THE JOURNAL is a live paper six days in the week.

Silverton seems to get a good share of improvements this year.

Holverson has the finest line of saateens ever shown in Salem.

Mrs. Collins Reed is reported as much improved from her recent sick spell.

Attendance at the Sunday-school was somewhat deminished by the Sunday excursion.

The JOURNAL learns with regret that Mr. Hoover is again suffering from a severe rheumatic attack.

Deeds filed for record in Linn county this year, $482,016; Marion Co. $1,069,122; School children in Linn 9105, Marion 7948.

Building operations at Salem are quite flush, considering the scarcity of brick and lumber. The signs are good for much progress in this line at Salem.

Rev. C. C. Bateman of Portland will lecture on "Wit and Humor in Life and Literature" on the evening of May 2nd, under the auspices of the Young People's society of the First Baptist church in the auditorium of that church.

NOT EARLY STOPPED.—THE JOURNAL is not easily discouraged. First its crack city editor was hired away from it by a rival in need of a talented writer. Then its other city editor has laid off for a week nearly. Its foreman was caught over in Polk county and no ferry running. Its press man is under the weather and one of our best composers laid off by sickness in the family. But the JOURNAL gets there just the same.

The following appears in the Portland Telegram of April 18, from Salem: Silas Alderman, the 11-year-old son of Charles Alderman, who lives between McCoy and Lincoln in Polk county, had his head blown off yesterday afternoon, while out hunting with his cousin, a boy of the same age. He was getting over a fence and was playing with the gun, looking down the barrel from the muzzle. Turning the weapon over, the hammer caught on the fence, and the gun was discharged, the load entering at the eye and causing death instantly.

Rosedale is the name of the village tract attached to the Sunny-side tract of small farms. It contains 36 building lots which surround a small cleared space designed for a park. Several of these lots have been sold and two houses are already built. Lots are offered free to school and church buildings, a store, a blacksmith shop and a fruit evaporator. At the proper time application will be made for the establishment of a postoffice at this very charming village settlement. When the Sunny-side lands are all occupied the industry to be provided will sustain a thriving village community.

SERIOUS CRIMES AT BUTTEVILLE.

A Saloon Burglarized and an Outrage Committed by two Young Men—One now in Jail.

Last Friday night two young men of the Butteville neighborhood filled up on the products of a distillery which exists down there and became reckless. They went into the town and kicked open the door of E. P. Bents' saloon, broke into a box of sandwiches, a box of crackers and helped themselves generally to the stock of the saloon.

Their names are Jack Ritchie, aged about twenty-four years, and Dolph Gouche, aged about twenty-six years. They took their plunder to the barn of Geo. L. Roogue, for whom Gouche was working, and stored it there, feasting to their full satiety during the night.

But this is not their worst crime. Crazed by the material they had imbibed, they found three little girls ranging in age from four to two years, daughters of Mrs. Goulet, a guest at Mr. La Roogue's; they enticed them to the barn, a distance from the house and committed the foulest crime to which a brutal disposition can stoop.

As soon as the terrible news was circulated, indignation ran very high. Sheriff Croisan was notified by telegraph, but was in Gervais attending a law suit and could not reach Butteville until yesterday morning. In the meantime Ritchie had been placed under arrest and was taken before W. S. Hurst, Esq., justice of the peace at Aurora on a charge of burglary, where he waived examination and was committed to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury, and was brought up last night for safe keeping.

Dolph Gouche succeeded in eluding his pursuers, but Sheriff Croisan is after him and his escape is considered impossible. He has been a fisherman and boat puller on the Columbia river, and it is thought he started for there, but the telegraph has been used to good advantage and the likelihood is that he will be safely landed to-day or to-morrow.

It is more than probable that Judge Lynch would have exercised full authority were it not for the coolness and good judgment of some of Butteville's business men, who desired to see the law properly vindicated.

The mother of the outraged children, who is plucky and fearless, though modest and virtuous, would have made short work of the villains if she could have found them after she was informed of their terrible crime, but they hid themselves in a convent place and she could not discover them. There will be little sympathy for them when they receive the penalty they deserve.

WHAT SALEM IS DOING.

The Signs Are in the Air For Great Growth.

One hundred new homes are begun or in process of construction. Several miles of new streets are being opened through virgin soil and forest.

Ten miles of electric railroad are under construction, and one-half is nearly ready for the cars. Twenty new business houses built last year, are all taken, and still there is demand for more.

The largest cannery in the state is nearly completed.

