AN ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

An Attempt is Made to Break Into the North Salem Store Owned By W. L. Wade.

It seems that although the state fair is over that there yet remains in the city some festive thieves who attempted to ply their vocation this morning but were detected in time to save them the trouble of carrying away any property.

Chas. McClain, clerk at the store, resides close by and as his wife is ill. He was up at this time and heard a pounding or some noise similar to a person driving nails.

An investigation this morning shows that they first went to the east side and placed a box up by a window and tried to force a hole in the wall there, but it is supposed that they were afraid of being detected and removed their "workings" to the rear of the building and commenced work alongside the door.

When discovered they had removed brick enough to make an opening about eighteen inches in length and five inches in width. Had they not been discovered until ten minutes later they would have been successful in their undertaking, and this morning several hundred dollars worth of goods would have been missing.

The work shows that it was green hands at the business, as the brick wall was so arranged that the bricks could have been removed without the noise made by them.

OREGONIANS IN WASHINGTON.

Stories Told by Knights Templar of Their Pioneer Experience.—Hon. T. McF. Patton Interviewed.

A dispatch from Washington states that the Knights Templar from Oregon and the northwest are receiving considerable attention from their friends and Sir Knights of that city.

The largest portion of their time at present is entertainingly occupied by them in exchanging calls, viewing the magnificent government buildings, and the various attractions in that wonderful city.

A local paper prints the following, as related by one Oregonian, who is well and familiarly known to the many readers of the JOURNAL as one of our most worthy townsmen. "Sir Knight McF. Patton, of Oregon Commandery No. 1, arrived at this city yesterday.

"I left Chicago in 1858," he said in answer to a question, "and started West with an ox team. It took me just six months and eighteen days to get to Dallas, Or., where I settled. It seemed strange to make the return trip in three days, as I did on my way to Washington.

"The entire townsites wasn't worth a bag of beans then. I almost feel as if I am dreaming when I think of the great territory I passed over not forty years ago, inhabited only by Indians, and now go over the same ground and find great cities and prosperous communities every few miles."

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.—This morning, a farmer's team ran away, starting near the postoffice, and ran up Commercial to State street. In turning up state they ran into Bert Hatch's team, which was standing in front of Mrs. Farrar's millinery store.

In PROBATE.—In the matter of the estate of James Stanley, deceased, J. J. Shaw, administrator, sale of real property confirmed.

SHOCKING.—Why pay traveling agents exorbitant prices for rubber stamps when you can get them for less than half their prices from F. N. Dearborn, 98 State St.

INSANE.—Geo. W. Corlier was brought to the asylum to day he is 27 years of age and this is the third commitment the cause is thought to be masturbation.

RETURNED HOME.—Mr. and Mrs. Andy Gilbert returned home yesterday from their trip across the continent. Mr. Gilbert reports having a good time.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—Word reached the city this afternoon of a terrible accident that happened near McMinnville, Sunday, that resulted in the death of a young son of J. W. Shelton, Esq., living near what is known as Carlton. From the best information obtainable it seems that two little sons of Mr. Shelton, aged about seven and nine respectively, found an old revolver around the premises and in playing with it, it was discharged, the ball striking a vital spot near the heart, and death resulted almost instantaneously.

NEW EATING PARLORS.—Louis Rennie, has just opened up the most elegant set of dining rooms at the Candy Kitchen, that one need to look at. Everything is arranged artistically, and the whole surroundings are very inviting.

ARM BROKEN.—Saturday Mrs. Canus who runs a boarding house on Liberty street, went to the country to spend the day and when returning Sunday morning the wagon ran into a ditch throwing Fannie a 12-year-old girl out of the wagon to the ground breaking her arm between the shoulder and elbow.

SUPREME COURT.—Bowers vs. Holliday; judgment of the lower court modified; opinion by Thayer, C. J. On motion Wm. Groseman, of New York, L. L. Burtonson, of Washington, and J. N. Phillips, of Wisconsin, were admitted upon certificates of the supreme courts of their states, to practice in all courts of this state.

FARMERS HAPPY.—The present rains are making the farmers happy. It is preparing the soil in excellent condition for the plow, and grass is growing nicely.

EVANGELICAL CHURCH.—Regular meeting of the C. A. S., this evening, at 7:30. Program of music and reading. Important business. Everybody welcome. Mrs. C. E. Matheny, pastor.

IS RECOVERING.—Mrs. Wylie Moore, who has been quite ill for some time, is reported as much improved, and her friends will be pleased to learn that her sickness is taking a favorable turn.

THE BON TON RESTAURANT is without doubt the most desirable place in the city for a substantial meal. The coffee served at this favorite restaurant cannot be excelled.

NIGHT SCHOOL.—The evening sessions at the Capital Business College will begin next Monday evening, Oct. 7th, and will be held five evenings of each week. Hours 7 to 9 o'clock.

THAT MOTOR LINE—Will be built and Squire Farrar & Co. will continue to carry the most select stock of groceries, provisions, fruits, etc., in the city.

BEAUTIES IN GLASS.—Look in J. G. Wright's show window and your admiration will reach its highest degree on beholding the elegant, brilliant and valuable glassware exhibited therein.

Crop-Weather Bulletin.

CENTRAL OFFICE, PORTLAND, O., Oct. 5, 1889.

The temperature has been slightly above the normal. During the rainy and cloudy weather on the first two days of the week the temperature was very equable.

The rainfall has been about normal. The rain of last Saturday continued, giving by Tuesday showers in most every part of the state. Since Tuesday, except along the northwest coast, no rain has fallen in the state.

The weather conditions have been favorable to fall plowing and seeding and to the growth of grasses in Western Oregon, while in Eastern Oregon not sufficient rain has yet fallen, except in a few of the more favored localities.

Through the northern part of the Willamette valley, especially, the past week has been all that could be desired, warm showers and sunny days. Since Tuesday grass has made good growth; rain enough has fallen to insure late pasture.

This bulletin closes the season and series of bulletins (weekly) for 1889. They will be resumed on the opening of the next growing season. The monthly bulletin and report will be continued. These will contain a resume of the weather and its effects on crops and agricultural pursuits and operations.

Observer, U. S. Signal Service Asst. Director Oregon Weather Bureau.
