The Supreme Court of the United States has decided in two appeals—a liquor case from Iowa and a dressed beef case from Minnesota—that each state's control of goods sold within its borders is restricted to its own products, and that state legislation going farther than this is void.

Let the sweet and powerful singers prove themselves patriotic devotees to their God-given talent July 4th.

The senate has confirmed the nomination of Hon. W. H. Byars of Salem to be surveyor General of Oregon.

The good moral atmosphere of Salem is attested by the fact that the State Reform School has just been located here.

No matter what other people may throw July 4th, the Salem fire companies have decided to throw water in a highly interesting manner.

The returns of the election show the following vote cast by the precincts in which the following cities are located: Independence 329; Dallas 441; Ashland 605; McMinnville 638; Roseburg 607; Oregon City 780; Albany 973; Eugene 983; Salem 1913.

The village of Loveland, Iowa, was almost totally destroyed by a water spout on Tuesday. Several lives were lost. The town is located in a gully in the Boyer valley. A terrible storm passed over the valley, and near the upper end a cloud-burst occurred, the water sweeping down through the fated village, leaving hardly a house intact.

Hon. M. Wilkins, of Lane county, received his commission last Saturday as commissioner from Oregon to the world's fair. He expects to go to Chicago in a short time to attend a meeting of the commissioners to be called for the purpose of viewing the site selected for the fair grounds and buildings, and other preparatory work. Mr. Wilkins is very enthusiastic in his efforts to secure a good representation of the products and industries of this state, and is working diligently to that end.

The Philadelphia organ of the carpenter's union says: Up to date eight hours a day has been secured this season for the carpenters in twenty-seven cities and towns, affecting 23,555 men. Nine cities are still out for the eight-hour day, and six have compromised on hours. Nine hour days have been established in ninety-two cities and towns, with the addition of eight hours on Saturdays. This concession affects 14,280 carpenters, while gains have been made in the shape of increased wages in many other cities.

German newspapers report that the begira from Iceland heretofore noted in these columns is assuming extraordinary proportions. It is estimated that fully 20,000, about one fourth of the entire population, will emigrate during the present year. Most of them are destined for the northwestern portion of Canada, which though by no means the best of soils or most hospitable of climates, offers great advantages as compared with the country these people are leaving. It is a pity some effort has not been made to attract a portion of them to this state. They are a very desirable class of population.

Practical Tests. An Astonishing Offer—Some of the Replies.

The San Francisco papers of recent date contained the following offer: "As an evidence of the ability of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla to prevent sick headaches, we will give to the first twelve responsible persons who will apply at our office a bottle free if they will agree that after they have been cured that they will admit the fact over their signatures."

This offer so startlingly asserted the efficiency of the remedy that many accepted, and the letters of the parties, nearly all of whom responded, are probably the most convincing attestations that any remedy ever received. The following is a sample of those received:—

I have been subject to bilious headaches and constipation for several years past; in fact, have been compelled to take a physician every other night or else I would have a headache and dull, mean feeling. I have taken that bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, and have derived great benefit from it, and intend continuing it. After my own experience I can heartily advise those troubled with biliousness and constipation to try it. CHAS. E. ELKINGTON, 128 Locust Avenue, San Francisco.

WILL JOIN IN THE PARADE.

The Salem Fire Companies Will Take Part in the Fourth of July Celebration.

Answering the call of the chief engineer and assistant published in yesterday's JOURNAL, the members of the several fire companies met to a large number at the hall of Captains last evening, for the principal purpose of deciding upon the attitude of the companies toward the Fourth of July celebration and parade.

The decision reached was that the three companies would join in the parade, and in the matter of races for prizes a committee was appointed to agree upon a program. This committee consisted of the foremen for the three companies—T. A. Howard, of No. 1; Walter Low, of No. 2, and A. Kaiser, of No. 3—who reported the following:

RACING BY FIREMEN. Hose Race—Distance to run, 100 yards to hydrant, lay 200 feet of hose and get water. Prize $100.

