KEEP AWAY FROM THE LOGS.
It is not a very long time since the JOURNAL read a warning lesson of the dangers to be apprehended to children playing on the timbers in the log ponds of the lumber mills, and just even a practical illustration was given which might have, and came very near having, a sad and sorrowful ending. About supper time three children—Lizzie Hurt and Jose Gier, aged 13 years, and Earl Hurt, aged 10 years—went out on the floating logs near the Capital mills, and of course, could not hold their footing on the round, slippery timber. The result was the whirling of the logs and the two girls were thrown into the water. The boy sat down on a log and succeeded in rendering such assistance to his companions as kept them from drowning until his cries brought A. W. Mead, Wm. Townsend and Jack Spong to their assistance and they were rescued, not much worse, but it is hoped much wiser by the experience. It was a narrow escape and should be a warning to parents and children for the future.

TO THE ASYLUM.—Phil Saunders, a well known old resident of Portland, was brought up to the asylum for insane last evening by Deputy Sheriff M. E. Moore. Phil was for several years a resident at the custom house in Portland and stones had considerable power. Change of powers at the custom house let him out and he was appointed a special policeman. While in this position he became addicted to drink to such an extent as to impair his intellect and he was soon since brought to the asylum, where by systematic treatment he was cleared of his deadly sin and his mind seemed to be set right again. Upon his return to Portland he conceived the idea that those who had charge of his property had been swindling him, and whether there was any ground for the belief or not, the master has been preying upon his mind until he is again insane. He is comparatively harmless, takes a great interest in passing policies and likes to talk with all his old acquaintances.

CARD OF THANKS.—Mr. James M. Jones and the other members of his family, upon their departure with the body of Mrs. Jones for Washington to-day, desirous of expressing their sincere thanks to the people of Salem for the kindness and assistance shown them during the illness of the deceased.

COMMITTEE MEETING.—The committee appointed by Judge Poco, G. A. Ryerson of July 2nd is requested to meet at J. W. Clapp's store Friday June 27, at 8 p.m. J. W. CLAPP, Pres.

OFF THE TRACK.—One of the new horse cars jumped the street car track last evening near the barn north of the North Mill creek bridge, and tipped over, giving a severe shaking up to Mrs. G. G. Isidor and daughter, the latter coming off with a sprained ankle and a few scratches, the former not being injured. Mr. J. B. McClane, who was riding on the platform, received a bruise over the eye and had his left side hurt. There were three passengers and their escape from serious injury was very fortunate. There is no lame attachment to anyone, the cause being the roughness of the flanges of the new cars, which causes them some trouble in rounding the sharp curve there.

BAND CONCERT.—To-morrow, Friday evening, the Second Evangelical band will give a grand concert in Wilson avenue and the 17th character of these entertainments in the past is a sure guarantee of pleasure for this occasion. Among its best features will be a cornet solo by Prof. J. M. Coomer, their old instructor, who is again in charge of the "tooters" and who has already aroused their enthusiasm to the highest pitch. With favorable weather, the avenue will see a large crowd to-morrow evening. Won't it be splendid if that grass was cut down and laid away?

AT THE INDIAN SCHOOL.—To-morrow, the 27th inst., will be held the closing exercises of the school year at the Chehalis Indian Training school a short distance north of this city. An excellent program is prepared and those who have attended there on such occasions as in the past will know that this means a very pleasurable event. A general and cordial invitation is extended to be present. Persons can go by train or take the afternoon train and return in the evening. Dr. Rochester, of New York, superintendent of Indian schools, is expected to be there.

INSANE.—Mary Agnes Clegg, aged 22 years, was admitted in Linton county yesterday and placed in the asylum for insane. She is unconscious and inactivity. On account of her debilitated condition she was placed in the hospital wing. The doctor has been at the post office surveying. It is believed that the Iowa authorities have appointed a special policeman. While in this position he became addicted to drink to such an extent as to impair his intellect and he was soon since brought to the asylum, where by systematic treatment he was cleared of his deadly sin and his mind seemed to be set right again. Upon his return to Portland he conceived the idea that those who had charge of his property had been swindling him, and whether there was any ground for the belief or not, the master has been preying upon his mind until he is again insane. He is comparatively harmless, takes a great interest in passing policies and likes to talk with all his old acquaintances.

ARTISTS AND APPRENTICES.—Artists of various trades were recently filed in the various offices of the First, M. E. Church, Forest Grove, with W. Lowly, K. Curtis, M. G. Odell, J. M. Garrison, Irving Smith, W. T. Palmer and Wm. Watters, trustee, a total sum of $50.00. Notaries public were appointed by the governor as follows: D. T. Murphy and W. T. Muir, Portland; J. T. Molton and Geo. W. Rowland, The Dalles; Joe W. Eugene, and S. F. Hardinge, McMinnville.

