THE new state of Washington contains 69,774 square miles; 1,922 miles of shore line; 1,200 miles of navigable rivers; 10,000,000 acres of magnificent timber, which will last at the present rate at which it is being cut, 1,000 years; 10,000,000 acres of mountain and mineral land, most of which contains timber; 10,000,000 acres of prairie and plain; 500,000 acres of alluvial bottom land.

THE Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports nine failures in the Pacific coast states and territories for the week ending September 25, as compared with the nine for the previous week and thirteen for the corresponding week of 1888. The failures for the past week are divided among the trades as follows: Two jewelers, one contracting company, one mill, one restaurant, one saloon, one general store.

THE season is at hand when hunters of all ages get their guns ready and go forth to bag the shy and secluded game. It is not impertinent therefore, to advise the sportsman not to blow down the muzzle of the gun, not to playfully point "an unloaded" weapon at a friend, and to take care when he aims at a mark it be not a human being transformed by the leaves and shadows of the woods into the resemblance of a deer. Eternal vigilance is the price of safety on the part of gunners.

SAWDUST.

There is evidently great need for a new invention for the cheap and easy utilization of sawdust, and if inventive people would study the subject doubtless something practical might be realized. In Canada the depositing of sawdust in the rivers is forbidden by law. Recently there was a conviction and fining a prominent mill owner, at Peterboro, for depositing sawdust and mill refuse in the Otonabee river, in contravention to the regulations of the department. Mr. Irvine, the defendant in the case, was fined $50 and costs, or twenty days imprisonment. In rendering judgment, the magistrate said that the evidence showed that large quantities of sawdust escaped from the defendant's mill into the Otonabee river, which river contained valuable fish and was navigable for steamers. It was well known, he said, that the mill refuse from the Peterboro mills for the past forty years had been freely emptied into the river, and that for twenty miles below the banks of the river were lined with accumulations of sawdust, and that at the detachment into Rice Lake the mouth was almost entirely closed. It is understood that the government has instructed its inspectors to rigidly enforce the sawdust regulations.

To discontinue your advertisement is like taking in your sign. If you want to do business you must let the people know it. Standing advertisements, when changed frequently, are better and cheaper than reading notices. They look more substantial and business like and inspire confidence. I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising.—Wanamaker.

A GIRL farmer in Crook county has this year put up eight tons of hay, which she cut with a pair of shears. She has for a neighbor a young man who has sold a thousand bundles of shingles made with a pocket knife.

Naming of Washington Territory.

A correspondent from Olympia to the St. Louis Globe Democrat tells how Washington was named in the following: There is an interesting bit of history about the manner in which the territory came by its name. Washington was not the choice of the early settlers of the north country. The pioneers held a convention at Montecello, on the Cowlitz river, in 1852. They wanted to sever relations with Oregon and become a separate territory. They adopted a memorial to congress. In that document they set forth their population, resources and area, and asked to be recognized as a territory with the name of Columbia. The congressional committee, to which the memorial went, reported favorably a bill and retained the name of Columbia. But when the bill was put upon its passage, a Kentucky member, Richard H. Stanton, arose and moved to substitute Washington for Columbia. He argued that Columbus had been honored by having the District of Columbia named after him, but no state or territory had been given the name of the father of his country. Mr. Stanton's amendment went through and by this change, in February, 1853, Washington Territory got the name which those desirous of having some other, were not strong enough to change.

Oregon's Volcanoes.

Joaquin Miller says he talked with an old Oregonian, within the past thirty years, who saw Mt. St. Helens in active eruption in 1842. "This old man was at The Dalles, then a Hudson Bay post, at the time and said that two inches of ashes fell there. And I read on good authority that it is a matter of record that an Indian traveling on the spur of the mountain at the time of the eruption was treated by an English surgeon at one of the British posts for injuries to his feet from hot lava, that well high proved fatal. Joseph Meek, our first delegate to congress from Oregon, told me, when a little boy, that he had seen trees that were badly burned by flowing lava, but still standing. Still, there may be some room for doubt and speculation in all this; but there is no doubt about the lava, tufa and pumice stone which you encounter at the very outset when you attempt to ascend any of these snow peaks either in Washington or in Oregon. And indeed, the very graves on the banks of the great river, here are often dug in ashes and lava, just as on the mountain sides beyond the city of Mexico."

A Senator of the Early Days.

Oliver Hampton Smith was elected senator from Indiana in 1836. When the election was over, Smith, who was a good lawyer and had been in congress eight or ten years before, took a drove of hogs down to Cincinnati, going on foot all the way. On the way he arrived at a tavern, covered with mud, unwashed and unshowered for many days. The crowd surrounded him, eager for news of the election. "Who's elected senator? Hendricks?" "No." "Noble?" "No." "Who then?" "I am." There was a dead silence for a moment, and then some one asked, "who are you?" A stump speech, with all the mud clinging to his clothes, was necessary to convince them of his right to the title of senator in the congress of the United States.

