UNJUSTLY JAILED.

The Kind of Man Mr. Grant's Friends say he is, and the injustice done him.

A JOURNAL reporter went to Mr. A. Grant at the county jail Monday to get from him a statement as to the difficulties which led to his being incarcerated, but he declined to make any statement.

Mr. Grant is a modest and gentlemanly appearing man, and is either a great villain or a much-wronged man. The sympathy of the JOURNAL is a little like that of the multitude of publicans and sinners—with the under dog in any fight.

MR. GRANT is a native of Great Britain and about 40 years of age. His family is now in New Zealand and know nothing of his difficulties here.

THE PROSECUTION. Mr. S. T. Northcutt, who has prosecuted Mr. Grant, as was shown on the justice trial, is doing so unjustly, as it will be shown, and was shown at the preliminary trial.

WHAT THE RECEIVER SAYS. A JOURNAL reporter called on Mr. David McCully at his residence and heard from him a very full and careful statement as to Mr. Grant's affairs and general character as a man and a business man.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Messrs. David Simpson, W. B. Simpson, and Wm. Jory are each having a fine cement enclosure erected about their respective lots in the L. O. F. cemetery.

STATE HOUSE GROUNDS.—Prof. Coats, of the Corvallis Agricultural college is in the city to begin operations on the beautifying of Wilson avenue and state house property.

A PIONEER DEAD.

Sketch of Father Patty President of the Capital Lumber Company.

PATTY.—W. R. Patty, of Salem, May 12th 1890, at 5 a. m., of ulcerated stomach, after an illness of about two months.

John Shaw, who was miller at Jefferson for six months past, until the mill closed down, says he believes Mr. Grant has been unjustly used. He has known him quite intimately and has had some opportunity to judge of Mr. Grant.

IN CONCLUSION. THE JOURNAL is satisfied that a great injustice has been done Mr. Grant by the one-sided newspaper reports and by binding him over.
