THE ISSUE ON WHICH THE OREGONIAN WAS KNOCKED OUT.

Governor Penney was elected on the proposition that bonds of municipalities shall not be exempted from taxation.—Oregonian, June 9th.

That is a correct statement of a political fact. But it should be stated just a little differently. The practical proposition in regard to non-taxable bonds is not to exempt the municipality issuing the bonds, but to exempt the men who invest in those bonds from paying taxes on their investment on that kind of property.

The practical proposition it involved in asking the state to issue non-taxable bonds is to allow the favored individuals who become the owners of these bonds to hold for a term of years a class of valuable securities, in the shape of personal property, and escape paying taxes thereon. In re-electing Governor Penney on this issue, the people reject the whole non-taxable bond scheme, and thereby reject a proposition to exempt such municipal bonds from taxation.

It might be in order to ask a great paper like the Oregonian, which is supposed to represent the people of this state, whether it now accepts the verdict of the people on this issue, or does it still advocate the non-taxation of municipal bonds? It is a matter of interest to know whether it stands by the people or against them.

We can see but one tenable basis upon which the Oregonian can repose, if it still proposes to advocate non-taxable bonds; and that is the platform of the Henry George party, which favors exempting all capital and personal property from taxation, and would place all tax upon land. Who knows but that is what the Oregonian advocates?

The Oregonian has not only been the champion and advocate of non-taxable bonds, but it has been foremost in demanding the repeal of the mortgage exemption tax law. That paper wanted the property of the municipal bondholder exempted entirely from taxes, but was unwilling to allow the farmers even a partial exemption for indebtedness incurred on their property. That was the issue upon which Governor Penney was elected, as we understand it.

It will be noticed that practically the Oregonian champions the interests of the capitalists, and is against the interests of the producers. It would totally exempt the bondholder, but would deny any exemption whatever to the farmer who is struggling with a mortgage at a rate of interest entirely out of proportion to the earning capacity of his farm.

That is the issue upon which Mr. Penney was elected, and certainly the issue, so far as the Oregonian represents and advocates it, was fatal to that paper and to its pretensions as a public teacher. There is no evidence of its repentance, however. We presume it will go on harassing the people and the incoming legislature with a rebash of its exploded and rejected ideas.

THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY.

This swindle has become a national question, whether it shall live or not. While doing business in the state of Louisiana, it virtually levies tribute on every state and territory of the Union. It is now trying to close a new charter with the state where it operates, offering to pay that state $25,000,000 for a term of 25 years, the money to be employed for education, internal improvements and public charities, besides the sanitation of the city of New Orleans.

These are no doubt all worthy objects, but the state of Louisiana has no more right to receive this money even for those public purposes than it has to receive the proceeds of highway robbery or piracy on the high seas. Every state in the Union should be bribed, if that state is to be bribed, and could receive it with just as little moral sanction as that state can receive it. The Christian governor of that state should receive the moral support of all the Christian people of the nation in his fight on the great national money leech, whose twenty-five million dollar bribe itself shows that it little better than steals the money that is sent to it outright.

Petitions should be made up among the influential men and women of every state, and forwarded to the speaker of the Louisiana legislature, protesting against that body entertaining any such bribe, that is first to be collected out of the pockets of the people of all the states and a great deal more. It is time to set in this matter. The proposal for a twenty-five years license for national demoralization should be rejected.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS AND THE PUBLIC LANDS.

Some extremely sensitive Penney men are disposed to find fault with the JOURNAL because it published the letter of The Dalles register of the land office, and argued that the governor's explanation was not adequate, and did not fully clear him in our mind. Now this need not distress any extremely sensitive friends and admirers of His Excellency. We did not feel called upon to exonerate the governor or any man I referred to in that letter. The writer of that letter has come out since his first spasm of virtue and declared that he did not refer to any democrat, but only referred to some alleged wicked republicans. We did not print that letter, because we did not believe it was entitled to any respect. It was pressed out of that democratic official by the exigencies of the campaign. It was not his honest conviction in the matter, because he stands convicted of locating a slice of land 42 miles away in his own name, by the testimony of the governor.

The election is over, and what is said now cannot affect any candidate, and is not said in any partisan spirit or to hurt any man. Governor Penney has received a sufficient vindication from the voters to establish his reputation for personal integrity in their opinion. Besides, he is not as sensitive as some who would almost presume to have his official honor in their keeping. He stoutly asserts that the management of public lands under the present administration has been so magnificently upright that it has "leaned a little backward." We shall not dispute this and the voters of Wasco certainly do not.

What we wish to assert is the perfect right of a newspaper to discuss with the utmost freedom the management of our public lands and the holding up of all officials to the most rigid accountability for their stewardship of them. It is a matter of common intelligence that great frauds have been committed in the management of the public domain in nearly every western state. It is a notorious fact that nearly every official who has been connected with the management of the public lands has got rich out of it. Men have gone into the land department of our state and have remained a year or two and have come out—well, not impoverished by any means. Most of such officials have no just right to suspicion every man who is connected with the land department, but they have a right to demand of the public press the closest scrutiny of everything connected with those lands, and the widest advertisement of whatever looks like crooked work.

