BURK GONE.—About noon to-day Wm. Burk, who has been running the barber shop at 99 State street, disposed of his shop and collected all the money he could, and departed for parts unknown, and leaves those who had placed confidence in him to mourn his departure. Burk was an ex-convict, having served a year in the Oregon State penitentiary. He was sent from Eugene for larceny. This seems to be an unlucky shop, as this is the third man who run the place, that has skipped out, leaving the creditors. The list before Burk was Mr. Sedgwick, who sold to Burk, and took charge of the dining room at the Chemekete hotel, and skipped, after one week, leaving all who had credited him. The last skip of Burk was about noon when he was aboard a street car going north on Commercial street. He was overtaken by Mr. Duncan, of Duncan & Booth, who made him pay his month's rent. He proceeded on toward the fair grounds and has evidently struck for "taller timber."

A FINE PLACE OF BUSINESS.—Salem has one place of business that she is justly proud of and that is the large and handsome clothing and dry goods emporium of J. J. Dalrymple's. Mr. Dalrymple is a business man of a number of years experience and his able selection of goods is well recognized throughout the city and country. His stock of goods embraces that made by the leading manufacturers of the United States. He buys his goods in special lots and thereby secures better bargains than he otherwise could do. He is the exclusive agent in Salem for the famous "Gold and Silver" shirts. These goods are unsurpassed in quality and are made up in the best possible manner. Mr. Dalrymple's long experience in the clothing business has enabled him to understand the wants of his customers and he carries such a varied line of goods that the most fastidious can be suited. Good goods, fair treatment, obliging clerks, have won for the drygoods store of Dalrymple a household name and reputation.

The Motor line will increase values in and around the city.

COWARDLY.—The maroon-haired reporter in a little peevish squib, this morning, attempted to startle the public by saying that no charges were preferred against "young Mitchell." Well, well, how did you manage to escape from your hole long enough to make this discovery, "Brick-top?" This question is now taxing the peoples' mind more than any one thing else. No there were no charges preferred against Mitchell. He is employed to publish the news as they occur and does it without hunting his hole for fear of getting a pounding. The JOURNAL is the recipient of congratulations from worthy citizens and business men in the city over the course it has taken in regard to this matter and no maroon-haired reporter is allowed to dictate or cause the JOURNAL editor to waiver from his course of action. Our motto that adorns the editor's sanctum read: "Let no guilty party or maroon-haired reporter escape" and how well this motto is being followed out the public can judge.

SHOULD BE STOPPED.—This afternoon a reporter's attention was called to by a leading citizen about the school children playing on and near the railroad track. This afternoon the reporter saw at least ten or fifteen children on or near the track and nearly all of them in danger. School children often see the train coming and when they run down the track or across where there is danger of being killed. A rule prohibiting the children from playing around the track should be made by the teachers.

WILL REMAIN.—Mr Isaac Hammer, who is a father-in-law of L. N. White, and who came to Oregon about fourteen months ago from Minnesota, leaves Thursday for his old home in Redwood Falls, where he has property which he goes back to dispose of, and then he will return to our city and invest his money in property and make his future home. The JOURNAL wishes Mr. Hammer and his wife a pleasant trip and their safe return to Salem.

SOMETHING FINE.—Charles Pugh has the exclusive agency for Z. T. Wright's Advance Axe Grease, which he guarantees to be the best that is manufactured, and he asks the farmers and all who use axle grease, to call at his store and give it a trial. He will refund your money if it does not prove satisfactory. At his store, 156 State street, you will also find a full line of hardware and farming implements.

TONSorial ARTISTS.—Mr. Chas. Johnson and his wife have purchased the barber shop at 99 State street and are fitting the rooms up in a first-class style. Mrs. Johnson is an experienced hand at ladies' hair dressing and will give special attention to this line. She will call at any part of the city and attend orders. There will be a special room set apart for ladies at their rooms at 99 State street. Mr. Johnson will conduct a first-class barber shop.

BIDS OPEN.—The bids were opened to-day for constructing the new hall in the new wing of the asylum which were found to be as follows: Wm. Gardner & Co., $5270; J. T. Shay, $5372; Robt. Brady, $5944; Church & Lawton, $5500; Dugan Bros., $5498. The contract was awarded to W. Gardner & Co., who were the lowest bidders.

YOUNG MEN'S INVESTMENT CO.—The board of directors of the Young Men's Investment Company met at their office this morning to look after special business. The company are anxious over their future success. Anyone wishing to transact any business with the company, will call on the directors or see Geo. W. Brown at J. C. Brown & Co.'s hardware store.

Infant Child in Absence.

ANAL announces there is a child, and somewhat conglomerate, one coming to light here in Salem that promises to be of considerable interest. Several weeks ago or some time in August a child was born in this city to a woman known as Mrs. E. Taggart. The woman as soon as she was able obtained a situation in the city and placed her infant babe in charge of Mrs. Beaman, of North Salem, with the understanding that she was to pay her so much each week for caring for the child. A few days after she went to work she claims that she was in receipt of a telegram from Portland announcing the serious illness of her mother and asking her to come to her bedside at once. As it was only a few minutes time after she received the telegram until the train departed for Portland the woman did not have time to go and tell Mrs. Beaman of her departure. She went to Portland and proceeded out in the country a few miles where her mother resides and after waiting on the mother a few days Mrs. Taggart suddenly took sick and for weeks it was not known whether she would live or not. During the meantime the infant child that was left in charge of Mrs. Beaman took sick and died and was buried. The mother as soon as she recovered sufficiently wrote Mrs. Beaman that she would come up and get her child as soon as she was able. Mrs. Beaman was compelled to write the poor woman that her child was dead and buried, to these several weeks.

The poor, distracted woman came at once to Salem and found that the news was true and that her child was dead. She then paid the undertaker for the casket that bore the remains of the child to its final resting place, and also several other little bills that had been caused by the sickness of the child. The child died when only a few weeks old, and never knew the care of a mother.

Mrs. E. Taggart is a lady about twenty-eight years old and is said to be a hard working unfortunate woman, her husband having left her to battle her own way through life with the children to care for. The woman is now in Portland but will return to-morrow and it is understood will bring damage suit against certain persons in the city for slander.

The case is somewhat conglomerated but the above is as straight a story as can be woven together out of the affair.

The taxes derived from the Motor railroad in the city, will be no small revenue for the city annually.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS.—The aged Indian significantly points to the bountiful crop of acorn and hazel-nuts and predicts a cold winter. His companion soothsayer, "Old Probabilities," driven morose by "ohill November's surly blast," echoes the sentiment, adding many doleful details about winter-killed grain, perishing stock and such other cheerful prognostications as his fancy suggests, while hugging the tobacco-battered stove of the country store or postoffice. In the meantime we are within a few days of Thanksgiving, without having had an indication of snow or ice in the Willamette valley. Fuchsias, geraniums, roses and erysanthemums, though dripping with Oregon mist, bloom sturdily in dooryards. However, since there is no telling what Boreas has in store within the next three months, it will be the part of common prudence to get in plenty of wood and prepare in all necessary ways to be comfortable in case the aged Indian and the professional weather-sharp have got the right focus on the season. Yet, notwithstanding all these "probabilities," Oregon will be herself this winter the same as in the past.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.—Remember the Thanksgiving dinner at the W. C. T. U., hall on Court street, New England dinner served from 12 until 4 o'clock, only 25 cts. All donations requested to be on hand Thursday morning by 11 o'clock. All cordially invited.

ANOTHER SALE.—The Willamette Investment company sold to-day to Archer Glover that nice hundred dollar house on High street near Union. They still have the seven hundred and fifty dollar house, and lot a few doors north on same street.

NOTARY PUBLIC.—The following persons were appointed notaries public by Gov. Penney to-day: R. G. Smith, Grant's Pass, Or. Alex Sweek of Portland, Or. Ed N. Deady, of Portland and D. T. Lawton, of Medford.

Wm. Phelps has bought lots in Englewood, and will commence the erection of a fine residence at once. Mr. Phelps is the father of Wm. Howard Phelps, manager of the Salem Land Co.

THE BON TON.—It is no use to look further, the Bon Ton Restaurant is setting the best and most substantial meals of any eating house in the city.