CARD OF THANKS.—Mr. James M. Jones and the other members of his family, upon their departure with the body of Mrs. Jones for Washington to-day, desirous of expressing their sincere thanks to the people of Salem for the kindness and assistance shown them during the illness of the deceased.

COMMITTEE MEETING.—The committee appointed by Judge Poco, G. A. Ryerson of July 2nd is requested to meet at J. W. Clapp's store Friday June 27, at 8 p.m. J. W. CLAPP, Pres.

The Colt Show.

ED. JOURNAL—I showed my colt at the colt show held at Salem May 17th, was awarded a premium, but have not received one cent yet now. I would ask, does the Willamette Valley Horse Buyers' Association mean to bill us breeders, or what do they mean? Please, give me what information you can.

A BEEFBOIL.

A reporter of the JOURNAL made inquiries about this matter to-day, a horseman identified with the movement and learned that many breeders had been subscribing to the colt show to pay all the expenses, but through some robbery among the managers of the association, no money has not been collected and whether it can be known as to the question. The president of the society probably has an association here and the association may be able to throw further light on the subject. This is all the JOURNAL can find out at present.

AN EXPLANATION.—All members of the board of trade should pay their dues to the electric society, who alone is authorized to represent you for the same. Respectfully yours, Jacob L. Mitchell, secretary.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

divisions of effort and purpose. The report was an interesting one and gave a vivid picture of the work of lady missionaries in Africa and Japan, the latter being from the Pacific coast. These ladies are certainly entitled to support and should be an additional source of inspiration to woman's missionary societies of Oregon.

Mr. J. B. McClane, who was riding on the platform, received a bruise over the eye and had his left side hurt. There were three passengers and their escape from serious injury was very fortunate.

There is no lame attachment to anyone, the cause being the roughness of the flanges of the new cars, which causes them some trouble in rounding the sharp curve there.

MRS. M. A. GRAY.

In Salem, read a paper on "The Present Duty of our Churches to Foreign Missions." It was well written and read with much spirit that held the interest throughout, emphasizing the fact that the missionary work was for the whole world. The interest in foreign work stimulated activity in home missions. She showed that this was an age of crises in mission work and all friends and workers should be inspired to greater effort. Mrs. Gray's appeal to the pastor, for the behalf of this work, was definitely listened to and will redound to greater results all over the state for the woman's board of foreign missions. Singing followed.

MISS JULIA M. ADAMS of Forest Grove, read "So much to do at home," a missionary poem conveying in imagination the needs to Africa and the needs of its heathens for a Christian gospel. It was well received. The report of the treasurer showed $375 raised and put two missionaries in the field in Oregon was adopted by a rising vote and with great enthusiasm and it was announced that the money was raised amid shouts of applause. Adjourned for June.

WOMAN'S HOME MISSION.

On 26th at 10 a.m. was held the annual business meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Union. The sessions were opened by reading of scripture and prayer. The roll showed eleven churches represented. The report of the treasurer showed $1000 raised during year 1888. The report was approved. There was a discussion on concerning the disposal of the funds. The sum of $1000 was voted to the Evangelical work just presented it to the Standard and Eastern Oregon, fifty dollars to Mr. and Mrs. Williams of the Congregational Union, for work in this state, and the remainder for incidental expenses.

Rev. Cephas Clapp made a report showing that 18 missions had been opened in fields in Oregon the past year. Two churches were established the past year: Greenville, Clackamas and Hood River. Two churches had been resuscitated at Hillsdale and Gaston, making six in all. A large number of openings were ready for church but demanded a pastor. The demand for preaching is remarkable. Not only the past year but he could have organized a church. There might have been a dozen new churches organized. Rev. Dr. W. H. Clegg made a report of the 17th place where big-need clinics exist. Some of the pastors served as high as six different communities. The pastors over each two fields often, so the fields were often far apart. Rev. James A. Welshman preached four times on Sunday and once each week. The outlook in Oregon was very flattering, as reported by the superintendent. The interest of New England was centered upon Washington and Oregon. The former was better advertised, but in Oregon the immigration was more to the country, and not so much to large centers. The speaker had traveled 12,000 miles, had preached twice as often as he had been a pastor. He found some strong Congregational ecclesiastical 150 miles from any other society of the same church. Ten missionaries could do work in Oregon all the year round and not cross each other's paths. The presentation by the superintendent was strong and intelligent, and revealed the fact that the state is filling up with thousands of people who seem destined to fill up Congregational churches. The application for Oregon this year was $1000 from the American Home Missionary Society. But in all $12,000 to $15,000 might be expected to be used.

REV. CEPHAS CLAPP.—Rev. Cephas Clapp, pastor of the First Congregational church, Salem, read a paper on "The State of Oregon." The report of the treasurer showed $375 raised and put two missionaries in the field in Oregon was adopted by a rising vote and with great enthusiasm and it was announced that the money was raised amid shouts of applause. Adjourned for June.
