MONDAY, DECEMBER 23

ONE of the henchmen of the London West End scandal is said to be in hiding at Seattle with his family.

THE San Francisco Examiner very strongly endorses Senator Mitchell's resolution on the Chinese question. His work is greatly appreciated all along the coast.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE, the son-of-a-literary-father, is writing a history of Oregon. If it is not gotten up on the penny-a-line basis, as too many such works are, it may be a good thing.

THE Democratic press are trying to nominate Hon. D. P. Thompson, of Portland, for governor on the Republican ticket. It would be in excellent taste if Democrats would allow republicans to make their own nominations, for it would suit their political preferences better. We do not know, at present, any claim that Mr. Thompson has upon the republican party, and we believe the candidate for this position will come from Eastern Oregon—perhaps from The Dalles or vicinity.—The Dalles Mountaineer.

THE—owchoo!—influenza is headed this way, and the public is warned to prepare for it. From Europe has come many an unwelcome guest, but this last consignment is one of the least agreeable that has reached Columbia's shores in many a day. The effete monarchs of the Old World have sneezed until their crowns shook, and their subjects have "owchoo'd" their false teeth and hair onto the sidewalk. Indeed, so prevalent has been the disorder that it has given rise to a new form of slang commendation, and when anything is just about right now, it is said to be "Quite the sneeze."

CONGRESSMAN WHEELER, of Alabama, has introduced a bill to incorporate the Military Order of America. The bill proposes the incorporation of a society which is to bring together a fraternal and beneficent association, non-sectarian and non-political, between those who were in the War of the Rebellion. The order is to have a building in Washington to be used as a memorial building, and as a Military and Naval Museum and Library, wherein will be deposited copies of all government publications. Provisions will be made for the interment in the court of this building, of the remains of General Grant and the erection of a suitable monument to his memory and to all other soldiers, sailors and marines who served during the war.

THE Atlanta Constitution of Nov. 22, 1889, gives an account of a divorce case in Texas involving the question of religious liberty. The petitioner for the divorce set forth as the ground of his petition that a band of religionists calling themselves "sanctificationists" held, among other things, that it was sinful for a female sanctificationist to live with a husband that did not believe in the doctrine of sanctification; that his wife had become a sanctificationist, and thus a "destroyer had crept into his home and made desolate all that was once happy." It seems that the case was presented to a jury, and the jury granted a decree of divorce. The wife appealed the case to the supreme court. There the decree was promptly set aside.

THERE are two ways of ridding the country of the national nuisance known as the civil service commission, one by keeping in the treasury most of the $53,000 it says it must have annually in order to live, and thus starving it to death, and the other by abolishing it outright. Senator Farwell, of Illinois, favors the starvation process, and Senator Vance of North Carolina has introduced a bill wiping the law that created it from the statute book. We can be reconciled to either plan if it is successful, but the honest, manly, straight-forward way is to pass the Vance bill. That is what the people would do by more than nine tenths majority if they were given a chance, and it is what congress will do if senators and what congress will do if senators and Mr. C.'s have the courage of their convictions.

THE Roseburg Plaindealer is agitating the building of a railroad from that point to Coos Bay. If the citizens of that town act on the Plaindealer's advice their town will rapidly step to the front.

SENATOR MITCHELL has presented a memorial from the Washington legislature, asking for legislation declaring the forfeiture of the Northern Pacific land grant between Wallula, Wash., and Portland, Or. The memorial sets forth that no line has been built between these points, but the right of way is occupied by another road and there is valuable land there which ought to be opened to settlement.

A Correspondent's View. In looking over the Junction City Pilot of December 10th, the following communication was noticed, which may prove a shining light to some of our readers, and is published by numerous requests. Following is the communication verbatim:

ALBANY, Or., Dec. 10, 1889. ED. PILOT:—Your Scio correspondent has invented a new candidate for Governor in the person of Irwin, the present steward of the asylum for the insane at Salem. He does not deny that Irwin is a republican, but undertakes to show that his talents and patriotism are far removed above party considerations.

