NO TRUTH IN THE REPORT.

That Vardemon Scott Has Killed Himself.

Special to the Capital Journal. McMinnville, Or., Mar. 27.—There is no truth whatever in the report appearing in the Salem paper and telegraphed from Salem to the Oregonian that Vardemon Scott had committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Mrs. Odell Passing Away.

Special to the Capital Journal. Portland, Or., Mar. 27.—Mrs. Gen. W. H. Odell is slowly passing away, and she may not be among the living when you go to press. The doctors, after consultation, decided to remove the tumor which has been eating her life away, but their attempt was not successful. Her remains will be brought to Salem for interment in the Lee Mission cemetery.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The eastern railroad war is over. Potatoes three cents a pound at Portland.

Oxford won the race on the Thames March 26, over Cambridge.

Archbishop Michael of Milwaukee died March 26, after a long illness.

The eight year old son of A. F. Campbell at Portland, drowned in the river.

The treasurer of the democratic state of Maryland, is reported a defaulter.

The Postal department appointed A. L. McCully, of Portland, as railway postal clerk between Portland and Astoria.

The Avenue Decorative whist club spent an enjoyable evening at the home of Deacon Waite and lady on State street last night.

Judge Lafayette Mosher, a pioneer of 1853, and once on supreme bench, died at Roseburg on the 26.

Wednesday it was reported at Salem that Vardemon Scott, son of Wm. Scott, near Wheatland, had killed himself.

The Monmouth scandal proved entirely unfounded and the students who caused the investigation are reported to have been hung in effigy.

An order from Portland contractors of the Union Pacific railroad, who want 1500 able-bodied men for Oregon and 500 for Utah to work on the Union Pacific extensions, has been posted in San Francisco.

At the request of Senator Mitchell the postmaster-general has issued an order extending the mail route from Salem to Lewisburg, Or., so as to embrace the end at Argenti, Or., to take effect July 16.

Sometime in May the members of the classes in natural sciences, of Willamette university headed by Professor Arnold intend to make a trip to that grand old volcano, Mt. Jefferson, and to be gone not less than a week. The intention is to go up the Willamette as far as the Santiam and follow up that river.

Athena Press: The farmers of the Mississippi valley are all in arms, and their shield is the Farmers' Alliance. However, our big Dailies do not state that farmers are all most a unit in favor of the abolishing of the American National Banking system; the old Greenback party principles are just going to be honestly endorsed by the producing class.

The annual Sunday school convention of Yamhill county, was held in the M. E. church, of LaFayette, on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The friends and Evangelical schools of Newberg were well represented. In the absence of the officers, Jesse Edwards was elected to preside and Mrs. Gilky served as secretary.

Dallas Observer: Another serious cause of depression, he says is the exorbitant share of the farmer's products taken by middlemen and carries. An army of dealers in futures disturbs the natural flow of trade and checks importation by a temporary rise, to be followed by lower prices and greater fluctuations. Speculators depress prices when farmers are full, and boom them when farmers have nothing to sell, as a present. The community is infested by a pestilent swarm of non-producers. The curse of speculation blights and consumes the result of honest industry.

Extra large and fine line of clothing coming in daily at the opera house corner—Capitol Adventure Co. 3-24-90.

The "Steel" Bridge.

To the Editor of the Capital Journal: A statement made by "Steel" in yesterday's JOURNAL in regard to what the report of that engineer (unknown to fame), contained, may mislead persons who have not read the papers. "Steel" says: "In the matter of location it is well to say that this engineer reported that one, two and three streets, and in those degrees, north of the old site were better and more secure locations for the bridge than the old." Now in the face of the fact the report of this engineer was published in full in both the papers, and was silent in regard to location, this is a pretty barefaced one. However I understand that if he had been willing to incorporate such an opinion in his report substituting south for north, he would have received the $250 purse that was raised by the syndicate of kickers, composed of malcontents from all causes including property owners who oppose all taxes for public improvement, and a number who are opposed to any bridge not landing on their own street, instead of the paltry sum of 25 which he did receive for the report, which only damned with faint praise the old bridge, the plan of which he approved in the main, but laid the blame of its failure on the contractors.

"Steel" wants a high priced bridge but is kicking because the city proposes to give so much; but the funniest part of his communication is his solicitude for those who will hold the bonds. He threatens us with the supreme court, the same old gag he tried to use four years ago, but he is trying to frighten the wrong fellow; could his fears be realized the city could not be compelled to pay the bonds, but perhaps "Steel" is in the habit of holding bonds and naturally looks at that phase of it.

I think the question of the kind and quality of bridge to be built is quite as safe in the hands of the constituted authorities as it would be in "Steel's." No one man should be permitted to "run things" for the public and I have no fear, especially after the public expression of their sentiments on this question by Judges Shaw and Stouffer, but that the vote next Monday will be an almost unanimous expression of confidence. GOOD BRIDGE. SALEM, March 27, 1890.

The Oregonian says of Bill Nye at Portland last night: As to Nye himself, he is certainly the prince of humorists. His loquacious, his artistically awkward manner and his unique intonation, without going into the meat of what he says, abundantly proves this. The audience began tittering upon his appearance and kept it up all the time he was on the stage, except when they stopped to roar over his remarkable turn of a sentence—a full fledged sentence, bristling with humor, wit, pathos and happy satire.

A timely article on spring care of orchards from that renowned authority on fruit, Mr. Clarke, of Salem, will appear in next JOURNAL. The inimitable Bill Nye to-night, at Reed's.

Democratic Central Committee.

The democratic central committee for Marion county met in Holmes & Hayden's office yesterday afternoon and was called to order by B. N. Hayden, Jr., who stated the object of the meeting. The members present were: B. N. Hayden, Jr., chairman, James Coleman, secretary, W. W. Elder and T. F. Hays. Robert Thompson and S. L. Hayden were chosen as committee members, vice F. E. Eldridge, deceased, and Gaines Fisher, removed from the county.

The apportionment for the county convention was made on the vote cast for Governor Penneyer in 1889, allowing one delegate for each 10 and a fraction over 5 vote, making a convention of 172 delegates.

The recommendation of the state committee was adopted, fixing Saturday, April 12th, as the time for holding the primaries and fixing the date of the county convention as Thursday, April 17th.

The county convention will be composed of delegates from the various precincts as follows:
