At your request I purchased samples of the Royal Baking Powder in open market, which I examined chemically and compared with a number of others bought at the same time.

The package not only contains full weight, but an excess of 2.5 per cent. I detected no impurity or adulteration, and I consider this baking powder to be uniform, pure, reliable and equal if not superior to any I have examined.

I find one pound of the Royal to contain 200 cubic inches more available Carbonic Acid gas than the best of the others.

BOOTH'S REBUKE.

Two Silly Actor-Admirers Get Some Good Advice.

The other morning Edwin Booth was very much startled when a waiter at the Mount Vernon hotel brought two cards to his room bearing the names of two ladies unknown to him. The waiter said the ladies were pretty and were waiting in the parlor. In a few minutes Booth made his appearance in the parlor, and much to his surprise he found two young and very pretty society girls, one of whom was a debutante last season. They informed him they had attended every performance since his arrival in Baltimore, and had become so fascinated with him that they had decided to call. For a few minutes Booth said nothing. First he looked at their cards, which he still held in his hand, and then at the girls, who blushed and became very much confused. At last the silence was broken.

"Young ladies," said Booth, "I happen to know the names on these cards are assumed, and if I only knew your real names I should most certainly inform your parents what you have done. Now, take my advice, go home, and don't ever run to see an actor again, for the next interview might not be so pleasant."

The young ladies departed, and have been very much alarmed ever since lest their parents should find them out.—Baltimore American.

Feminine Fancies.
One inch of fur is very stylish trimming for a short jacket.

An attempt is being made to put bright-colored sleeves in low-toned dresses.

Women of short stature, plump figure and short neck are cautioned against the high billowy sleeve.

Kneelers of plush filled with balsam buds are used in some of the fashionable churches by aesthetic devotees.

The crimson dress and black underwear worn by Fannie Rice, has been adopted by some of the elegantes of Murray Hill.

Light, warm shawls, of fluffy wool, convenient and pretty for general wear, will be restored to favor as soon as the winter is over.

The flower hat is an outcome of the flower bonnet. Broad-brimmed, wire frames offer a resting place for pansies, daisies, narcissi, lilacs and forget-me-nots.

Braiding and embroidery are much in vogue, for demi dress toilets, but the street costumes are simply finished with pipings of velvet, and the effect is excellent.

The spring bonnet, while a unit, is extremely composite, such blossoms as the snowball, hydrangea, oleander and bovardia, being applied to cover the entire frame. Insets of Brobdiganian proportion are also used as garniture, and a huge bee, a dragon fly, a gull and a butterfly may be seen in bouillon effects overspreading the pattern bonnets.

A Letter From Mr. Geer.
To the Editor of The Capital Journal:
MACLEAY, Apr. 7.—A free trade correspondent of your paper propounds the following conundrum, "How does a protective tariff raise and maintain the wages of the laborer?"

Answer: Of course if a tariff of 47 per cent enhances the cost of a manufactured article the entire 47 per cent, as all democrats claim, then it of course enables the manufacturer to pay his operatives 47 per cent higher wages than he could possibly do under free trade.

There can be no doubt that he would cheerfully increase his laborer's wages out of sheer good will toward them, because the democrats assure us that if we put wool on the free list, we will thereby give them the raw material so cheap that they can afford to pay the wool growers a higher price for their wool, and thus guarantee a high price for the cheap raw material.

This is the democratic position fairly stated, and if protection adds 47 per cent to the ability of the manufacturer to pay higher wages, of course the same humanitarian principle that impels him to voluntarily pay a high price for cheap wool will prompt him to more liberally reward his operatives.

I am surprised that such a conundrum should come from a democrat.

Now, I desire to briefly notice John P. Robertson's article concerning the "original greenback idea." He proposes that the government issue money directly to the people, said money to be based in the credit and property of the nation.

All governments are burdens, more or less, to the people living under them, but the modern greenbacker regards the people as being a burden to the government. The fact is that the people have to supply money to the government, but the modern greenbacker hugs the delusion that the government should supply money to the people.

No government ever issued a dollar of redeemable paper money without increasing its indebtedness to the amount of that dollar, just the same as when a farmer issues a note for $1000 based on his "credit and property" he simply increases his indebtedness to that amount.

The "original greenback idea" to which you say the republican party is still "committed" was forced upon it by the exigencies of war. The government created all its indebtedness by the issuance of different forms of paper money, and it cannot issue such money now to the people without creating an indebtedness that the people would in time have to pay.

"The original greenback idea" is as dead as Julius Caesar and any party that is "committed" to it should be speedily "committed" to some refuge for the insane.

The government cannot any more than an individual, issue a million dollars in paper money without incurring an indebtedness equal to that amount, and when it issues the million dollars "to the people," the people turn around and pay the debt!

Surely, the man who lifted himself over a Presbyterian church steeple by his own boot straps was a man who still clings to the "original greenback idea."

