GILBERT & PATTERSON,

Dealers in Groceries, Crockery, Glassware, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Windowglass, Etc. Sole agents for Epicure Tea and Big Can Baking Powder.

FOR JUDGE.—A Mehana correspondent of the Silverton Appeal says: "Mehama is a small figure in the convention, having only five delegates, but when it comes to supporting the party ticket it can always be relied on as solid and now without apology or hesitation we introduce our candidate for county judge Mr. G. P. Terrell. Mr. Terrell is a man well known in Salem and Marion county as a business man; he has few equals as to his ability to fill said office, no one has a doubt, having held the office of county commissioner for four years at one time, we have only to refer to his record as a positive fact of his qualification to fill the office of county judge. Mr. T. will have a solid delegation from Mehana and Horeb precinct, let us all pull for G. P. Terrell.

UNKIND.—For some reason or other the State Democrat local takes occasion to employ personalities towards Miss Hallie Parrish, a talented young woman of this city who is earnestly engaged in supporting herself by her abilities as a vocalist. The Democrat's diversions in this line are not very kind, to say the least, and subject Miss Parrish to a good deal of annoyance. "The latest fling is as follows: 'The Tennessee Jubilee Singers held forth at and in conjunction with the M. E. church in this city on Wednesday night to a large audience. We were unable to be present on account of our rheumatic affliction, but we are informed by a competent judge who was present that our friend Hallie could give any one of the colored chirpers ten points in the game and then discount the 1.'

LUMBERING.—Messrs Robert and Byars returned this morning from Glendale, to which point they have been as representatives of the Glendale Lumbering company, re-ceiving and accepting the plant lately purchased of Mr. Sol Abraham. All of the stock owners, with a couple of exceptions, were present and spent much time in looking over the entire field, and Mr. Robert assures the writer that they were more than pleased with their purchase. The timbers, lands and mill were much better than represented. One of the largest stock owners, who has enjoyed considerable experience in the lumber business, declares he would not take four times the amount of his purchase price for his present interests.

STILL LIVELY.—Mr. Harry Singleton, a faithful and popular attaché of the secretary of state's office, has had more than his share of physical trouble recently. Some two months ago he sprained his ankle and has invited the aid of crutches since then. The past week the injured member has been very painful, and Harry has been compelled to seek medical assistance. During the week he has suffered greatly, but it will be pleasing to his friends to know that today he is feeling much better, and with his grit he will be as lively as a kitten in a short time.

FINE STORE ROOMS.—The work of refitting the large brick building on Commercial street near the corner of State is progressing rapidly and will soon be ready for occupancy by the extensive hardware and machinery firm of J. C. Brown & Co., and their immense stock will have therein as fine quarters as can be found on the Coast.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.—From the farm of Cal Geer, 12 miles east of Salem, one very dark iron gray horse, almost black, except in the face, five years old. A liberal reward will be paid for information leading to the return of the horse. J. W. Crawford.

Happy Hoosiers.
Wm. Timmons, Postmaster, Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for than other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of some place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made to feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at Frye Druggists."

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The Slight Rain Has Cooled the Heated Browsers and Quiet Reigns Supreme.

During the early morning knots of busy and enthusiastic politicians were visible throughout the city, discussing in quiet but earnest manner the expectations of the day at the primaries. At 11 o'clock the polls were opened in Salem, East Salem and North Salem precinct, with two tickets in each and the greatest difficulty this reporter has recently experienced is in distinguishing these tickets by a name. The different candidates for the county offices appeared of the opinion that whatever ticket was successful they would fare well in the county convention, and the general impression was prevalent that the several tickets meant more of a state than a county combination. Therefore, in giving the lists of delegates voted for it cannot be said that they represent anybody and they will therefore be given as representatives of the opposing lists in the three precincts are here appended:

SOUTH SALEM PRECINCT.
In this precinct the contest was an open one and with the usual good nature of the republican voters of that precinct the following representative citizens were chosen to represent their interests: Wm Armstrong, Jas Warner, Adam Ohmart, W H Simpson, Thos H McLeure, A W Drages, Wm Jory, I Needham.

The polls in Salem and East Salem having closed at 3 o'clock, the JOURNAL's desire to reach its readers in early season prevents the possibility of obtaining exact figures. The polls in North Salem close at 5 o'clock, so it is impossible to give exact data, but the ticket headed by T. P. Welch is understood to be away ahead.

