FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8

A GOOD many people are first-class christians until the contribution box comes around.

WHEN a woman can wash flannels so that they will not shrink, she knows enough to get married.

THE legislature should seek among those high-moralists of Seattle and Spokane who offer $25,000 or $30,000 to get the Sullivan prize fight, for a clerk to the committee on Public Morals.

THE Texas legislature is trying to pass a law to eliminate that favorite utensil, the six-shooter, from Lone Star state society. If it succeeds there will be a big emigration from Texas, as many of her people won't be able to see what else there can be to live for in that state.

"POOR?" said Jodes to a young man who was complaining of his lack of worldly goods. "Of course, but think of the great men who have come to the city worth 50 cents and died worth millions." "Yes," answered the wise young man, "but I would rather come to the city worth millions and die worth fifty cents!"

"UNREQUESTED love and suicide" are becoming so frequent that it looks as if something should be done to bring into use again the old time "love powders," which were said to make people love one another under the most unfavorable circumstances. Still, however, those who commit suicide for love are generally fools, and perhaps it is better to let nature take its course.

THAT distinguished element of society which over claret during meals, champagne a little later and brandy to wind up on, is still having trouble about the propensity of the masses to indulge in malt liquors, and it is still discussing the advisability of removing from the path of the common citizen the allurements of lager beer. The moral sufferings of that distinguished element are even painful to contemplate.

EVEN in Conservative England the times are indeed changed. The cane has always been considered as necessary, a part of the schoolmaster's possessions as the spelling-book and corporal punishment prevail there to an extent that would not be tolerated here. A schoolmaster was recently sued by the father of a pupil whom he had unmercifully beaten by caning him on the hand, and the magistrate gave judgment against the padagogue on the ground that caning on the hand was attended by a risk of injury, and there were "methods of corporal punishment quite as available, efficacious and not necessarily attended by any risk, which the defendant might have used."

OUR NEW NAVY. Now that the question of ships for the new navy has been so far settled as to make it certain that we can build vessels which are fully equal in all respects to those of other maritime powers, public attention being directed to the armament for our navy that is to be. It is not generally known, perhaps, that the government owns and controls a process for hardening steel which makes the penetrative powers of our heavy ordnance projectiles superior to that of any other projectile yet manufactured. The process is a secret one, but the result has already been alluded to by the European writers on military affairs. Commodore Seward, chief of the Naval Bureau of Ordnance, has just filed his annual report and it contains many matters of general interest, among others a reference to armor-piercing shells.

This report states that during the past year the six-inch armaments of the Charleston, Yorktown and Petrel were completed and sent to the vessels, and that the armament for the Baltimore is ready. The eight-inch guns for the Charleston and Baltimore will be ready within the current year. The armaments for the Philadelphia, Bennington, Concord and San Francisco will be finished as soon as the vessels are ready for them.

The estimates for the Naval Bureau of Ordnance for the ensuing fiscal year amount to $5,545,724, which is certainly very moderate. With the present facilities for manufacturing it is probable that no more than this could be expended to advantage. There will certainly be no disposition on the part of congress to stint the naval estimates, as the sentiment of the people is practically all one way. The demand for the new navy has grown so strong as to break down all considerations of partisan politics, and democrats and republicans will vie with each other in urging the completion of an effective force of war ships, with which the United States may defend her honor on the ocean as she has already done with wooden vessels.

A SHORT WORLD. This is a short world. We may praise it or despise it, we may love or grow weary of it; but however we may esteem it, its course is very brief compared with the vastness of the world to come—the glory of the endless ages that stretch themselves before the saints of Heaven. Compared with the mighty possibilities of the everlasting state, how brief, how transient, how uncertain is the stage in which we live. Our life is a vapor that vanisheth away; our days are swift as an arrow's flight; time hastens on with restless strides, and the great, grand future of eternity rolls steadily onward to meet us as we pass the boundaries of this transient world. Oh, that we who have been charmed by earth's beauties, and entangled amid its snares, could learn how brief its story is; how soon its pomp shall fade, how soon its joys shall pass away. "The life that now is," is like one grain of sand as compared with the wide reaching shore, and the joys and pleasures that have engaged our thoughts are but notes in the sun-beam when compared with the enduring glory which shall fill the eternal existence of God's redeemed with brightness and gladness perpetual as the years of heaven. This is a short world; whether it be filled with joy or sorrow, light or shade, it matters little. Here we are to work or wait, but soon all will be over, and the eternal day will dawn; the clouds, and shades, and storms will pass, and oh, that we, when the morning breaks, may, as "children of light," be found watching and waiting, prepared for the bright and everlasting day.

WONDER whether really crime or law came first. Law came very early in the history of things. If we remember aright Adam and Eve were instructed not to eat fruit in the Garden of Eden. So it would seem that law came first and led to crime. Would they have eaten the fatal apple if they had not been told to? They were found out. How? This has been a puzzle to those clear-headed people who want facts, and reason, and other troublesome and dangerous things. Yet it is not so difficult. It must have been a green apple and the evidence was the effect. It is easy to tell the boy who has eaten a green apple to this day. It is one situation in life where presence of mind absolutely fails. And down the corridors of time has rung that irritating, exciting and upsetting commandment "Thou shalt not eat of the forbidden fruit," and it governs everything from cholera morbus to social ostracism. We have got so many varieties now of forbidden fruit that we overcome the difficulty by a little careful transplanting and grafting.

