A Female Paradox.
A lady, old and growing older still. (As ladies will grow old; you know, became.)
In spite of age, as young as youth—but ill. And old, and wretched, feeble, lame, and sore.
A lady young became in spite of youth, As ladies will and why? Because the truth, That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp.
That truth is that woman's weakness may be Subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

EPHOC.
The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at Daniel J. Fry's Drugstore.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at E. C. Drake's Advertising Agency, 64 and 66 Merchant's Exchange, San Francisco, California, where contracts or advertising can be made for it.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.
A STRANGE CASE.
A Most Terribly Mangled Body Found In a Barrel
ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 11.—It was ascertained to-night that the mangled body found in a tar-barrel labeled "A Traitor," is that of Charles Kemper, a young man about 28 years of age, who disappeared from St. Paul under mysterious circumstances last June. He was a son of ex-Governor Kemper, the first Chief Executive of Virginia after the war. Kemper was sent to Minneapolis for his health early in the spring. He had plenty of money and did nothing but amuse himself at ball games and other open-air sports. He left the house for his customary walk, on a bright afternoon in June and was never again seen or heard of in St. Paul.
He had no outstanding bills and no plausible reason could be advanced for his disappearance. His room was left as though he intended to return within a few days. His landlady became anxious and telegraphed to his parents, thinking perhaps that he had taken a notion to return home. His parents had not heard from him. Letters were then passed, but no tidings could be had of the missing boy.
The only and ultimate theory regarding his mysterious disappearance was that he was the victim of foul play, as he was known to have carried considerable sums of money on his person at all times. He is said to have received a draft for $400 the day before his disappearance. Detectives worked upon the case, but could not fathom the mystery. There is no clue to the murderers.

SEVERE STORMS.
Johnstown Narrowly Escapes Another Flood-Snow and Rain.
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 11.—The rain for the past thirty-six hours raised the rivers to the danger point, they overflowing their banks. The temporary bridge across the Conemaugh at Cambria City has been carried away. Woodvale is flooded and some of the houses erected since the flood have been abandoned by the inmates. The excitement caused by the rapid and threatening rise of the river is slowly subsiding with the water. The river has fallen several inches in the past hour, and all danger for the time is past. Little damage was done.
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—A dispatch from the Texas Panhandle says the deepest snow in that region for twelve years is now on the ground. All the trains on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad are blocked, and nine engines are now in the snowdrift at Field station. The drifts are nine feet deep at Hawley and no trains have reached there since Tuesday.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A heavy rain fell in this section last night, and this morning it flooded many streets of the city. A heavy fog was hanging over the bay and river, and not only was the shipping much inconvenienced, but even the elevated trains were compelled to run slow to avoid collisions. At noon the fog slightly lifted.

A Carpenter Killed.
TACOMA, W. T., November 11.—Edward Butsch, a carpenter nineteen years old, fell from the roof of the new Presbyterian church here yesterday afternoon, his body revolving in the air as it descended sixty-five feet to the ground, and was fatally injured. He had a brother in San Francisco and had arrived here a few days ago.

CHAMPEAG CLIPPINGS.
Mr. Langley has bought the Elias Eberhard store and residence.
John Countryman is nursing a brace of fingers, touched by a circular saw in the mill.
J. C. C. Lewis has begun teaching in district No. 2, commonly known as the Case District.
Potatoes seem to be moving rapidly the last few days; many loads having gone to the landing. Price 35 cents to 40 cents per bushel.
Saturday, the 9th inst., saw lively times on the Smith ranch, across the river from here. Mr. Smith had sold the ranch to Mr. Setwood and last Saturday auctioned off the personal effects of the place. Scott Taylor did the wind act and made everybody happy by selling them so cheaply, that Smith was radiant with smiles. Scott is a good one, and got through with one enormous day's work in good time. About two hundred persons were present.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.
A boat containing four boys capsized on the Monogahela river yesterday afternoon and two of them were drowned.
The president yesterday appointed Charles P. Lincoln, of Michigan, second deputy commissioner of pensions, vice Joseph H. Barrett, resigned.
Sollet says the recent interview between the czar and Prince Bismarck, during his majesty's visit to Berlin, resulted in a decision to oust Ferdinand of Bulgaria from the leadership of that country.
The gigantic pool in which the leading glass manufacturers of the United States will co-operate as to the price of the product and other matters of importance to the trade, in progress of organization, will go into effect January 1st.
The long bridge connecting Cambria City Millvale, near Johnstown, Pa., was entirely demolished on Monday by the high water. The loss will greatly retard the removal of the dead from Moreville cemetery to their permanent resting place in Prospect cemetery.
The trial of the man charged with robbing Paymaster Whann, of the United States army, of $20,000 several months since, began at Tucson today. The day was mostly consumed in legal quibblings. It is thought that the trial will last a month.

MONMOUTH NOTES.
The weather is foggy but blue for farming.
Our new buildings are nearing completion very rapidly.
Mr. F. S. Barzee has been under the weather during the past week. He called Dr. Batten Sunday morning, and at this time is much improved.
We are becoming very much attached to the JOURNAL, and with a little change in the Salem mail time, so that it would arrive here early in the morning, the JOURNAL would be read by a goodly number here. We heartily join with you in praising the substantial efforts of the enterprising men of the Capital city, and just here allow your correspondent to suggest a subject for discussion among your business men. It is a well known fact that very many people of this valley have somehow acquired an idea they must go to Portland to spend their money, and Portland's business men are not slow to take advantage of such opportunities, and have very shrewdly arranged with the different lines of transportation so that it becomes very convenient for the county customer to remain there over night, and as much longer as their coin lasts. Salem could supply all the upper valley customers at as low price as Portland, and thereby not only double the business, but hold a large portion of money that today unnecessarily goes to Portland. We would much rather see our Capital city prosper and even get rich off the surplus cash that is drifting in a continuous stream into Portland. This would be a very interesting question for the Board of trade to discuss.
