A NEW CAMP.—Thursday night Summer Camp No. 8, Sons of Veterans, Department of Oregon, was properly organized, Commander Sherman acting as installing officer, under commission of S. H. Griffith, colonel for this division. About 20 young men were mustered and fifteen more will be introduced on next Friday, May 23, when it meets again. Captain James B. Putnam; First Lieut. A. T. Wain; Sec. Lieut. Frank E. Crossan; members of Camp council; W. J. Freeman, I. D. Bentley and Clarence Lewis. These elective officers were properly installed and instructed in the secret work of the order. The young men elected as officers are all first-class boys for the places who will do all in their power to make the camp strong. The camp is already 30 men strong and can be easily made as large again.

ANNUAL MEETING U. T. A. Co.—The second annual meeting of the Union Title Abstract company was held last evening at the company's office on Commercial street and a board of directors and officers elected for the ensuing year. The board of directors as elected consists of M. L. Chamberlin, H. M. Brauns, Geo. H. Saubert, Chas. B. Moore and O. M. Smith. The officers elected were President, M. L. Chamberlin; vice-president, H. M. Brauns; treasurer, Geo. H. Saubert; secretary and manager, O. M. Smith; attorney Chas. B. Moore. Besides the election of officers considerable other business was transacted.

I. O. O. F.—The two lodges of the I. O. O. F. are to unite on Saturday next to celebrate the 71st anniversary of Oddfellowship by song, music, mirth and eloquence at their hall in the Holman block. Great anticipations of a good time are entertained. They have many good talkers among them and in the circle of their connections and acquaintances many good musicians. Their plan, which as we are given to understand, is to have short and lively ten-minute speeches, interspersed with songs by their lady friends, has its advantages over long, set oration, in securing a livelier time and more undivided attention.

LOOK WELL.—A number of students from the Indian training school are in to-day to attend the circus. They are neatly dressed in military uniforms, and behave very gentlemanly, none of them standing around smoking cigars, using tobacco and profanity. The boys all speak well of the management of the school under Supt. Irwin, who is also in the city to-day.

BIG SUIT.—Superintendent Yoder has ordered a home-made campaign suit of home-made Salem mills woolen goods. Marion county will have as well dressed a superintendent of schools as there is in the state. He wears a hat that will drop right down over an ordinary newspaper man's cranium.

TOWN PLAT RECORDED.—Pleasant Home addition to Salem, twenty two blocks south of A. Bush's homestead, by Wm. E. Burke and Mary E. Burke, his wife, has just been plated and placed on record. It is part of D. Leslie's o. l. c. 1, 75, r. 3 w. The plat is the work of Alfred Gobelet, whose office is with Seth R. Hamner.

FISHP.—John S. Benson, an account of whose resistance to Sheriff Crohan appeared in Thursday's JOURNAL, was taken before Justice Goodell, where he pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs, $31.10 in all.

FOR RENT.—Twenty acres of rich river bottom land in Polk county, on road from Salem to Eola; one mile from Ferry landing. House furnished for renter. Apply soon. S. D. Gibson. 448-6t.

TO HAVE A $71,000 BRIDGE.

Polk and Marion Counties will be Again Connected.

A NEW BRIDGE ORDERED BUILT.

The Joint County Courts Assembled for Business.

The county court was a source of busy activity this morning (Friday). Engineers and bankers, contractors and judges, and private citizens thronged in and out. It was soon learned that nothing would be done until the arrival of trains, when the court and commissioners of Polk county would attend.

"We are going to build a bridge" was the entirely sententious remark of Judge Shaw. "You can bet on that." This is an adjourned term of the court and any regular business is liable to be acted upon.

The changes in the plan suggested by the expert consulting engineer, Mr. Grundahl, necessitate an advance in price, which the contractors accept at the engineer's figures. If there are any more modifications of the plan they are only to be paid for on the engineer's estimate of actual expense, but it is not calculated that the new steel bridge will cost over $70,000.

THE FINANCES.

As is understood the city of Salem has voted to issue $20,000 additional bonds under the legalizing act of 1883. This would leave $50,000 for the two counties to pay. The county court of Marion county stands ready to order the contractors to go ahead with the work, and it is believed that Polk county is similarly represented. The bridge is provided for as far as official steps toward its construction can now be taken. It is thought by the authorities that the contract can be closed at once and work begun.

THE ENGINEER'S PLAN.

Mr. Grundahl, employed by the courts, has made a plan after careful surveys of the river bed. It provides two spans, all steel, 420 feet each with approaches, there being but one pier in the center of the river. The bridge rests on concrete piers on pile foundations, sunk below the river bed and timbered up on the outside. The caissons and piers are to be filled solid with cement concrete.

The $70,000 plan of Huffman & Bates, Portland, $71,000 as modified, is the one adopted. The original bid of $60,000 of this Portland firm was the lowest bid for an all-steel bridge.

Dick who was one of our band boys will come as soon as his summer engagements are ended, and this fall will return with his wife and baby Gene, to their Illinois home.

Wool Prospects. Heppner Gazette: T. E. Fell in speaking of the prospects for wool sales during the coming season at Heppner, says: That holders of wool east have been pushing it on the market to clear up last year's supply before they commence operations on the coming clip. For this reason sales have increased without a corresponding advance in price. However the tariff bill is well forwarded in a shape which will benefit wool interests, but it has as yet not been reported back to the house.

Should it become a law, or even remain pending before congress until after shearing and local marketing of this spring's clip, the grower will find a stronger price offered in anticipation of its ultimate passage.

Importations of wool and woolen goods will continue up to the time the bill will become a law, and manufacturers will not advance prices before they can realize the benefits of the probable new tariff bill. For this reason speculators are likely to pay higher prices locally than they can obtain of manufacturers at the time of purchase, as they did in June of last year. Their losses of last year are likely to make them cautious buyers until the prospects of the tariff are well advanced. The Providence mills expected to have a buyer at Heppner early in the season, but write they will not be out until the middle of June. Another buyer who has been securing his Oregon wool at San Francisco, writes that he will come to Oregon in June and ship directly from here, so that it is likely that the reputation which Heppner earned as a wool market last year will be sustained for this.