THE BIG DEBATE.—The Alka-Hesperians and Philodorian met in battle array in the university chapel Saturday night to see who should be declared the ablest debaters, over the knotty problem of nationalism as presented by the statement involved in "Resolved that nationalism as portrayed in Bellamy's 'Looking Backward' is to be desired." The Philo took the lead for the affirmative, Mr. Fitzgerald speaking. He stated the claims made for nationalism and showed how strikes and starvation would disappear if Bellamy's theories became realities. Napoleon Davis delivered a volley of arguments in return for the negative, arguing that the Bellamy business was nothing new, it having been tried by such venerable individuals as Lycurgus, and other back numbers, and that it would destroy all incentives to individual excellence. Mr. Williams took up again for the students and portrayed the slavery of labor to capital in the present day, and dilated upon the glorious emancipation of four million slaves and that the Bellamy plan would make all men equal in the same way. Mr. Williams was a polished speaker. The next man to expostulate was Mr. Crandall, who answered the preceding speaker, and asserted that instead of only four million slaves, individual freedom would be utterly destroyed; he further asserted that two-thirds would be continually idle, as the nation would be able to guarantee every man the gratification of his wishes. Mr. Rounds followed for the affirmative declaiming against the money-power as it now exists. Under the Bellamy system there would be no money, and no monopolies would be possible, all incentive to crime would be abolished. Mr. Brown opposed with an argument to show that by nationalism all family life would be destroyed. Each individual upon birth became the ward of the state. Mr. Collins introduced quotations from political economists to show that competition as now conducted was the foe of enterprise; while one succeeded the many were driven to the wall and destroyed. Mr. Vanderson resumed the negative, and showed that the Bellamy theory was inconsistent, as it asked no title to success in life, and that doing and not being was the only title to an existence. Mr. Alishie sustained the affirmative, assailing the present system; the love of money and pursuit of property, were the root of all evil. Attorney Carson took advantage of a statement by Bellamy that human nature remained the same in all ages, and said that the proposed system would not change this. Rev. Thomas applied his theological hand in an effective manner, reading press notices favoring Bellamy. Mr. Starr succeeded in demonstrating several clinching and concise arguments. The concluding speeches were now made by Messrs Davis and Fitzgerald. The judges, Messrs. Corwin, Jeffries and Burnett rendered a decision for the negative and were unanimously for that side of the debate. About 300 people were present, and felt a great interest in this dry subject. Mr. Stryker, president of the Philo's, presided.

Arrangements have been perfected for the completion of the seaside division of the Astoria and South Coast railroad. A large part of the construction material is already on the ground, and the terms of the contract require the completion of the division with all possible expedition. The people of Astoria are resolute in their purpose to have railroad connection, and they are willing to pay a good price to secure it. Their ambition is about to be gratified.

SAVED FROM DISGRACE.

Young Man on Trial For Stealing a Carpet.

ENTERS A STRANGE DEFENCE.

How he secured a Thirty Dollar Carpet for Twenty Dollars.

SAVED FROM DISGRACE.

A respectable young married man of this city, was on trial recently, in the justice court, on the grave charge of stealing a carpet. The only evidence the prosecuting attorney could offer, was that the prisoner was known to have only $20 in his possession and had a $30 carpet. The prisoner, in his own defense, testified that he purchased the thirty dollar carpet at the White Corner, on which showing, the man was discharged.

The White Corner is the place to purchase your carpets.

THAT CROWD.—Quite a crowd gathered in front of the Breymann block this morning. The people all along the street were attracted by it, until the sidewalk became packed. The cause of the sensation proved to be the artistically decorated show-window of W. H. Conrad, Salem's new clothier. All concluded that he must understand his business.

"Every Spring."

Says one of the best housewives in New England, "We feel the necessity of taking a good medicine to purify the blood, and we all take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It keeps the children free from humors, my husband says it gives him a good appetite, and for myself I am sure I could never do all my work if it was not for this splendid medicine. It makes me feel strong and cheerful, and I am never troubled with headache or that tired feeling, as I used to be."

In Highland Park addition two wagons and teams are employed spreading rich black mould over the door yards of the new occupants, and soon we may expect to see that new residence locality blossoming as the rose.

FROM SALEM TO SILVERTON

On Their Wheels—A Pleasant Journey and a Fine Dinner.

Yesterday a party consisting of Chauncey Lockwood, Mr. Brandt, Charles Craven, Dr. W. Morris and Hal Patton took a trip on their wheels to Silverton. They found the road in a fine condition, the morning just cool enough to make it pleasant for a fine run. They arrived in due time, with a good appetite and we are assured they did justice to the splendid dinner which the people of Silverton know so well how to serve. Mr. Roy Reed, not knowing the party had been formed, started early and arrived there in an hour and forty minutes, which is very good time. All returned together well pleased with their journey, and no doubt some of the boys will be riding out that way quite often during the summer, as Silverton has some very handsome young ladies, you know.

State of Ohio, City of Mexico, Lucas county, Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. They give an activity to the liver, purify the blood and by their mild tonic action, new vitality and strength to the entire system. Sold at 25 cents a box by Smith & Steiner.