How an English Farm Hand Fares. What would the average "mam help" in our country towns think if he was required to work as many hours as the "hand" on an English farm? Probably he would content himself to think about such a ridiculous subject. He would simply not work, that is all there would be to it. But the average English laborer is not so independent, and some Americans who have been rusticated in the typical English cottage on a big farm, forty miles from London, this summer, have had their compassions greatly excited in his behalf. "Old Joe" walks two miles from the village every morning to be promptly at work by five o'clock. He never leaves off until 9 o'clock, and for these fifteen hours' labor, of the most laborious sort, he receives three dollars a week! A slaves life compared with this free Briton's is one of luxurious ease; yet in spite of all, "Old Joe" has managed to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday. A "Labor day" would be a stupendous farce for this poor old soul under the circumstances.—Boston Herald.

A Directory for a Penny. People will soon cease pestering the drug clerk by asking for a directory. The person who wishes to look up an address will only have to go to the corner of the store or step in front of any hotel or public place, or go almost anywhere, in fact, drop a penny in the slot and then read the interesting volume for hours if he wants to. The directory lies on its side on a small wooden box-like platform. The under side is nailed fast to the box, while a curved nickel-plated iron bar which runs into the box presses down on the upper cover. When the penny is dropped in a catch which holds the bar is released, the bar can be pushed back and the book opened. The reader, however, must hold the cover down tightly, for the moment he lets go the bar snaps back and only another penny will release it. A great many of the machines are already in use in Brooklyn drug stores, and they will soon be all over. It is proposed to put them on all the L road stations, too.—New York Corr. St. Louis Republic.

The Hottest Spot on Earth. The hottest region on the earth is on the southwestern coast of Persia, where Persia borders the gulf of the same name. For forty consecutive days in the months of July and August the thermometer has been known not to fall lower than 100 degrees, night or day, and to often run up as high as 128 degrees in the afternoon. At Bahrin, in the center of the torrid part of this torrid belt, as though it were nature's intention to make the region as unbearable as possible, no water can be obtained from digging wells 100, 200 or even 500 feet deep, yet a comparatively numerous population contrive to live there, thanks to copious springs, which break forth from the bottom of the gulf, more than a mile from shore.

The water from these springs is obtained by divers, who dive to the bottom and fill goat-skin bags with the cooling liquid and sell it for a living. The source of these submarine fountains is thought to be in the green hill of Osman, some 500 or 600 miles away.

A Sad Accident. Western Judge: "You are charged, sir, with being a leader of a party that hunted down and lynched a horse-thief. The days have gone by when citizens of this great commonwealth can take the law into their own hands, hence your arrest. What have you to say?" Prominent citizen: "I ain't guilty, Judge. I'll tell you how it was. We caught the fellow and tied his hands and feet. Nothin' wrong about that, was there, Judge?" "No, that was not necessary." "Well, Judge, there was a storm comin' up and we couldn't spare him an umbrella very well and so we stood him under a tree. That was all right, wasn't it?" "Certainly." "Well, the clouds kept gatherin' an' the wind was purty high, and we didn't want him blown away, so we tied a rope around his neck and fastened the other end to the limb above—not tite, Judge, jest so as to hold him—and we left him standin' solid on his feet. Nothin' wrong about that, was there?" "Nothing at all." "Then I kin be excused, can't I?" "But the man was found suspended from that tree and stone dead the next morning." "None of us had anything to do with that, Judge. You see we left him standin' there in good health and spirits, for we give him all he could drink when we said 'good-bye'; but you see, during the night the rain came up, an' I 'sposed the rope got purty wet an' shrunk a couple o' feet. That's how the sad accident happened, Judge." —New York Weekly.

The Pulpit and the Stage. Rev. F. M. Shroat, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My Lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 26 lbs. in weight." Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousands of friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at Dan J. Fry's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50c. and $1.00.

Under the presidency of Minister Phelps the Americans in Berlin celebrated Thanksgiving day with a dinner, followed by a concert and ball in the rooms of the United States legation.

A CALIFORNIA SENSATION. (Patuxeta Courier.) It is reported that the sale of the "California Remedy," Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, have grown within a few months till they are now really sensational. The way the fame of this production has spread is simply marvelous. Six months ago it was unknown. Today it is all over the country. It is authoritatively stated that they have been actually giving it away in San Francisco to people afflicted with dyspepsia, rich headaches, indigestion and liver troubles, not to be paid for unless it cured. Such practical tests are so startlingly convincing as to be almost sensational. It is stated that two of the active principles of the new remedy belong to the vegetable kingdom of California, and are so well known to us under common names that it would surprise us if told them. But we are not surprised at anything Californian, and this recent discovery of the new medicinal virtues of its vegetable kingdom is but another instance of the astonishing possibilities of a soil and climate like ours.

Catarrh

is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and

Catarrh

Catarrh

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effect to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold." Mrs. G. B. Goss, 100 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.
