CAMP MEETING.—The Oregon and Washington Holliness Association begin their annual camp meeting this evening at Yew Park to continue over two sabbaths at least.

ANOTHER FULL BLOODED PERCHERON.—Mr. Judd informs us that Friday morning his imported mare, Commodore, dropped a fine horse foal sired by his imported stallion Boutin.

BUSY.—The busiest men in town, without doubt, are the Cherrington Bros., at their metropolitan gallery in the Exchange block, opposite the First National Bank.

Sunnyside Fruit Farms. Salem continues to grow, and the building industry was never so actively pushed in this city before.

Notice.—To All Concerned. Citizens who have defective sidewalks are warned to place them in repair at once, as it is desired to have our streets and walks in the most perfect condition by July 1st.

Spiritualists Campmeeting. The Clackamas county society of spiritualists will hold their annual campmeeting at New Era, beginning June 19th, holding over two Sundays.

"I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as having passed above the grade of what are commonly called patent or proprietary medicines," said a well known physician recently.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Two Horses Killed and Five Cars Ditched.

LUMBER AND WHEAT AT A DISCOUNT.

The Worst Looking Wreck for Its Dimensions that Can be Imagined.

As the 9 o'clock freight train was coming north this morning it struck two horses in that railroad stockyard, Watt's pasture, about a mile south of the depot, and the result was two dead horses and a badly wrecked train.

A little south of the point named commences an incline which reaches to the depot, and it is the custom of freight train men to here cut their train in two, the engine and front part running in rapidly and the hind end following up with almost equal speed.

This train followed the custom and the cowcatcher of the engine caught a horse belonging to H. A. Thomas, carrying him nearly a quarter of a mile and throwing him lifeless into the ditch. A pony belonging to Freddie and Doll Palmer, which was with the horse, escaped, but mounted the track in front of the second division, was caught and mangled in a most horrible manner.

That pony had his revenge. He made the worst looking wreck the JOURNAL representative, who was soon on the ground, ever saw for the size of it. The first was a flat-car loaded with four-inch dressed flooring, which was scattered to the four winds.

From the above it will be seen that the loss to the railroad will be considerable. Besides the number of cars demolished, and the cost of cleaning the wreck, there will be a large amount of fine wheat lost and damaged, also a good deal of costly lumber, while Mr. Thomas and the Palmer boys will doubtless demand pay for their animals.

It seems to be one of those accidents for which nobody is to blame. The engine and front division of the train dare not stop as the other division would in a few seconds suddenly on the track in front of the second division that it was impossible to stop in time.

The manner of the animals getting on the track was explained to the JOURNAL man by Mr. Thomas's son. He and Freddie Palmer were in the pasture, the Thomas boy to bring home his horse and Freddie giving his pony salt. They were trying to catch the animals, which were very playful and in a little while jumped the low fence into the railroad right-of-way, thence to the railroad track, the boys following. Just then the train was heard coming down the grade at full speed, and the boys were compelled to fly the track, unable to do anything for the animals, as they were a block ahead. These are all the facts as gathered from observation and information from both sides.

The local express was delayed until another came from the south, to which the passengers were transferred with a good deal of trouble. North bound passengers had the same experience. The wreck will be cleared as fast as possible.

Schoettle, the live tailor on Commercial street, has decorated his walls anew, and now has a very attractive shop. Give him a call when you want a first-class article.

SALEM SOCIETY.

The College Literary Societies Hold a Reunion.

THE LAWN, PARLOR AND CHURCH.

An Active Week Upon Approaching the Mid-Summer Season.

M. E. ENTERTAINMENT. Miss Flora Batson at the M. E. church June 4th, was a splendid affair. She has a fine voice of wide range. She was assisted by Prof. Parvin and other local talent, and all who heard the program were more than pleased with the performance.

A SCHOOL PICNIC. At the close of Miss Viola Ruble's school, at Popcorn school house, and at the close of Miss Syke's at Zena school house, both in Polk county, both schools united in a grand picnic at the former grounds. There were refreshments in the shape of a free dinner to all, and an address by Supt. Reynolds. The festivities wound up with a match game of baseball between nine old gentlemen and nine young ladies—the o. g. s, of course, being knocked out entirely.