Crop-Weather Bulletin.
The weather bureau, co-operating with U. S. signal service, for Oregon reports for week ending Saturday April 5th, 1890, as follows:

WEATHER.
The temperature has been higher, but yet below the average for this period of the year. The rainfall was in light showers, and well distributed. Snow fell in Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam, Morrow, Grant, Crook, and counties to the south on Mar. 30th, but generally disappeared the same day. Snow also fell on the higher elevations of Western Oregon on the 30th. The amount of sunshine has increased, but is yet less than is usual the fore part of April.

WHEAT.
The most encouraging reports as to the appearance and prospects of the winter wheat crop are received. But little fruit was frozen out. Some spring wheat is already up and is promising in appearance.

FRUIT.
Trees are backward in budding and blossoming. Through Benton Co., blossoms are plentiful. Wasco Co. along or near the river has also blossoms on peach, pear and cherry trees. The peach trees were generally slightly injured by the hard winter, but other fruit and berries promise bountiful yields. Warmer weather and more sunshine is needed to develop the fruit blossoms.

GRASS.
The grass is growing finely in all parts of the state, but like other growing vegetation needs warm sunshine.

SOIL, ETC.
The soil continues to be so wet, especially on low or bottom lands, as to retard working it. Plowing and seeding are being rapidly pushed when possible. The wet soil will necessitate much summer fallowing. The stock is rapidly recovering from the effects of the severe winter. Though a late season, yet the prospects for excellent crops were never better.

B. S. POGUE.

An American in a German Church.
To the Editor of the Capital Journal:

Walking through the city last Lord's day, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," my eye caught some homely words over the doorway of a house homely enough too. Such a house as we might suppose Christ would feel at home in, judging from what has been reported of his character. The words were: "Come in!"

Not having been favored with such a friendly invitation for some time, I promptly accepted and walked in. I found a large and very decent appearing congregation. The music, instrumental and vocal, was as good as I have heard at our M. E. church. I liked the prayer too; I understood only one word of it, the—Amen. The sermon of an hour edified me more than any I have heard in Salem for a long time; I judge from the muscular manner in which the preacher handled it, it was "The fat of the gospel"—though of the entire sermon, but one word, "highland," was understood by me. I am too familiar with the tune to the doxology not to recognize it even when sang in German, and by that I knew when the services ended. I have learned since that I was worshipping at the church-house of the Seventh Day Adventists, and that the services were conducted in the German tongue.

Battle With a Cougar.
Mr. Wm. Jefford, who lives on Strawberry creek, brought some cougar scalps to town Tuesday, which he exchanged for county script, and related to the Grant county News man the story of the capture of three of them. Dick Johnson had a fight with them when they killed his dog, and the following day Mr. Jefford, Ralph Fisk, Bart Hartman and Mr. Johnson started out on snowshoes to hunt the fierce wild beasts, and about noon succeeded in killing one, and two more that were seen made their escape. The boys stopped under a pine tree to eat their lunch and were sitting talking when down jumped a large cougar, and investigation revealed another one up the tree. War was at once declared and both the animals were shot and their scalps carried away as $10 remembrances of the battle. The tree was of thick foliage, and the cougars had been crouched within a few feet of Fish's snow-shoes which he had leaned against the tree, and the guns of the hunters were also leaning against the same tree, and it is needless to say that the men felt relieved to think they had not furnished a meal for the bold colt and calf eaters.

The Best Residence Localities

In the city of Portland and other prosperous towns are those owned by men or corporations who have the disposition and ability to improve them.

HIGHLAND ADDITION

—IS OWNED BY—

THE OREGON LAND COMPANY!

And this Corporation is determined to Make It The Most Attractive Addition

To the city of Salem. They have at this time fifteen teams employed and the contemplated improvements have scarcely begun. It is intended to make the drive leading from Commercial street through Riverside and Highland additions and around Highland Park

THE FINEST DRIVE IN THE STATE

Of Oregon. The line of the Salem Street Railway Company runs through the middle of this addition, and no lots will be more than two blocks distant from the line. Highland Park will in the near future be

THE MOST POPULAR RESORT

ABOUT THE CITY OF SALEM.

Lots in Highland Addition are High and Dry and Well Located; Most Excellent Drainage

The soil is black and rich. From all points a fine view is obtained of the public buildings and our highest mountain peaks. Arrangements are already being made for the location of two churches in this addition, and a number of residences are soon to be built. Buildings only of the best class will be permitted. Residence lots within the limits of the city of Salem are worth on an average over $1000. We can sell you better lots in Highland addition for one-third of the money, and being directly on the line of the street railway they are practically not half so far from the public buildings and the business part of the town as the majority of the so-called "inside lots."

Buy a Lot in Highland Addition for Three Hundred Dollars,

And let some other fellow pay $1000 for an inferior lot not so well located. With the difference of $700 you can build a beautiful cottage, or put it out at a rate of interest that will buy you nearly two thousand street car tickets every year.
