The Largest Flower.

In the farthest southeastern island of the Philippine group, Mindinao, upon one of its mountains, Parag, in the neighborhood of the highest peak on the island, the volcano Abo, a party of botanicial and ethnographical explorers found recently, at the height of 2500 feet above the sea level, a collosal flower. The discoverer, Dr. Alexander Schadenberg, could scarcely believe his eyes when he saw, amid the low-growing bushes, the immense buds of this flower, like gigantic brown cabbage heads. But he was still more astonished when he found a specimen in full bloom, a five-petaled flower nearly a yard in diameter—as large as a carriage wheel, in fact. This enormous blossom was borne on a sort of vine creeping on the ground. The native who accompanied Dr. Schadenberg called it bolo.

The party had no scale by which the weight of the flower could be ascertained, but they improvised a swinging scale, using their boxes and specimens as weights. Weighing these when opportunity served, it was found that a single flower weighed over twenty-two pounds. It was impossible to transport the fresh flower, so the travelers photographed it, and dried a number of its leaves by the heat of a fire. Dr. Schadenberg then sent the photograph and dried specimens to the Royal Botanical Gardens, Breslau, where the learned director immediately recognized it as a species of Rafflesia, a plant formerly discovered in Sumatra, and named after the English governor, Sir Stamford Raffles. The new flower was accordingly named Rafflesia Schadenbergia.

The five petals of this immense flower are oval and cream white, and grow around a center filled with countless long violet-hued stamens, thicker and longer in the fertile flower than in the infertile.—The Gardener.

The Flour Moth.

In Ontario, says the Toronto Globe, a new insect has appeared—the flour moth (Ephestia kuhniella), which promises serious trouble and injury to millers and all others whose business it is to handle flour. The Ontario board of health has issued a pamphlet containing a description and cuts of the moth, an account of its ravages, and advice as to the best measures for its extermination. The moth it is said, came in with milled goods imported as food for children from a port on the Mediterranean. There it is a dreadful scourge. Its first appearance was in the month of March, 1889, when a single moth was seen flying near the Ontario mill. In July the moths and worms became so numerous that the mill was shut down. Later the work of taking remedial measures, however, fell to the Ontario government. Mr. Blue, the deputy minister of agriculture for Ontario, visited the mill and called in Dr. Bryce, secretary of the provincial board of health, who dealt thoroughly with the question of prevention. He advocates "a rigorous quarantine of grains coming from Mediterranean ports," and advises every miller to become thoroughly acquainted with the appearance and habits of this moth, and to destroy any that he sees.

American Geological Society.

There are two meetings in each year held by the America Geological Society, one in connection with the American Association for the advancement of science, and the other at some convenient place during the holidays. Accordingly the annual meeting was held December 26, 27, 28, 1889, in the large hall of the American Museum of Natural History in New York city. The museum is at the intersection of 8th Avenue and 77th street. The president is the venerable Professor J. D. Dana, of Yale University. The secretary is Professor J. J. Stevenson of the university of New York, from whom further information may be obtained. It may be added that numerous papers have already been offered as material from which a programme can be made out. Among the eminent names we notice those of Sir William Dawson, J. S. Newberry, C. H. Hichcock, A. Winchell, Persifor Frazer, W. M. Davis, and A. S. Bickmore, all of whom have offered geoligical papers, from which a full and varied programme may be made out. Besides these there are several communications from Robert Bell and other scientific gentlemen of Canada concerning glacial phenomena occurring in Canada and Alaska.

Miss Hattie Blaine, the secretary's youngest daughter, who is to make her debut in Washington society this winter, is described as the beauty of the family.

The wife of a New York banker has invented a machine for making wire rope, the patent of which she has sold to a San Francisco firm for $25,000 cash and a royalty.

For the Public Good.

It is an indisputable fact that the handsomest vestibule trains that are now run on the American continent are those on the Burlington route, leaving from Union depot in Denver, also St. Paul, immediately on arrival of all through trains from the west. The first and second class coaches are magnificent, the reclining chair cars suburb, the Pullman sleepers extremely luxuriant, and as for the meals that are served in those palace Burlington dining cars—yum yum. The next time you go east to Kansas City, Chicago or St. Louis, if you mention to the ticket agent that you want your ticket to read from Denver or St. Paul over the Burlington route, you will get it, and you will always be glad of it.

If you go via the Northern or Canadian Pacific, the elegant vestibule trains of The Burlington Route, between St. Paul and Chicago, or St. Louis, will carry you along the eastern shore of the Mississippi river for a distance of 350 miles, amidst scenery that cannot be surpassed; or, if you go via the Oregon Short Line or Southern Pacific, and your ticket reads via The Burlington Route from Cheyenne or Denver, you will pass through all the thriving cities and towns located in what is popularly known as the Heart of the Continent.