France's Sinking Fund.

The Engineering and Mining Journal describes a long series of observations that has been carried out all over France since the year 1884 for the purpose of detecting any variations of the level of the land. These observations show that a depression from south to north is in progress. While on the coast of the Gulf of Lyons no alteration of the level has been noted on the line between Marseilles and Lille, a stretch of 820 kilometers, the ground is sinking toward the north at the various rate of three centimeters yearly. Should this rate of depression continue, northwestern France would in the course of a few centuries encounter a calamity similar to that which, at the end of the thirteenth century, befell the Netherlands.

Boy and Eagle Have a Fight.

Charles Bartlett, a young lad, had a desperate encounter with a bald eagle while hunting in the Sylvan Lakes woods, near here. He saw the bird soaring above the tree tops, and shot at it.

He only succeeded in slightly wounding it, and as soon as it dropped to the ground it arose and went boldly toward the boy and began an attack upon him. The bird fought viciously with talons and beak, flying at him and endeavoring to gouge out his eyes. In the struggle, that lasted several minutes, Bartlett could with difficulty free his clothing from the long, sharp talons of the bird. Finally he released himself, and ran sufficiently far away to shoot another charge at it. This time he killed the aerial monster, which measured six feet from tip to tip of the wings.—Burlington Cor. Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Valuable Timepiece.

Chief of Police Paekard, of Hartford, Conn., carries a watch that is indeed a novelty, as well as a valuable timepiece. Without opening the watch the time of day or night to the minute can be ascertained. By pushing down a spring on the outer edge of the case, the hour is given by the striking of a miniature gong, as are also the quarter hours and minutes. If, in the night, the owner wishes to know the time, it is learned in a very few seconds, and is found out in this way: If it is six minutes to 3 o'clock, one of three little gongs will strike two; two gongs then strike alternately three strokes, each giving the three quarter hours, and another gong strikes nine—two hours, three quarters and nine minutes, making the exact time six minutes to 3. The chief said that eleven years ago the watch would cost $1,200, but at the present time the watches are sold for $450.—Boston Herald.

The Sultan of Zanzibar has issued an edict empowering the commanders of the English and German warships to search all Zanzibar boats. The decree provides that every person who enters the Sultan's dominions after November shall be free.

Gladstone says he regards Balfour's Catholic university endowment proposal as a conductor intended to divert lightning from striking the Parnell Commission at the opening of parliament.

AUNTIE PERPLEXED.

"For heaven's sake what does your mother do to you children that makes you so hungry?" "Please, auntie, she gives us Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and it's awful good." "T. S. Milton, of 111 Post street, San Francisco, writes: 'I had been ailing for weeks with a disorder of the liver and kidneys. Finally my wife, becoming frightened, procured a bottle of The California Remedy—Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It cured me right up. In fact I do so much for me that I gave it to my children, with the most satisfactory results.'"

The True Elixir Of Life Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, builds up weak and debilitated systems, gives strength to weakened nerves, overcomes that tired feeling, tones the digestive organs, invigorates and regulates the kidneys and liver, expels disease, and gives vigorous health. Young people say: "It is the best medicine we ever took." Old people say: "It makes us feel young again." So good a medicine may well be called "the true Elixir of Life." Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

THE annual report of the English postoffice department shows that during the year which ended on March 31st, 1,558,000,000 letters were delivered in the United Kingdom. Besides these there were 800,000,000 postal cards, newspapers and packages handed. In the telegraphic branch of the service nearly 50,000,000 messages were delivered. That branch, however, shows a deficit of £240,000 for the year.

A WOMAN'S DISCOVERY.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Daniel Fry's drug store.

In the Terry case, San Francisco, Deputy Marshal Nagle has been released on $5000 bonds, pending an appeal to the U. S. supreme court. Judge Sawyer declared the homicide clearly justifiable.

EPEPSY.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the liver and kidneys, will remove pimples, boils, salt rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all malarial fevers. For cure of headache, constipation and indigestion try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50cts, and $1.00 per bottle at Dan J. Fry's drug store.

The suffrage question of the Wyoming constitution requires the electors to read English, and permits women to vote.

THE VERDICT UNANIMOUS.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, Druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Daniel J. Fry's drugstore.

Thirty thousand out of 40,000 people in Jerusalem are Hebrews, and the Israelites bid fair to again become the predominant people in Palestine.

BAHUT WIS.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Sold by Daniel J. Fry, druggist.