All good democrats of course desire to continue the party power, but your correspondent, "who is a bedrocker," and represents a large majority of the democrats of this state, wishes to put himself on record as uncompromisingly opposed to going into the ranks of the enemy to obtain by any means a leader or candidate to be placed at the head of our ticket at the coming state election. I want a candidate of unquestionable ability, iron nerve and spotless in the democratic party. Dr. Harry Lane is a man possessing all these qualifications and I shall insist upon his nomination, and do all in my power to secure his election. As an exhibition of the doctor's learning, it is well known that he is able should his steward, Irwin, fail. He can closely approximate the number of cords in a rick of wood of given length, breadth and height, or estimate with precision the value of a string of sausages at a given sum per link. It is also notorious that when, in his wisdom he concludes to insert barbarous republican hands into the State Treasury that no one presumes to criticise. Should he turn away scores of competent and deserving democrats and send east for republican employes, his intimate friends would understand it to be one of his deeply laid plans to strengthen the democratic party. Should a patient be found dead outside the walls, or any other such trifling accident occur about the institution and both republican papers of Salem carefully exclude any notice of it in their columns, it would be another exhibition of his shrewdness in gathering in those two concerns to aid in building up the democratic party. Should he return after a two week's absence with three trout which cost the state three hundred dollars and give the largest one to Irwin, all bedrockers would mark his sagacity in detecting in his inferior officer a crying necessity for brain food, and that the investment was a good one for the state. Should he grant special favors to republican dealers in supplies for the institution, it ought to be regarded as another cunningly devised plan to strengthen the democratic party. Should he introduce Irwin to republican members of the Legislature as the man with whom he "knocked out Penoyer," it would only be one of his peculiar methods of building up the democratic party.

The most creditable part of Gov. Penoyer's administration is clearly traceable to our candidate, Dr. Lane; while any blunders which may have taken place, are acts performed without consulting him. No one can successfully attack Dr. Lane's political record. He is strictly moral and an uncompromising prohibitionist, as every Grand Juror who has visited the institution officially will cheerfully attest.

As the time for electing a new governor is close at hand I trust the intelligent masses of the democrats will give their prayerful attention and see that their candidate is nominated by acclamation and elected by an overwhelming majority. The state is clearly democratic provided they put forward for office genuine party men like Dr. Lane. BEDROCKER.

Mrs. J. C. Croly (Jennie June) has been elected president, and Mrs. Sarah J. Lippincott (Grace Greenwood) and Mrs. Mary E. Bryan vice presidents of the New York Women's Press Club.

James S. Carlton, an aged man now living in Baltimore, Maryland claims to have been the first discoverer of the peculiar effects of cocaine. He says that as early as 1849 he knew the properties of the drug, and made use of it in his own family.

THE YOUNGEST SOLDIER.

He Was Not Eleven Years Old When He Enlisted as a Volunteer.

The Wisconsin legislature having awarded a gold medal to H. E. Francisco, of Mason City, Iowa, as the youngest soldier of the late war, the old discussion has been opened and a number of claimants have come forward to show that he is not entitled to rank as the youngest of veterans. Mr. Francisco was about 14 years old when he enlisted. C. H. Wynn, of Sioux county, claimed to have been only 13 years and 11 months old when he entered the service, J. L. Kiplinger was 13 years and 4 months, and Andrew F. Links, of Chicago, was 13 years and 3 months old. But Chicago has another young veteran who is saying nothing, though he beats the record by three years nearly. This is Gilbert Van Zandt, the adjutant of Hancock post, No. 509. Mr. Van Zandt entered the service August 31, 1862, when he was 10 years, 8 mos. and 11 days old. He enlisted at Port William, Clinton county, Ohio, and served in Company D of the Seventy-ninth Ohio regiment. He was mustered into the service by a special order obtained from the war department two months after his enlistment. He served to the close of the war and was mustered out at Camp Denison, June 6, 1865. He drew a soldier's pay and did a soldier's duties, was in the fight at Resaca, but was afterwards assigned to duty at headquarters to carry dispatches. When the regiment was on its way home, the pony which young Van Zandt rode through the war was taken from him in Washington, and he was refused either permission or transportation for it to his home. The boy walked up to the White House, told his story to President Johnson, and the order for transportation for his pony was signed by the president himself. If any of the veterans can beat the record of Mr. Van Zandt, let them show their papers.

AN UGLY DISCOVERY.

A Report that Should Be Read.

A recent analysis in Philadelphia by a celebrated chemist of ten popular brands of Sarsaparilla discloses the startling fact that these ten samples of blood purifiers contained in the aggregate sixteen different minerals, and six of the ten brands. Iodide of Potash was discovered in every sample, mercury was found in all but two, which arsenic existed in six of the ten brands. Not one brand was the pure article. A reporter took the above clipping to E. W. Joy, the manufacturer of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Mr. Joy exhibited no surprise. He said druggists knew it. He said he long ago saw the crying need for a safe and absolutely pure vegetable preparation of Sarsaparilla, hence his was named Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, because it contained nothing but pure syrup of sarsaparilla, combined with the pure juices of California's vegetable alkalies. Unlike potash sarsaparilla, it does not force impurities through the skin, but stimulates the various secretory organs, thereby correcting functional derangements and eliminating all impurities through the natural channels.—San Francisco Examiner.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes that Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System.
