lbs of dried product. Average, 13 lbs at 15 cents per lb, is $1.95 per box, $184.21 per acre. Picking at 50 cents per box, $54.50. This leaves $29.70 to pay for superintendents, hauling, drying, sulphur, burlap, baling, board of hands, Can it be done for that? I would like to see the figures.

F. S. MATTHESON.

We will have to allow "Daisy" to explain this as our "hop" editor is laid up on account of taking in a little too much of the fair. Ed.

William Jones, for twenty years a trusted employe of I. H. Butler & Co., educational publishers at Philadelphia, has disappeared. It is said he is $40,000 short in his accounts.