Hence we published the letter of the democratic register of The Dalles land office under the reform administration of Mr. Cleveland, and under the especially reformatory influences that his commissioner Sparks had thrown over the land department. And we have no apology to offer for it.

The disinterested citizen, who has no opportunity to profiteer on the department, can see no reason for shielding or defending anyone upon whom just criticism may fall, in the discharge of their official duties. There was a time when party papers were expected to excuse and defend men of their own party for the same short-comings they denounced in others. That time is past and what is wrong for one party cannot be right for the other.

The custom of denouncing as wrong in one man what we call right in the other simply because he happens to belong to our party is very ancient, but it is just as wrong, whatever we may say in advocating our party, and however strongly we may be impressed with the correctness of our party's position on public questions, we hope we may never be guilty of such a one-sided and lop-sided political performance as that referred to, and yet practiced by a good many public men and newspapers.

PRACTICAL TESTS.

An Astonishing Offer—Some of the Replies. The San Francisco papers of recent date contained the following offer: "As an evidence of the ability of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla to prevent sick headaches, we will give to the first twelve responsible persons who will apply at our office, before five o'clock, and who will certify that they have been cured that they will admit the fact over their signatures. This offer so startlingly asserted the efficiency of the remedy that many accepted, and the letters of the parties, nearly all of whom responded, are probably the most convincing testimonial that any remedy ever received. The following is a sample of those received:—

I have been subject to bilious headaches and constipation for several years past, in fact, have been compelled to take a purge every other night or else I would have a headache and full, mean feeling. I have taken that bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, and have derived great benefit from it, and I intend continuing it. After my own experience I can heartily advise those troubled with biliousness and constipation to try it. Yours, CHAS. E. ELKINGTON, 125 Locust Avenue, San Francisco.

"From the trundle-bed to the casket," is the new version of the old song.

When a newspaper dies the editor has a little foretaste of what his obituary will be like.

To know that you know but not know how you came to know is intuition.

The Oregonian is on the defensive, but it was knocked out by Penney June 2d, just the same.

The wife drowns her sorrows in a tear whenever the husband drowns his by getting on a tear.

You can no more change the selfishness of some people than you can brew love in a tea kettle.

Don't tell your boys that their father doesn't know anything. Give them time and they'll find it out.

The average allowance of political fried cakes was in the hot-lard, and the kettle was boiling. Which came out ahead?

The word "Lady" in its original sense signified "one who could bake bread" or "one who could serve bread to her family."

In an interview the other day Governor Penney said: "I have nothing left now but the penitentiary and the veto power."

The young woman who cannot throw her whole soul and physical strength into opening her mouth wide and inflating her lungs like a bellows better not try singing.

Klamath County Star: Salem is the most enterprising city on the coast and she is going to have a grand Fourth of July as Linkville.

In the late campaign the Oregonian did not champion a single idea in the republican platform. The only candidate it championed was defeated.

Governor Penney ran about 4000 ahead of his party. His party was 10,000 behind Hermann. In other words he drownd the Oregonian by about 14,000 majority.

Country life gives a man expansion of thought and makes him a broad minded citizen. City life concentrates a man into special lines and makes him a great achiever.

The Oregonian seems to have none of the virtues that are most highly prized by Oregonians. Perhaps, that is why they sat down upon it by 14,000 majority in defeating its governor.

After its indubitable campaign floundering and advocacy of all manner of pros and cons, we next expect to see the Oregonian take up its cudgel for our granger friends—or perhaps for the Union brethren?

In an interview June 7th, the Pope at Rome said: "The persecution of me and the church in Italy is increasing. Twelve years I have been confined within these walls, and it is only within these last few years that the offenses charged against me have become intensified. While I live I must protest against and expose the blasphemous way in which Italy is treating the Holy See."

One of the most unique ideas for the preservation of fresh meats and fruits has been discovered by Miss Mary Johnson, of Belmont, Ga. She claims that by her process they may be kept in open vessels from one season to another without sugar or salt. No acids are used in this simple process, and the fruits lose none of their flavor or freshness. You will save yourself much expense and trouble by sending $1.00 to her and receiving this recipe.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Figwort, Juniper Berries, and other well-known and valuable vegetable remedies, by a peculiar combination, proportion, and process, giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla curative power not possessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures where others fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

is the best blood purifier. It cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Pimples, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, General Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver complaints; overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an appetite, builds up the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

has met unparalleled success at home. Such is its popularity in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, that Lowell druggists sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other sarsaparillas or blood purifiers. The same success is extending all over the country.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

is peculiar in its strength and economy. It is the only preparation of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar." A Hood's Sarsaparilla taken according to directions, will last a month.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

is peculiar in the confidence it gains among all classes of people. Where it is once used it becomes a favorite family remedy. Do not be induced to buy other preparations. Be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine.