Gibbs has been captured and has confessed to his guilt like a large number are doing that have never traded at Gilbert & Patterson's before.

Oh! Yes, there are some things we can't do, but we can sell you the purest maple syrup and buckwheat you ever eat. A. W. G. Wright's.

Your cubs, ducks, geese and chickens for Thanksgiving at Allen Rhoades. Leave your orders.

FISH, FISH.—The Baltimore fish market on Court street is the place to get your fish, poultry and game.

HAS RESIGNED.—I wish to state to the public that I have resigned my position as tailor at the Indian school and was not relieved by Supt. Irwin as has been reported. I am a Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Washington several days ago and for the following reasons: 1st, Supt. Irwin tried to turn the children in my department against me by telling them not to come to me for instructions, and 2nd, because my family have been treated with disrespect and 3rd, because the Supt. and Mrs. Irwin, the meanest, were trying to ruin the good character of my family. Therefore I found it necessary to resign. I have lived in Oregon for the past sixteen years. I have spent six years of this time in Salem and ten years in Portland and that the people of Salem know me and all about my character and I am willing for them to judge whether or not I am a man of good character. I can say further that I have never disgraced my family or been accused of dishonesty or lying. J. WEAZE.

The Motor line means more employment for our baggage and transfer companies.

DRIVEN OUT BY SNOW.—A party of eight surveyors who have been engaged in making a survey on the Lebanon wagon road, arrived in Albany yesterday evening, having been compelled to abandon further operations in the mountains owing to the heavy snow falling. They left camp last Sunday at a point about nine miles above McKinnon's and at that time over a foot of snow was on the ground. One of the party stated that a man and family nearly perished in crossing the mountains from Eastern Oregon last week. Their team, consisting of two horses and two mules, founded in the snow at the summit and two of them were killed. The man and family succeeded in getting out of the snow with the remnant of the team and reached Sweet Home Friday.

CAUSED HER TO LOSE HER MIND.—Mrs. Lucy who resides in Linn county, just across the river from Stayton, is reported to have lost her mind and fears are entertained that she will have to be committed to the insane asylum. Mrs. Lucy is the mother of Mrs. Davis, of Stayton, who recently attempted suicide because her husband went to a dance as she thought with another female, and decided to end her existence by taking poison, particulars of which were published exclusively in the Journal at the time. The conduct of her daughter has been constantly in the thoughts of the mother and has completely dethroned her reason.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEARS.—Don't fail to send twenty cents to Boys and Girls, Springfield, Ohio, for the Grand Christmas and New Years numbers of that beautiful, illustrated home magazine. Each number contains tales of adventure, scientific and historical articles, puzzles, fun, games and other interesting matter. A year's subscription would make a splendid Christmas present for a young friend. Regular price, one dollar. New subscribers, until December 20th, only fifty cents. This will include Christmas and New Years numbers. Do not delay; send immediately.

The question is not, "Who wants to be Councilman?" but "Who do the citizens and taxpayers want for Councilmen?"

BOAT NEWS.—The Champion, Orient and Modoc came up the river last night from Portland, each bringing a load of lumber for Salem and all went up the river. These boats all belong to O. R. & N. company and it is the first time for a number of years that the Orient and Champion have come up on the upper Willamette, but if the water continues to raise they can run from this time until Spring. The Modoc has been the only boat running to Salem this summer and she has had all she could do in the line of freight to carry.

CLEANING THE WALKS.—The street commissioner placed a man at cleaning up the cross-walks in the business portion of the city this morning. Until the streets are graded it will be necessary to keep one or more men constantly employed doing this work. As it has been of late it has been almost out of the question for a lady to traverse the streets.

SMALL RAFT.—A small raft of logs came down the river yesterday, for the Capital Lumbering company's mill. It was a very small raft, but they are the first that has been brought down the river since last spring. The Lumbering company have a large amount of logs ready to be brought down the river, when the water falls sufficiently for the logs to float clear of the bars.

CENTER STREET RAILWAY.—Work on the Center street railway is progressing nicely and the cars will be able to run in it soon. The track is now laid from Commercial street east to Cottage street and as soon as the track is filled in cars can run on it.