Rather Conflicting.
The Statesman of April 5 has this editorial item:
It looks like prohibition is a dead duck in Iowa. It has been pronounced a failure by the governor, the democrats and a large percentage of the republicans of that state. The crank wave that swept the country a few years ago is subsiding mightily fast.
The telegraph column of the same paper says:
WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Post has been interviewing the Iowa senators and representatives on the probability of the repeal or modification of the Iowa prohibition law. The result is a substantially uniform expression of belief that the law would stand unrepented. In this interview they very generally expressed the opinion that the law has been a benefit and decreased crime.

THE BOATS.—The Orient came down from Corvallis last evening, and the Champion from Harrisburg, both carrying good loads, consisting mostly of wheat, of which they had 400 tons. The N. S. Bentley came down from Corvallis, also well loaded with wheat and all three proceeded to Portland this morning. The Wm. M. Hong came up last evening, making four boats at the Salem docks and showing that river traffic is in a lively condition.

THE PLANTER'S WIFE.
The people of Salem have been informed from time to time recently of the preparation by Salem's dramatic talent of the play whose title heads this article. The director of its management is Mrs. Hazen, an accomplished lady who has had extensive experience on the stage, and the characters chosen for the several parts are strongly indicative of her good judgment.

The plot of the play shows a strong conception of dramatic effect. It is a heroic love story, with sufficient of the ludicrous thrown in to make it particularly enjoyable. The location is the South and all the heroic features of the gallant Southern men are brought out. It is impossible to give an intelligent synopsis of the beautiful drama, but the people of Salem will know that the ladies and gentlemen taking part would never lend themselves to the production of any piece not acceptable to the high taste which is well recognized in this city. It can be well said here, however, that Mrs. Hazen, who is a connoisseur, declares she never met such pleasing dramatic talent as is represented in the following:

CAST OF CHARACTERS.
Albert Graham, G. W. Morris.
Harry Livingston, Dr. J. M. Keene.
Arthur Blake, Henry Meyers.
Simcoe Simple, Billy Dugan.
Edith Gray, Miss Jeanne M. Long.
Dora Graham, Miss Nellie Gilbert.
Angie Gordon, Miss Leona Willis.
Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Hazen, nee Jessie Booth.

SUS INTER GENTES.
The senior class at the [Williamette university] had a most enjoyable time last evening, the occasion and its program having been arranged as a burial service to the text book on international law used in the institution, to which book they have a terrible aversion, on account of its large amount of technicalities and what they consider meaningless expressions only intended to retard the progress of young minds in the studies followed. The program was unique in its mourning drapery and the exercises were of the highest order, considering their burlesque intentions. The rendition of the program was followed by a balloon ascension, which was a perfect success. Following was he order of exercise.

Forty stallion licenses are issued in Marion county. Owners of purebred stallions should be required to publish pedigrees, as there are a good many grade horses in the county.

Jones & Bernardi don't try to rob the boys, but the girls do insist on having their candy.

How about that property on the Garden road? Well, its going. This morning State Librarian J. B. Putman, bought, through the Salem Land Co., the beautiful little five-acre garden tract and residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mosher near the Garden road, for $2300 cash. There are only a few more bargains in that neighborhood, call and let us show them to you. Salem Land Co. Postoffice block.

Advertising is the expression of the spirit of enterprise and of a daring competition. The possessor of ready money has a certain vantage ground, and he will not be at the trouble of inspecting a number of shops to ascertain at which he can buy the best goods at the lowest prices; the onus of showing that our goods are better than those of others rests with ourselves.

The Golden Opportunity.
One hundred copies of Cassell & Co's new edition of the Bible Gallery, Dante's Inferno, Milton's Paradise Lost and Purgatory and Paradise just received at Patton's book store. These books are most elegantly illustrated by Gustave Dore, and nicely bound. During the holidays the demand exceeded the supply and it was impossible to obtain them. These books are listed at $4 but are offered for the remarkably low price of One Dollar and Fifty Cents Per Copy. Remember that those who fail to supply themselves entirely will be left as they were during the holidays.

Don't Feel Well.
And yet you are not sick enough to consult a doctor, or you refrain from so doing because you will alarm yourself and friends—we will tell you just what you need. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will lift you out of that uncertain, uncomfortable, dangerous condition, into a state of good health, confidence and cheerfulness. You have no idea how potent this peculiar medicine is in cases like yours.

To Home Seekers.
The Capital City railway company is prepared to tell home-seekers something to their advantage. Mr. David Simpson has taken charge of their real estate department at 115 State street. Call and see him.

Remarkable Rescue.
Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a victim of consumption and no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles at Frye Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1.00.