Tuesday, June 3, there was a lawn tennis meeting at J. J. Dalrymple's. There were present: Misses Jessie and Kate Dalrymple, Mabel Gray, Rita Lonsdale, Grace Gillingham, Louise Huelat, Belle Golden, Mary Van Wagner, Myra Albert, Augusta Palmer, Maggie Mesick, Frankie Richardson, Gertrude Holverson. Messrs. Jno. Giesy, Hugh McNary, Jno. Phillips, Otto Giesy, Ray Gilbert, Otto Wilson, Max Buren, Geo. Brown, Joe Albert, Dr. J. C. Griffith.

Friday evening about two hundred persons, mostly of the variety described as young people, gathered at the elegant home and grounds of Hon. W. H. H. Waters, and indulged in such delights once luxuries as ice-cream, strawberries, social converse, etc., to a later hour. The decorations were profuse, consisting of hundreds of lanterns and illuminated parades. A Japanese stand conducted by several talented young ladies, disposed toys and novelties. The second regiment band appeared at an early hour and added a musical feature that made the whole a grand success.

The seventh musical recital of the Conservatory for the year, was given in the University chapel Monday evening, June 2d. A good program was carried out, which showed much improvement on the part of the pupils, and thorough work by the teachers. Such exercises are fine drill for young scholars, and gives an opportunity to bring out their best talents. The last public recital was given in the Conservatory rooms at the Woman's college yesterday afternoon, and was the beginning of the Commencement exercises of the University. This was given by the younger pupils, and will be the only exercise held at the Conservatory, all the others will be held in the chapel.

The large flock of people who follow the banner of Rev. Edward S. Bollinger assembled Wednesday evening at Brother Smith's cozy cottage on Marion street. Nearly two hundred people were present and partook of the liberal supplies of Oregon strawberries and Dimmick's dairy cream. All voted Bro. Smith and wife great entertainers. Rev. Bollinger's flock extends from Hayesville to Sunnyside, and from Howell prairie to west Salem besides a number of people who will swim rivers and climb mountains to attend his services. The young people of the city were out in strong numbers at this social as well as the older ones. The social was a great success as a pleasant gathering and financially as well.

Unusual social interest attaches to the final elocutionary contest at Willamette university chapel next Tuesday afternoon at 3 p. m., between a number of Miss Long's private pupils. A number of them have been receiving training in dramatic recitations for a long time and have developed an order of ability higher than the average. Among those who compete for these prizes are Miss Susie Murphy, Miss Marion Vandervort, Miss Portia Knight, Miss Gertrude Holverson, and Miss Cassa Jeffries. Miss Long with Miss Knight will read a scene from "As You Like It," and a scene from Iagothar with Miss Vandervort. The prizes are a set of George Eliot's complete works, and an other equally valuable set of books, given by T. McF. Patton and Weller Bros.

Geology, botany, bugology and other dry-bones business does not prevent Prof. Arnold of the Willamette University from being one of the happiest mortals socially that this world produces and his wife from being one of the jolliest entertainers. He has a large Sunday school class and on Thursday afternoon and evening they appeared at the Professor's home, and for once none had the fear of the pedagogue nor spiritual adviser in mind.

but proceeded to accept the hospitality of the occasion, consisting of archery, croquet, other lawn games and refreshments at 8 o'clock, which were served in the parlors. A novel feature of the banquet was the variety of fruits all produced on the Professor's grounds. The class presented the Professor with a beautiful steel engraving and easel. The recipient was highly pleased and all went off very happy.

The literary societies of the Willamette university held their annual reunion in their hall last evening, a large number of friends and old-time members were present to hear a good program which was rendered for the occasion. The following is the program: Instrumental duet by Misses Steiner and Stratton; they played a fine selection and were warmly applauded; following them was an address of welcome in a few well chosen words by the society's president, L. F. Belknap.

A CONVERSATION.—"You told me that once before, in very plain language, 'Is that so? Well, excuse me, I was speaking this time to others who were not present when I mentioned the solid fact to you, that the Court street Jeweler was a practical watch-maker in a true sense of the word, and having had twenty-three years continuous experience at the watch bench, he is able to do any work on watches, clocks and jewelry, at his own bench, and in as neat a manner and at as low a figure.'"
