PENNOYER AND THE VETERANS.

THE JOURNAL editorial on the charges against Governor Pennoyer, of sending a congratulatory telegram endorsing Cleveland's rebel battle-flag order and not keeping his pledges to veterans in state institutions, has caused some comment. In order to get at the facts a reporter interviewed the democratic governor this afternoon and learned the following:

THE REBEL FLAG DISPATCH.

On June 17, 1887, Governor Pennoyer sent this dispatch to the N. Y. World: "It will be a handsome thing to do for General Grant, on the surrender of Lee on April 7, 1865, to allow him to retain his sword, it certainly would be a handsome thing to allow the flags captured to be returned. In my judgment it would have been magnanimous on the part of the Grand Army organization to have first suggested such action."

The governor says this, in regard to the charge that he had discriminated against Union soldiers in appointments on state institutions: "The charges made have no foundation whatever. I never made any promise to appoint any Grand Army men. They have never been discriminated against under me. The question never was raised. Grand Army men have been employed about the state institutions by the Capital Building Board, and have been appointed to offices by me as governor and are still holding offices."

The governor denies the charge of unfair treatment of the veterans, but admits the rebel flag dispatch. Readers can draw their own conclusions, but many will conclude that the governor went too far in declaring that it would certainly be a handsome thing to return the rebel flags, captured by Union soldiers on the field of battle and at cost of loyal northern blood and treasure and lives. The governor seems to feel proud of that telegram still, tho' it is not probable he will express that pride in his speeches to the people of Oregon this year. While the governors of other loyal states were protesting with all their might against that act of sacrifice by Cleveland's war department, the governor of Oregon went on record to declare that it would be a handsome thing to do. We do not believe that at heart Governor Pennoyer now considers that he expressed a wise or patriotic sentiment in that telegram, and the people will so consider it when they come to vote.

SINE PROBLEMS.

THE JOURNAL has secured a copy of the questions which Pomona Grange desires answered by legislative candidates. The grange desires an affirmative answer from those who want its support. The candidates are requested to send their answers to the secretary by May 12th if possible. The JOURNAL suggests that as Pomona Grange represents the agricultural interests, the answers of the candidates be made public. We presume the matters brought up by the grange will be discussed on the stump, but unless they are fully presented in the columns of the press there is great danger of wrongful use. Here are the questions:

1. Will you, if elected, vote to memorialize congress in favor of the free coinage of silver?
2. Will you, if elected, vote to memorialize congress in favor of the election of U. S. senators by a direct vote of the people?
3. Will you, if elected, oppose all bills creating non-taxable bonds?
4. Will you, if elected, all bills appropriating state funds for the building of roads and bridges?
5. Will you, if elected, work and vote to change the law so as to elect railroad commissioners by the people and give them power to regulate freights and fares?
6. Will you, if elected, oppose the repeal of the mortgage tax law?
7. Will you, if elected, work for a law creating present assessors?
8. Are you in favor of so modifying the law as to require a majority of the Board of Regents of the State Agricultural College to be practical farmers and mechanics?
9. Will you, if elected, work and vote to incorporate into law the principles of the Australian system of voting?

VERY LIVELY MEETING.

Numerous Additions to the Board of Trade and a Lively Session—Immigration Interests.

It is a long time since such a general interest has been manifested in a meeting of the Salem board of trade as appeared last night. T. H. Barner, chairman of the committee of real estate men, presented a subscription of $100 per month for the purpose of assisting in bringing in immigration, and it became at once apparent that there would be firm over the control of that fund and the manner of spending it.

President Wright was in the chair and the secretary read the minutes of previous meeting, which were approved, the roll call showing a large attendance.

The following applications for membership were presented and read, with the usual recommendations and upon motion the rules were suspended and all were elected members of the board of trade: J. C. Johnson, Geo. W. Watt, W. E. Peck, H. A. Johnson, Jr., H. A. Thomas, Geo. W. Johnson, H. Vandorsel, F. L. Frost, J. C. Booth, M. J. Scott, M. W. Hunt, W. H. Wild, W. T. Rigdon, CAPITAL JOURNAL company, W. X. Downing, W. A. Shaw, W. W. Bartlett, H. C. Caldwell, Wm. Phelps.

A motion was adopted appointing a committee of three, consisting of W. H. Wilde, W. H. Downing and John G. Wright, president of the board, with power to select and appoint a man to represent the interests of Salem and Marion county at Portland; also that this committee report monthly to the board of trade and be subject to its action.

Upon this motion there was extended discussion, Chairman Wright allowing all members as many speeches and as long as they wanted to make.

A motion was carried that the collection of the real estate fund be left to the advertising committee and that it be placed in their hands for expenditure.

A motion prevailed that the advertising committee of the board of trade now in existence, be continued and be requested to continue its good work of collecting subscriptions and expending the amount received in the most profitable manner to their apparent.

An adjournment was taken to next Monday evening, May 12th at 8 o'clock.

What is This Thin Yellow Powder?

There is noticeable and has been for a few weeks past in this part of the county a thin coating of mould or yellow dust scattered all over the surface of the ground. It also settles on fences and is very plainly seen on oleoils leaked or buggy seat pads. When examined through a magnifying glass it resembles small insect eggs. There are various opinions and speculations as to what it is. Some claim that a few enterprising Kansas grasshoppers having seen the advertisement of some real estate agent have come out here to start a colony. May be it is the tariff question ground to powder and scattered by the four winds, by the Waldo Hills Free Trade club, late deceased. If the latter theory is correct perhaps F. S. Matteson, or Jim Taylor, democratic candidate for county judge, could throw some light on the subject, as they thoroughly understand the question from "way back."

Who can solve the problem?

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS.

A Grand and Successful Meeting Last Night.

A large assemblage mostly young people of all the different societies of this organization gathered at the Presbyterian church. After a cordial address of welcome by Rev. Newell, to the assembled societies, pastors and friends, Miss Mabel Gray sang a solo, and reports were heard from the different local societies as follows:
Evangelical: The society has ten active and four associates; has regular meetings.
Congregational: The society was unsuccessfully begun in 1878. It was regularly organized in 1885 and has 35 members.
Baptist: The society numbers nearly 40 members; meets regularly.
Presbyterian: Organized with 13 members; in all 99 had been connected; present numbers 33; attendance 25 to 30.
Local Union: Composed of all societies; formed March 17; meets once in two or three months.

Rev. Chase of Portland addressed the society. He had many happy illustrations and proved to be a pleasant, entertaining and instructive speaker. He hoped to see the day when the christian young people should give their time to the society of the town and take hold of the social forms and manners of the community and control them. This society is now seven years old and the church should now be prepared to give it cordial support. How was it helpful to the church? The sabbath school was one arm of the church, this society the other. It organized the young people to religious effort. It developed unused resources. It has not only produced enthusiasm but aggressiveness, but shown pastors and elders what the prayer meeting should be, a meeting of the people for religious purposes. It places the spiritual interests first, and graduates young people from the Sunday school into the church.

Rev. Boyd, of Portland addressed the union on the obscure workers in an eloquent and inspiring manner. His address was followed by a brief conference meeting, and the local union adjourned.