Engine Race—Engine to be set on cistern; run 100 yards; attach to engine, lay 100 feet of hose and get water. Prize, $50.

Tender Race—Team to be composed of twelve boys not over 10 years old; run 100 yards. Prize, given by Chief Engineer Geo. Bingham, to be twelve gold badges engraved with company's name and department.

The rules to govern these races are those of the Northwestern Firemen's association.

The badges given by Mr. Bingham are marvels of beauty and will be gay trophies for the boys who succeed in winning them. Each badge weighs 38 grains of solid 14-karat gold, beautifully engraved, with the name of the company and the words "tender team." Get in and drill, boys; these are worth working for.

The fire companies' team having learned to respond to the tap of the fire bell and to chafe and foam if they are restrained from so doing, the members present last evening, at the suggestion of the chief engineer, adapted a motion using away with the ringing of the fire bell for any purpose except for a fire, and the members will have to attend meetings hereafter without this notice.

Bullion Redemption. As soon as the McKinley silver measure was offered it was seen that it contained one weak spot, namely, the permission to the holder of the new treasury notes to redeem them in silver bullion at his option. To make this clearer a hypothetical case may be presented. Suppose that with the compromise bill in force a person takes to the treasury 100 ounces of silver bullion and receives for it a treasury note for $80, being at the rate of 80 cents an ounce. This note is legal tender for all purposes, but it is more than legal tender, for its holder is allowed to present it for redemption in bullion at the market rate. Suppose, then, that on the succeeding day the seller of bullion wants to become a buyer. All that he has to do is to go to the treasury, present his treasury note and get back his 100 ounces of silver, provided the market rate for bullion has not changed. What may be done with 100 ounces may be done with 4,500,000 ounces per month; and the question is, how can this buying silver one day and selling it the next day or the next week advance the market price of silver bullion?

It is true that there is a possibility that the demand for $54,000,000 worth of silver a year might enhance the price and keep it at the higher figure, on the general principle that where the demand exceeds the supply high prices will rule. Senator Plumb says that the entire annual output of silver in the United States is less than $60,000,000, of which $30,000,000 is coined and $8,000,000 used in the arts. If these figures are correct, the demand for $54,000,000 worth of silver a year would advance the price at first, but as soon as the consumers of silver realized the fact that they, and not the producers, could virtually control the price, silver would fall again, and then remain at a comparatively low level, or at least, such seems to be the reasonable view of the question.

The fault of the bullion redemption clause is that it persists in treating silver as merchandise only, and not as money. It is hardly correct to say, as Mr. Newlands does, that it demonetizes silver, but it certainly fails to monetize it, and it is for that reason that the genuine silver men dislike and distrust that portion of the bill.

Now that the bill has passed the senate it is to be hoped that the senate will insist upon striking out the bullion redemption clause, and that, if it does, the silver men in the House, without regard to party, will be able to carry that amendment. It is true that even then the bill does not come up to the demand for free coinage, but if it can be shown of the objectionable feature referred to it may well be accepted by all silver men as an index of future legislation which will result in actual and complete bimetalism. —San Francisco Chronicle.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Danzelion, Madderroot, Dock, Hignewoods, Juniper Berries, and other well-known and valuable vegetable remedies, by a peculiar combination, proportion, and process, giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla curative power not possessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures where others fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier. It cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Pimples, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, General Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver complaints; overcomes that Tired Feeling, creates an appetite, builds up the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has met unparalleled success at home. Such is its popularity in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, that Lowell druggists sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other preparations, and it is the only preparation of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar." A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla taken according to directions, will last a month.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar in its strength and economy. It is the only preparation of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar." A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla taken according to directions, will last a month.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar in the confidence it gains among all classes of people. Where it is once used it becomes a favorite family remedy. Do not be induced to buy other preparations. Be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine.
